A Strange Merger
Leprosy Conquered
Eat Vitamin D
He Was Right, and Is Dead

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WE LIVE in an era of mergers.

A STRANGE and commercially intelligent merger, according to the Associated Press, is organized by Mr. Scarface Al Capone. Using the language of Big Business, he says to the gang world, rum runners, racketeers and beer men of Chicago:

"Why kill each other, wasting opportunities of profit, when we might unite and prosper in safety?"

The Associated Press, getting its information from the Chicago Herald-Examiner, says the "gang amalgamation" will bring under one leadership the most important gangsters of Chicago.

Hitches occur in important mergers and one hitch disturbs the gang merger serenity. Joe Blue, "pickpocket, gunman, mail robber and machine gun expert," objected to gangster harmony. Today he knows better if he knows anything. Yesterday he was shot to death.

DR. DOSTAL, bacteriologist, of Vienna, isolates leprosy germs. And produces an effective serum.

Once that would have comforted millions of lepers and those living in fear of leprosy.

It means little today.

LEPROSY is one of many "filth" diseases, dying out as civilization and soap distribution progresses. Cleaning up a stagnant pond will free a neighborhood of malaria.

Cleaning up the world's filth spots would free the earth of many diseases.

IF NATIONS that recently spent hundreds of billions killing each other, would spend a few billions to rid the earth of mosquitoes, flies, rats and mice, the worst diseases would vanish.

DR. PRICE, scientist, of Cleveland, says "Vitamin D" prevents diseases called "degenerative," such as cancer, heart disease, influenza and pneumonia.

Dairy farmers will be interested to hear that Dr. Price recommends spring butter, from the milk of cows grazing in the sunshine. This Vitamin D he calls the "sunlight vitamin." Cows get the vitamin, stored up by the sun, in spring grass, and return it in their milk.

IT WAS the business of Edward D. Pierson, Negro, to audit accounts of Negro Baptist churches. He reported irregularities and said "Some one is hired to kill me."

HE WAS right. Yesterday he was found in the river, near Scottsburg, Ind., clinging to the branch of a tree. He had six bullets in his body, his hands and feet were tied, two heavily-weighted valises were fastened about his neck. He died without telling who had "taken him for a ride and put him on the spot."

SIXTY years old, his thick gray hair cropped to let the electric current reach his brain easily, through the death cap, Henry Colin Campbell, called the "torch murderer," was writing the last eight lines of his autobiography in the New Jersey State Prison last night, waiting to be executed.

It is customary, to execute murderers on Friday, but respect for Good Friday caused this killing to be advanced 24 hours.

Our civilization decides not to kill a murderer on Good Friday, but cannot abandon the killing habit entirely. We are only 12,000 years from the Stone Age.

BRITAIN'S House of Commons interests itself in things that would be ignored in Washington. One government nearly fell because a respectable servant girl had been arrested, wrongfully accused of street walking.

Two days ago the House discussed the cruelty of boiling lobsters alive. Mr. Freeman, Labor member from Wales, demanded abolition of lobster boiling in the House of Commons kitchen.

NOTHING was said about the treatment of diplomatic lobsters sent to the naval conference to compete with British, French and Italian statesmen.

That also is cruelty.

Child Warns Against Alliances

EX-DIPLOMAT ASKS FREE AMERICA

Observers View Speech Before D. A. R. as Reply To President's Address

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN, Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Political observers here today interpreted the address to the delegates at the D. A. R. Continental Congress made last night by Richard Washburn Child as an answer to the speech which President Hoover made Monday night to the delegates.

Mr. Child urged an "Unshackled America" free from foreign entanglements and voiced the traditional American sentiments against world alliances.

The former American Ambassador to Italy, one of the outstanding authorities on international diplomacy, refrained from any controversial note in his discourse.

Contrasting the new economic theory of the United States with the prejudices and fears of an effete Europe, the American diplomat sharply brought out the inherent disagreement between American political ideals and Europe's.

PINCHOT OPENS FIRE ON BROWN

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—(AP.)—While the Philadelphia Republican organization today awaited an anticipated indorsement by Gov. Fisher of Francis Shunk Brown as his successor, Mr. Brown's Republicanism was under challenge by former Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The latter, running independently for the Republican nomination for governor at the May 20 primary, declared that former Attorney General Brown, his opponent on the Davis-Brown slate, was a presidential elector in Pennsylvania on the Democratic ticket in 1900, when the late William Jennings Bryan was the Democratic nominee for president. Mr. Pinchot gave other details of both party tickets in that contest, emphasizing that Theodore Roosevelt was the Republican nominee for vice-president.

At the same time Councilman Charles B. Hall, a member of the Philadelphia Republican "war board," assailed Pinchot as a "demi-god running for office" in a speech in City Council today.

Mr. Hall accused the former governor of "defaming" Philadelphia by describing the city's $618,000,000 debt as a "crushing burden" on the taxpayers.

Fair Sky to Smile Down on Easter Finery Here

Easter finery can be displayed without fear of showers, the local weatherman announced today.

During the morning it will be cool, maybe as low as 40. In the afternoon the mercury will rise to 60, or maybe 70, Brotzman said.

TROLLEY SCALE DISPUTE IN AIR

Within a week further negotiations will be entered into between the street car men's union and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Negotiations toward continuance of the present wage scale agreement having resulted in rejection by the men, international officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes probably will take a hand in the future discussions.

By a vote of 1,819 to 112 the men rejected the company's offer to continue the present scale.

Hope of amicable settlement was expressed by both union and company officials. The present agreement expires April 30 at midnight.

The men are demanding a wage increase, details of which have not been officially made public by either side. Changes in working conditions were accepted by an acclamation vote at the meetings.

Dry Blames Enemies in Bombing

ASHTABULA, O., April 18.—(AP.)—Unidentified anti-prohibitionists were blamed by M. C. Robinson, prominent prohibition leader here, for the bombing of his palatial home early today.

No one was injured and the damage was estimated at less than $300.

Robinson said he had been chairman of a local dry organization for many years and had been active in support of prohibition laws. He said the only persons likely to have sought revenge through the bombing were possible enemies he has made through his prohibition activities. He had no proof of the identities of the bombers, however.

The bomb, with a time fuse, had been planted near a cellar window. The explosion tore out a part of the house's foundation, wrecked a part of one wall and broke many windows.

PROHIBITION ATTITUDE DECLARED IN DOUBT

Letter Read in Senate Quiz Says President Wavering In Belief of Enforcement

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—An expression of belief by W. H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that President Hoover "is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced," was received today by the Senate Lobby Committee.

The opinion was contained in a letter written last February by Stayton to Charles S. Wood, of Philadelphia, a vice president of the anti-dry organization. It said:

"My own feeling is, as I talk to senators, members of Congress and public officials here, that Mr. Hoover is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced."

'ABUSED TOO MUCH'

It added that Mr. Hoover "wants to take plenty of time to consider it, but he is being abused a little too much."

The letter by Stayton said Chairman Graham, of the House Judiciary Committee, which has been holding prohibition hearings, had urged him to ask W. W. Atterbury, Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, and an anti-dry, to testify before the committee.

"I believe," the letter added, "that if Gen. Atterbury should take the stand, it would cause a great many people to be more generous as to Mr. Hoover's attitude.

"I think there are thousands of people—and especially prominent people here—who would at once say that, if Gen. Atterbury, with his strong convictions on this subject, is willing to wait for Mr. Hoover's calm consideration, then the rest of us ought equally to be willing to wait—and I believe that a real service would thereby be done to the Republican party."

DRY TIDE TURNING

The Stayton letter was introduced into the voluminous lobby committee record while Henry M. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was testifying for the third day. Curran had said a while before that the "tide is turning" against prohibition in Congress.

Curran predicted that the Sheppard bill to make the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller, and the Wickersham proposal to "abolish trial by jury in contravention of the bill of rights," would not be passed by the present Congress.

Two years ago, he added, the Jones bill to increase penalties for prohibition violations "passed with a whoop."

Curran, who was not questioned about the Hoover reference, continued to attack the prohibition law as "indefensible" and predicted that it would be repealed within five years.

NOSES LIFTED, STARS BETTER

By JESS CARVER.

Their noses again running north and south rather than northeast by southwest or worse, and their throats as raw as the blasts of winter, the trio of Pitt all-America footballers, Joe Donchess, Toby Uansa and Tom Parkinson are convalescing after their session with the surgeon's knife and scalpel at St. Francis Hospital, and are getting along as well as could be expected.

The former Pitt stars, all of whom have completed their varsity careers, were operated on yesterday by Drs. McCready and T. B. McCullough.

First they had those noses, which had been battered and trampled in many a gruelling struggle on the gridiron, straightened out and reconditioned, until now, should any more movie contracts be offered football stars, they'll be right in the front line.

After the operations on the "bugles" were completed, the doctors excavated their tonsils. Hence, the boys passed up any orders of nice, crisp toast today.

All three will be discharged from the hospital tomorrow, in time to go home for Easter.

U. S. to Quiz Judge On Liquor in Auto

SELMA, N. C., April 18.—(INS.)—Judge N. A. Sinclair, of the North Carolina Superior Court, has been subpenaed to appear before United States Commissioner L. W. Massey here tomorrow to explain the alleged discovery of a half-filled pint bottle of whisky in a handbag in his automobile. The finding of the liquor in the judge's automobile three weeks ago was generally accepted as a joke at the time.

Mrs. Dodge May Pay Fine To Use Easter Finery

NEW YORK, April 18.—(INS.)—Even if customs authorities fine her upwards of $200,000 on undeclared baggage, Mrs. Robert L. Dodge, of this city and Mill Neck, L. I., was determined today to regain her gowns and jewelry in time to join the splendid ranks in the Easter parade.

She is said to have agreed to pay whatever is demanded, estimated to be between $160,000 and $200,000, to recover the contents of two trunks, valued at about $100,000, which were seized on the docks last Tuesday after Mr. and Mrs. Dodge declared some $17,000 worth of dutiable goods on 35 pieces of baggage taken from the Ile de France. Customs authorities, who are said to have received advance information as to the purchases, investigated further.

Mrs. Dodge is head of a perfume company here, and was the principal backer of Capt. Rene Fonck in his proposed trans-Atlantic flight in 1927.

SPECULATION ON STAND RENEWED

Governor Candidate Praised By Aide in Mayor Drive; Harris to Talk for Davis

Ralph H. Smith, former assistant United States district attorney and secretary of the Malone-For-Mayor Campaign Committee, will support former Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his campaign for another term.

Smith has accepted the chairmanship of the Meetings and Speakers' Committee of the Pinchot campaign in Allegheny County, according to former Judge Frank I. Gollmar, local chairman for Pinchot.

Smith's declaration renewed speculation of James F. Malone's attitude toward candidates. Malone has made no public [illegible] ment but his friends admit he has conferred with Pinchot during the latter's visits here.

PRAISES PLATFORM

In explaining his attitude Smith said:

"I believe in Gov. Pinchot. His ability and integrity are unquestioned. His record in office is one of unqualified achievement. His platform is adapted to present-day needs of Pennsylvania. He is eminently fitted to lead the Republican party to success and to give the people of Pennsylvania an economic, efficient and courteous administration."

C. F. Armstrong, running for lieutenant governor on Pinchot's ticket, visited headquarters in the Magee Building yesterday after a tour of western counties and reported a growing Pinchot sentiment.

State Senator Frank J. Harris is scheduled to broadcast over WJAS at 8:30 tonight and it was reported he would indorse the candidacies of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, for United States senator, and Francis Shunk Brown for governor.

Bernard J. Myers, state chairman of the Davis-Brown campaign, is expected here tomorrow for conferences with local leaders, including County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Allegheny County chairman for Davis and Brown; Mayor Charles H. Kline and Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, campaign manager for western counties excepting Allegheny County.

GRUNDY HERE TUESDAY

Senator Joseph R. Grundy, candidate to succeed himself, is scheduled to visit Pittsburgh next Tuesday and his local supporters, headed by State Senator James J. Coyne and S. C. Jamison, are organizing a reception committee to greet him. Grundy is expected to confer while here with W. L. Mellon, who has announced his support of the Senator.

Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for governor on the anti-dry ticket, returned to Pittsburgh after visiting his home in Butler.

F. E. Shaughnessy, local chairman of the anti-dry campaign committee, announced yesterday that Phillips and his running mates would speak at a mass meeting May 8 in Carnegie Music Hall, Schenley Park.

All candidates for state offices have been invited to state their views at a luncheon meeting May 2 in McCreery's dining room under auspices of the Al[illegible]ny County League of Women Voters.

Wilbur Passes Buck, Says Senate Critic

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Attacking Secretary Wilbur for "passing the buck," Senator Frazier (Rep.), North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, today complained on the floor of the Senate against "bureaucratic methods" of the Indian Bureau.

Frazier also assailed what he termed a movement to lease the Flathead power site to the Rocky Mountain Power Company. Frazier said Wilbur "passed the buck" on the question of securing justice for Mrs. Minnie L. Ward, commission file clerk, recently discharged after clashing with F. E. Bonner, executive secretary.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Ark.—(AP.)—Forty-two years A. L. ("Al") Smith, Little Rock broker, has worn a rosebud in the lapel of his coat and expects to wear one the rest of his life. Seeing his first rose in 1885, when he came here from Canada, Smith was delighted and soon habit became a hobby.

CENSUS SHOWS GAINS HERE

Collier Township is the first unit in Allegheny County to be reported in the census of 1930 under authority from Washington which allows the local supervisors to announce the population figures for the various municipal sub-divisions. Collier Township, with a total population of 5,570, shows an increase of about 20 per cent since 1920, when the tabulation was 4,651.

A. D. Levy, supervisor for the western district of the county, said figures for other municipalities would be made public as soon as compiled. City sub-divisions will be given by wards.

In 1920 the County Home at Woodville, a part of Collier Township, listed 3,100 inmates. In 1930 this dropped to 2,880. There are 55 farms in the township, an increase of 16 in the last 10 years.

Other municipal reports today are:

Thornburg Borough—For 1930, 328; in 1920, 300.

Rosslyn Farms Borough—For 1930, 332; in 1920, 315.

While all other public offices were closed today, enumerators had no holiday, and many of them chose Good Friday to file returns from their districts. As a result, the supervisors got their first hint of the proportion of Allegheny County's increase in population.

In the city, some blocks which contained the homes of less than a score of persons in 1920 will show more than 1,000 for 1930. This is particularly true of the Squirrel Hill and Homewood sections, and the suburban territory of Bellevue, Wilkinsburg and South Hills.

Slander Indictment In Woman's Death

GRAYSON, Ky., April 18.—The end of conjectures over charges that Mrs. Susie Vickers, 63, may have been buried alive March 29 was in sight today with the announcement that the Carter County grand jury had completed its investigation.

Indications were that the only action to come out of the charges that proper precautions were not taken to determine that Mrs. Vickers was dead would be an indictment for slander already voted. The name of the person accused in the indictment was not made public.

COURT DENIES RATE RAISE

The Harmony Electric Company, proposing higher rates for industrial consumers of electric power in Zelienople and Ellwood City, failed to prove the necessity for the raise, the Superior Court held in a decision handed down today.

The opinion was rendered in an appeal by the electric company from an order by the Public Service Commission, the court dismissing the appeal and affirming the order.

David McCahill, who was counsel for the company in the procedure, said that since the action was instituted the Harmony Electric Company had been acquired by the Penn-Ohio-Edison Company, and that the move for higher rates probably would be started anew, as the company believed it was now in position to prove the need for an increase.

This action is more or less connected with proceedings instituted by Zelienople business men, with former Mayor W. A. Magee as their counsel, to prevent the proposed merger of the Harmony Electric Company with the Peoples Power Company and Pennsylvania Power Company, which are also controlled by the Penn-Ohio-Edison Company.

OTHER DECISIONS

Other Superior Court decisions handed down today in Western Pennsylvania cases were:

Wailes Dove-Hermiston Corporation, appellant, versus Walworth Company; Common Pleas, Allegheny County; affirmed.

Europe Buys Pork Cheap in Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco—(AP.)—Religion, finance and pork have been mixed to create a situation here which results in Europeans throughout North Africa enjoying cheap chops.

Nine-tenths of the population is Mohammedan, and the Koran forbids the faithful to eat pork. The Koran says nothing about raising pork. Hogs were therefore popular in every barnyard. The chief market for them was Spain.

The crash of the pesata prevented the Spanish from buying and this created an even greater crash in the local price. Pork chops have been sold at 12 cents a pound.

CRUSADERS GET INTO PRIMARY

Crusaders of the Pittsburgh District today entered the state primary contest by addressing letters to the various senatorial and gubernatorial candidates asking an expression on the asso[illegible]tion's proposal for a change in the liquor prohibition laws.

The Crusaders organ[illegible]tion which claims more than 10,000 members in this district, will not indorse candidates, it was stated, but will throw its strength behind candidates whose views on prohibition coincide most closely with the Crusaders' platform.

That platform stated that the Crusaders do not believe that prohibition in its present [illegible] is practicable and that a change should be made.

"We are of the opinion that most of the crime and lawlessness now rampant in the United States is directly attributable to the control of the liquor situation by bootleggers and [illegible]eers," the platform states.

RAMBOVA SUES MAE MURRAY

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Natacha Rambova, the former Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, has filed suit against Mae Murray, film star.

Learning that Miss Murray, wife of Prince David Mdivani, had just arrived in New York, Miss Rambova filed an action in an attempt to secure execution here of a judgment for $1,594 she won against the actress in Los Angeles, Cal., recently. Miss Rambova is now in business here as a modiste.

Turkey Now Has 5 Independence Days

ANGORA.—(AP.)—To halt an orgy of holiday making, the Turkish government has designated five "independence days" as follows: July 23, Constitution Day; August 30, Victory Day (commemorating defeat of the Greeks at Sakaria); October 6, Deliverance of Constantinople (from the Allies); October 29, Republic Day; November 12, commemorating opening of the first National Assembly.

Anti-Saloon Head Attacked for Dry Remarks

The Rev. Dr. D. E. Cruea, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today was attacked by Mrs. Carroll Miller for prohibition assertions made before the Henry George Club when she spoke to the same gathering in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Dr. Cruea charged last week before you gentlemen that any person not in favor of prohibition was a traitor to his country. If any persons are traitors, they are the drys who send dry-voting but wet-drinking members to Congress with their indorsement. Dr. Cruea said he didn't vote for Wilson for President because of Thomas Marshall. His was a personal affront to me. Mr. Marshall quit drinking 30 years before he ran for office.

Wet Candidates Conduct Drive From Old Barroom

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(AP.)—Amid an atmosphere reminiscent of "the good old days," whose return they advocate, the "wet" Republican candidates will conduct their campaign for nomination at the Pennsylvania primary election.

In the words of William S. Adams, executive secretary of the Bohlen-Phillips-Dorrance campaign committee, "one of the best barrooms in Harrisburg—now out of business"—has been chosen as headquarters for the Central Pennsylvania campaign. The rooms in the Adams Hotel, once the famous Rife hostelry, today resounded to the clicking of typewriters from which flowed propaganda intended for distribution to voters whose support of the anti-prohibition platform of the candidates is being sought.

Adjoining the old barroom was once a widely known beer garden, patterned after similar establishments in Germany and in which white-coated waiters formerly moved about between palms, ferns and potted plants.

"We are going to pile up some votes," Adams promises. "People, if they admit it, are sick of prohibition."

REPEAL TOTAL LEADS AS ALL STATES VOTE

41 Per Cent of Ballots in Nation-Wide Poll Favor Rescinding of Dry Law

The vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment continues to lead with over 41 per cent of the total of 3,175,972 ballots returned from the entire 48 states in the sixth week's returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide poll on prohibition, as published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

The break-up of the grand total gives 915,681 votes for enforcement, 951,475 for modification and 1,308,816 for repeal.

This shows over 28 per cent of the total vote for strict enforcement while practically 30 per cent favor modification to legalize light wines and beers.

KANSAS ONLY DRY STATE

With first returns from Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming, this week every state, and the District of Columbia, is represented in the tabulations. The addition of these newcomers effected little change in the percentages of the totals, it is stated.

Kansas continues to be the only bone dry state to date with almost 58 per cent of its vote for enforcement and only 18 per cent of its returns for repeal.

Connecticut appears to have the wettest sentiment of all the states with over a 50 per cent vote for repeal and but 18 per cent for enforcement. Rhode Island is a close second. These are the only two states in the Union that have never ratified the Eighteenth Amendment.

This is the sixth report of the Literary Digest prohibition poll:

Address to D. A. R. Viewed As Reply to President's Speech on League Court

new doctrine as against the futile, decrepit and senile school of formulas and pools to prevent war, America must keep herself free from the old political internationalism."

Sweeping up to his brilliant peroration, Ambassador Child drew a dramatic picture of the hidden potentialities of such organizations as the League Court. Prudently enough, these possibilities have not been even hinted at by the sponsors of the Geneva bunds, but drawing on his intimate knowledge of old world chancelleries, the former ambassador declared:

"It would be folly, as an instance, to join a World Court if this were to handcuff our freedom for the future. The President has expressed his belief that we will support not only international law, but also a court for the settlement of international disputes. While there is a Hague there is no hurry.

EXPOSES LEAGUE COURT

"When we join a court, let us be certain that it is a court unhampered by the mastery of any machinery of the old political internationalism."

The diplomat snatched the veil from the League Court and revealed it an adjunct of the Geneva organizations of the League of Nations. He declared:

"Today the Court is not only a court; it is an attorney for the League of Nations. Root and the legalistic minds of other great men have assured us that if we futilely protest against some advisory opinion we can pack up and go home. Alas, I believe that the majority millions of America who wish to have America remain unshackled, know full well, out of their common sense, that the cost of this legalistic exit in terms of political clamor at home and abroad might be too great for us to bear.

NEED NO APOLIGY

"There is no power on earth able always to gather the facts and convince all concerned that any specific act of war is aggressive or defensive.

"An unshackled America needs no apology. If she is too rich to be loved the trouble is not with her heart but with the hearts of those who might love her. While she holds close to her heart and head her responsibilities and seeks humbly righteousness—we need none of our apologists.

"We sought our freedom and gained it.

"We built our new creative civilization and we will share its opportunity of leadership toward a new co-operative internationalism.

"To ourselves, and to all the world, we owe the duty to keep out of the handcuffs of yesterdays, and to dedicate that freedom to the new clasps of mankind.

"There is no war where there is peace."

HOLD BISHOP'S SON IN DEATH

NEW YORK, April 18.—(INS.)—James Maxon, Jr., 21, son of the Episcopal bishop of Chattanooga, Tenn., was held by police today for questioning in connection with the death of David Paynter, 73, who roomed in the same house.

Detectives were told by the proprietress of the West End avenue rooming house that the youth and Paynter had an argument, and that the younger man struck Paynter with a chair.

Maxon was a student in the School of Journalism at Columbia University, Prof. Walter B. Pitkin, of the faculty, said he was not a good student, and had vanished from his classes for weeks.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., April 18.—(INS.)—Mrs. William Thayer Brown, who inherited the Thayer Brown millions, today revealed that she had resigned from the Daughters of the American Revolution because she disapproved of the organization's attitude toward reduction of armaments and its attitude on the League Court. Mrs. Brown has donated large sums of money toward the support of the D. A. R. She was a member of the Essex chapter, of New Jersey, of which Mrs. Thomas A. Edison is a member.

WARREN L. STARRETT

GIRL RIO-BOUND TO MARRY

Miss Catherine Mitchell, 20 and pretty, of Dormont, tomorrow will be "rollin' down to Rio."

In Rio de Janeiro Warren L. Starrett, 26, a Pittsburgh youth and former employe of the Mellon bank, awaits her. They intend to wed as soon as Brazilian regulations permit.

Starrett, well known in Y. M. C. A. circles, where he served as a secretary in Pittsburgh branches and elsewhere, has been in Rio de Janeiro since last November, when he took employment with the Middletown Car Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Steel Car Company of Butler.

Miss Mitchell lives with her sister, Mrs. C. J. Kauffman, 620 Meadowcroft avenue, Dormont. Starrett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Starrett, of 335 Melwood avenue, Shadyside.

WATZL, GIRL GLAD TO DIE, SAY NOTES

Farewell Letters to His Wife And Her Mother Reveal Emotions Before Suicide

CLEVELAND, O., April 18.—(AP.)—Farewell letters written by Dr. Ernst Watzl, Cleveland chemist, and Mary McGranahan, beautiful model, just before they died in a double-suicide pact in Vienna, Austria, a few weeks ago, revealed that they took their lives with the solemnity of a ritual, yet with a feeling of happiness.

The 20-year-old girl, who deserted her husband in Cleveland to run away with the 40-year-old chemist, wrote her mother, Mrs. Julia Horvath, of Cleveland, that death was "really nothing."

The bon vivant Dr. Watzl wrote his wife, Mrs. Marie Watzl, of Cleveland, with the tone of a man seeking forgiveness and trying to expiate for his acts through death.

"GIRL WILLING TO DIE"

Both farewell letters, completed shortly before Watzl fired the shots that ended their lives, were unusual.

Watzl wrote:

"I want to thank you for all kindness, love and patience and loyalty you have shown me for so many years. Forgive me if you can. I thought honestly that you and the children would be happier with me gone and some safe income."

(He referred to his insurance, which would have expired at midnight of the day he died.)

"I have tried to keep Mary out of the unhappy ending but she wants also to pay the price and thinks you won't think so harshly of her on that account."

"DEATH IS NOTHING"

Mary's letter said:

"I decided to die with Ernest. He asked me whether I would rather come home to you, but I think and I know you will believe me when I say I love Ernest more than my life and I want to die with him. Do not worry about me dying. It is really nothing. Everyone has to die.

"I had a delightful time. We went all over the world. It was like heaven. We went to the southern part of the United States, Japan, China, Sumatra, India, Arabia, Egypt, Africa, France, Italy and Austria."

A moment after Mary finished this and other letters, she willingly faced the Austrian army revolver that Watzl had carried as an Austrial officer in the World War. Hours later hotel attendants found both of them dead.

'FIX' ON BREW PERMIT SIFTED

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—The federal grand jury next Wednesday will begin an investigation to determine whether "arrangements" were made with Palmer Canfield, former prohibition administrator at Albany, for the issuance of a near-beer permit to the Columbia County Cereal Beverage Company, Inc., before he took office.

Announcement of the start of the inquiry was made by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, who said the testimony of Joseph E. Walsh, political leader of Newburgh, N. Y., and president of the brewery company, was not justification "for the indictment or conviction of anyone," except Michael A. Devasto and George H. Burt, two of the eight defendants convicted of conspiracy and violation of the prohibition laws.

The company was alleged to have manufactured real beer under the shield of its near-beer permit.

D.A.R. Dodges Prohibition Issue at Convention

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS.)—The thirty-ninth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution went on record today as opposed to consideration of prohibition and other controversial subjects. The resolution was adopted unanimously, despite the fact that the congress has repeatedly expressed itself on the League Court, limitation of armament, Soviet Russia and the merchant marine.

To an already formidable array of national defense resolutions, the Daughters added another pledging co-operation to the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, described as "singled out" for destruction by a large number of organizations and persons "teaching un-American doctrines."

Mrs. Eliza Leary, of Seattle, Wash., was elected honorary vice president general when the only other candidate, Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, of Tennessee, withdrew.

The D. A. R. yesterday withheld national office from the sister-in-law of President Hoover, Mrs. Theodore Jesse Hoover, Palo Alto, Cal.

Mrs. Hoover was ninth on the list of 11 candidates for the eight positions as vice presidents general with 1,162 votes, 36 less than Mrs. Ralph E. Bristol, of Utah, the last to qualify.

Mrs. Hoover's defeat was attributed to two causes:

"The organization is on record as opposed to America's membership in the League Court, which was advocated by the President in his address to the delegates at their opening session, and the fact that two candidates from the Golden State were seeking national office, a precedent in balloting.

TORCH KILLER MEETS DOOM SCORNING CHAPLAIN'S SOLACE

FAMILY SERVANT SUES

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM WILLOCK, JR.

Willock, Jones & Laughlin steel heir, who is being sued for $250,000 heart balm by Catherine McCormick, 24, Long Island servant girl. Miss McCormick says she has more than 100 love letters, many of which promise marriage. He is with his bride.

WILLOCK SUED BY HOUSEMAID

He shunned his family's social activities and spent much of his time tinkering in a garage behind the big Syosett (L. I.) Willock mansion, describing himself as "only a mechanic." It was there the romance with the girl he married blossomed.

Miss McCormick, who today seeks to throw a cloud over that romance, does not say where the young millionaire made love to her, but the story of wooing which she says is contained in the 100 ardent letterrs mentioned in her suit, is awaited with interest.

SUIT IS SURPRISE

"Adelaide is my ideal; I knew the moment I laid eyes on her she was meant for me; I am tired of the cigaret-smoking, cocktail-drinking, short-skirted society girl, and I am tired of having a butler stand behind my chair," Willock said of his Norwegian bride at the time they were married.

"And I married my husband because I love him, not because he is a rich man's son," declared the bride in their $5-a-week room in Oyster Bay, before the elder Willocks had accepted her and invited them back to the pretentious Long Island mansion.

So far as the outside world knows, Miss McCormick's suit is the first intimation that there was ever to be anything of the sort disturb their Cinderella romance.

ANSWER FILED

Allen said the young man's father is in sympathy with the move to fight the suit.

The attorney declared that papers in the action have been served on young Willock.

"We served an answer denying the charges," said Allen.

By serving an answer to Miss McCormick's action in reply to a demand for an examination before trial the attorney may succeed in preventing any discussion—prior to trial—of the letters young Willock is reported to have written to Miss McCormick before he met his wife. The lawyer preferred not to discuss details of Miss McCormick's contentions. The young man's father is represented as taking the position that there be "no compromise."

BRITISH QUELL INDIA RIOTS

BOMBAY, April 18.—(INS.)—The serious disorders in India arising out of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience campaign apparently were quelled today as a result of strong and efficient government measures.

In the fierce rioting of the last week many have been hurt, but only a few have met death. Hundreds of arrests have been made, principally among the group of better known Nationalist leaders under the leadership of Gandhi.

More than 50 of the extremist chiefs, including Gandhi's two sons, Davi Das and Ram Das, have been sentenced to prison for three and six months, respectively. Other leaders have received sentences of from six months to two years.

Man Slays Wife Then Kills Himself

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—During the 15 years of their married life, Jacob Periman, 55, and his wife, Rose, 38, quarreled frequently and bitterly because he, as a salesman, could never make as much money as she made in the millinery business.

Today they were found dead in their apartment. Periman apparently had killed his wife and himself.

ATLANTIC, Ia., April 18.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Nelson, 66, a mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, won a $5,000 breach of promise verdict in District Court yesterday.

Mrs. Nelson charged that Alexander Roe, 56, had proposed marriage several times and had "made ardent love" to her until last June, when his ardor cooled. She asked $15,000 damages, but the jury, after deliberating eight hours, cut it to $5,000.

POSTAL LEASING QUIZ ORDERED BY SENATE

Charges of Fraud, Corruption Over Rented Buildings to Be Sifted by Committee

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—The Senate today ordered an investigation of government leases of postoffice buildings.

The Blaine resolution providing sweeping inquiry into conditions surrounding leases in connection with which fraud and corruption have been charged was adopted by a viva voce vote.

"FRAUD RAMPANT"

Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, had insisted on the investigation, charging that fraud was rampant in the postoffice leases.

Representative Maas (Rep.), Minnesota, had singled out the St. Paul commercial postoffice lease as an example of the fraud he also contended was to be found in the leases of postal buildings.

FIVE ON INQUIRY BOARD

The investigation will be made by a special committee of five senators, authorized to act through a subcommittee holding sessions wherever it is deemed necessary.

The committee has an initial authorization to spend $10,000 under the resolution, and authority to subpena witnesses and documents.

GANG UNITY WAR BY SECRET SIX

CHICAGO, April 18.—(AP.)—From Houston, Tex., today came word from Col Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, that the association's "Secret Six" already has taken steps to meet and defeat the new alliance of Chicago gangsters under the leadership of Al Capone.

"The Secret Six is fully cognizant of the situation, and is operating," Col. Randolph said.

"These organized enemies of society are no more formidable as a single unit than as scattered outlaw bands. In fact the new alliance may make them a simpler object of attack."

The secret "Committee of Six," whose members are serving without knowledge of each other's identities, was organized several weeks ago for the purpose of wiping out organized crime in Chicago.

QUIZ OF PARKER PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Examination by the Senate Judiciary Committee of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, nominee for the Supreme Court, has the approval of the administration, and steps are being taken to bring him before the committee.

Friends of Judge Parker received information today that Attorney General Mitchell was in favor of the examination of Judge Parker by the Senate Committee with respect to the protests against him.

Republican senators are upset over the protests against Parker by Negroes, who assert that remarks attributed to him as a candidate for governor in 1920 showed racial prejudice.

CAPTIVE COWS 2 AND ESCAPES

Surprised attempting to loot a telephone box in the East Pittsburgh passenger station of the Pennsylvania Railroad at 12:20 a. m., today, a youth drew a gun on two railroad car inspectors who had seized him, and escaped.

The inspectors, Edward Burnstoff and Harry Hazel, were taking the youth to turn him over to the Westinghouse police force when he fled.

He suddenly darted a few feet forward, turned and thrust a revolver in their faces, and warned them not to follow.

Lieut. James Roberts, of the Westinghouse police force, aided Burnstoff and Hazel in a search for the fugitive, but the hunt was futile.

The southwestern disturbance moved northward over the Plains states during yesterday. It was centered over Southern Minnesota at 8 a. m. yesterday and is now north of the Great Lakes. It still is influencing the weather over most of the eastern half of the country, as a result, the weather is mostly cloudy and showers are in progress in scattered places. The rainfall for the last 24 hours was mostly light but was quite general from the Central plains to the Atlantic coast.

High barometer now covers the Plains states, the center over Saskatchewan. It is attended by mostly clear skies and moderately cold weather over the states, and low temperatures in Saskatchewan. At Battleford and Prince Albert the temperatures are 18 and 16 degrees, respectively. There will be considerable cloudiness over this section today and Saturday, but the indications are for generally clear skies Sunday. It will be cold in the morning, with rising temperature during the day.

BANDITS LOOT AIR MAIL TRUCK

CHICAGO, April 18.—(INS.)—Postal authorities today sought to determine the amount of loot taken by armed bandits who last night seized a truckload of air mail at Municipal Airport, kidnaped the driver and plundered five pouches of mail, two of which were registered.

The amount of the loot has not yet been determined, but Chief Postal Inspector K. P. Aldrich said it probably would be considerable.

The mail had just arrived in a Northwest Airways plane from Milwaukee. The Minneapolis plane had failed to reach Milwaukee with other Chicago-bound mail, otherwise the loot would have been much greater, police believe.

One bandit leaped to the truck's running board as it was leaving the airport and poked a revolver in the face of Adolph Stehno, the driver.

The gunman ordered him to drive to a prairie where the mail bags were transferred to a bandit car and Stehno was forced to lie on the floor of the automobile. One mile from the airport the robbers released the driver and sped away.

BYRD RETURNS TO DUNEDIN

DUNEDIN, N. Z., April 18.—(AP.)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Antarctic explorer, returned here today from his visit to Wellington and will remain in Dunedin a week before sailing for Panama on his homeward journey.

Byrd returned without his famous dog, Igloo, which became separated from him at Ashburton on the return trip. Igloo wandered away from the Ashburton railroad station while Byrd was being made a member of the Aero Club during a short train stop.

Igloo howled when he saw his master had left him behind, but the dog was taken in hand by the train crew and traveled in the guards' van to Dunedin on the next express.

MOSCOW, April 18.—(AP.)—Despite recent onslaughts upon religion by Atheist societies and prohibition of the public sale of Easter eggs, cakes, candles and other Paschal articles, the Easter holidays are being celebrated by Russia's Christians with only slight variations over those of previous years.

Good Friday was observed today throughout the country in the traditional orthodox manner without any molestation on the part of the Soviet authorities or the Atheistic organization.

DISCUSS FINAL PARLEY ISSUES

By HARRY R. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, April 18.—While the naval treaty is virtually completed, drafted and in the hands of the interested nations, there are still two points unsettled and these will be discussed today. Provision has been made to include whatever decisions are reached in the document.

One point involves the problem of how to provide a clause in the treaty forbidding signatory powers from building for non-signatory powers submarines of more than 2,000 tons, the maximum size as provided in the treaty for the signatories.

The other point involves the time the treaty is to become effective. The United States is reported desirous of having it go into effect as soon as it is ratified by Britain, Japan and the United States, while the French contend it should go into force when any three of the five powers have ratified.

The objection of Britain and America to the French idea is that it might involve either of them becoming bound before Japan.

GUARD STREETS IN JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, April 18.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Machine guns have been placed in strategic positions on all the main streets of Jerusalem to prevent possible trouble growing out of the Christian and Mohammedan holidays.

Armed soldiers have been placed on guard in front of the former Russian compound, now the courthouse. A party of Jewish residents who wanted to drive to Amman, in Transjordania, to see the Nebi Musa—important feast in the Mohammedan religious calendar—were barred by the authorities, who said they could not guarantee their safety.

There are many pilgrims here for the Nebi Musa commemorations, which take place today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Ex-Athlete Given 21 Years in Slaying

BATESVILLE, Ark., April 18.—(AP.)—J. P. Barber, 22, former high school athlete, was convicted of second degree murder by a jury in Circuit Court here today and his sentence fixed at 21 years' imprisonment, for the slaying a year ago of Maurice Osborne, a young merchant of Cord, Ark.

Cleveland Bandits Get $2,700 Payroll

CLEVELAND, April 18.—(INS.)—Three armed bandits staged a daring holdup at the Jacob Halter & Son Co. offices here today, seizing a $2,700 payroll and escaping in an automobile. Clarence Sabath, paymaster, was alone when the bandits entered his office.

DEATH VIGIL SHARED BY WIFE

Slayer of Bigamous Bride Walks Calmly to Chair For Supreme Penalty

TRENTON, N. J., April 18.—(AP.)—Henry Colin Campbell, also known as Colin Campbell Close, was electrocuted last night at state's prison here for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Mowry, formerly of Greenville, Pa., whom he had bigamously married.

Maintaining the complacency he showed in the death house, Campbell, who was 61, walked calmly into the death chamber.

Two hours before Campbell left his cell in the death house, he spent 30 minutes with his legal wife, the mother of his three children. He apparently desired no spiritual comfort in his last hours, and no chaplain was present.

DECLINES SPECIAL MEAL

Campbell ate the regular prison fare, declining a special dinner. Among his effects were photographs of his wife and children and $10.37 in cash. These were turned over to Mrs. Campbell, who also claimed the body and will cremate it, as the slayer requested.

The murder for which he paid the penalty was one of the most revolting in New Jersey annals. A little more than a year ago the charred body of Mrs. Mowry was found by the roadside in Cranford.

Police for a time were baffled, but later, through a brace in a shoe, identification was made by relatives of Mrs. Mowry in Greenville, Pa. Suspicion pointed to Campbell when these relatives made known Mrs. Mowry's engagement to "Dr. Campbell."

BLAMES DOPE ADDICTION

Campbell admitted the crime and told police he had bigamously married Mrs. Mowry. He told of having fired a bullet into Mrs. Mowry's head, soaked her clothing with gasoline and set it afire.

Campbell said his mind was wrecked from use of drugs and that financial reverses had caused him to marry Mrs. Mowry because he needed a small fortune he believed she possessed. Later he learned her assets consisted solely of $1,000 cash in a savings bank.

CHURCHMEN HIT AT POLITICS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 18.—(AP.)—Political activities laid to the Federal Council of Churches were under fire today in an overture of the Mecklenburg Presbytery to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

The Presbytery urged withdrawal from the council because it "is now being investigated by Congress for its political activities on questions which Christ did not commission the church to settle."

The overture declared the council has been charged from reliable sources with being in sympathy with Communism and with Russia Soviet propaganda and that the council's radio programs have been the means of widespread error of fundamental truths.

Mexican General Killed By Bandits

MEXICO CITY, April 18.—(AP.)—El Universal Grafico said last night that Gen. Jose Guiterrez Cazares, commander of the Sixteenth Mexican Cavalry Regiment, was killed by bandits who held up a passenger bus on which he was traveling from the city of Celaya to the Army camp at Sarabia.

Several other passengers on the bus were robbed, but later were allowed to proceed to their destination.

Ocean Mail Awards Spur Shipbuilding

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Postmaster General Brown today signed five contracts with the United Fruit Line and the Grace Steamship Company for carrying ocean mail, calling for an expenditure of $25,000,000 in American shipbuilding.

Ten new passenger and cargo vessels are to be constructed under the contracts, which are for a 10-year period.

Ex-Mate of Doris Mercer Commits Suicide

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Percival L. Harden, former husband of Doris Mercer, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and late publisher of the Club Fellow and Washington Mirror, society publications, was found dead in a room at the George Washington Hotel yesterday with a bullet through his heart. Police said he had committed suicide, having been in poor health. He was 60 years old.

Harden, who was born in Wheeling, W. Va., separated from his third wife last October. His first two marriages ended in divorce. He lived in Chicago many years before he came to New York and purchased the two publications. They recently were taken over by The Tatler.

Police found six notes in Harden's room. One was addressed to his sister, Mrs. Ida Aschman, of Wheeling; another to his attorney, and the rest to hotel employes.

Harden's first wife was the former Maude Sullivan, model. After their divorce he obtained a verdict of $10,000 against William T. Hoops, New York stock broker, in a suit for alienation of affections. Later Mrs. Harden and Hoops were married.

The second wife was Doris Mercer. After their divorce she married Sebastian S. Kresge, multi-millionaire store owner, the marriage ending in divorce. The third wife, Mrs. Lila Harden, now living in Brooklyn, collapsed when informed that her husband had killed himself. A 3-year-old son, John Lynwood, also survives him.

'Procession of Penitents' Marks Good Friday

ROME, April 18.—(AP.)—Before altars stripped of their ornaments and surrounded by veiled crucifixes, with the tabernacles in the center standing open and empty, black-vestmented priests solemnly prostrating themselves today commemorated the death of Christ in all the churches of Rome and throughout the Catholic world.

Rome's commemoration of Good Friday was, as always, particularly impressive because of the number of purported relics of Christ's passion and death to be found here. A great "procession of penitents" composed of thousands of clergy and laymen, wended its way to Santa Croce in Gerusalemme, where a comparatively large piece of what is said to be the Cross of Calvary has been kept for centuries.

The Scala Santa, or Holy Staircase, enshrined in the church just across the way from St. John Lateran, was the goal of thousands of penitents, both Italian and foreign. The tradition is that the staircase is the very same that Christ ascended in the praetorium of Pontius Pilate in Jerusalem, on his way to appear before the Roman magistrate. The steps, all of marble, are assumed to have been brought to Rome by St. Helena, mother of Constantine, the first Christian emperor.

DRIVER BEATEN, ASSAILANTS STEAL CAB

Four Men Leap on Taxi Running Board and Drag Operator From Wheel

Sutherland was attacked shortly after he had discharged a woman passenger from his cab in front of the hospital. The woman engaged his cab at the Pennsylvania Railroad station. After the passenger had stepped into the hospital, four men leaped on the running board of his cab and dragged Sutherland from the wheel.

Baldwin's wife, Mrs. Jewel Baldwin, 29, injured, was taken to Mercy Hospital in Sullivan's cab. He was released on $1,000 bond for a hearing in Traffic Court.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Samuel Pasquale, 26, of 78 Forty-fourth street, was under arrest today, police reported, suspected of being one of a gang of men who, April 11, stole a Yellow cab after beating the driver and attempting to wreck the machine at the foot of Pine street.

Forty-nine striking taxicab drivers and members of their executive committee face contempt of court charges. They are charged with violating the injunction granted March 28, by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen.

A petition filed yesterday by the Yellow Cab Company alleges that by operating taxicab service from the relief headquarters, 1711 Liberty avenue, they have defied the injunctions and asks that they be adjudged in contempt of court. Judge George V. Moore set April 24 for their hearing.

TWO DRIVERS FINED

Two striking drivers, Chlorice Frech and Bud Thomas, were fined $100 with the alternative of 30 days in jail, on contempt of court charges yesterday, by Judge James H. Gray. He postponed his decision until Saturday in the cases of Paul J. Reagan and Phillip Azzara, arraigned on similar charges.

REALTY BROKER INDICTED AGAIN

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS.)—G. Bryan Pitts, many-times-indicted former chairman of the board of the F. H. Smith Company, realty brokers, today faced additional charges of embezzlement in connection with the concern's tangled affairs.

Already under indictment in connection with the bankruptcy of the Hamilton Hotel, a Smith company enterprise, for contempt of court in the same case, and charged with embezzlement of more than a million dollars, Pitts now has been indicted again, this time accused with some of his associates of embezzling $5,000,000.

Others indicted with Pitts on the $5,000,000 indictment were Samuel J. Henry, former president of the Smith Company; C. Elbert Anadale and John H. Edwards, Jr., former officials of the F. H. Smith Company.

Unemployment Shows Decrease

NEW YORK, April 18.—(INS.)—Unemployment in New York state is lessening, according to announcement today of the state bureau of employment. The ratio of applicants for jobs at 10 free employment offices of the State Department of Labor has been progressively less during each of the first three months of the year, it was stated.

According to T. E. Middlebrook, chief of the Narcotic Bureau here, federal agents have been endeavoring to obtain evidence against Lipton for more than two years. He is said to have traded exclusively with wealthy persons in Pittsburgh and Atlantic City, N. J.

Federal narcotic agents here said they had received word from Philadelphia of the arrest there of Ralph Lipton, until April 1, when the sheriff closed his place, proprietor of a drugstore at 5465 Penn avenue. REPORT AGAINST RAIL POOLING

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Joseph B. Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission today read to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee a commission report unanimously favoring legislation to prohibit consolidation or unification of railroads through pooling of stocks by holding companies.

Testifying on the Couzens resolution proposing to suspend all consolidations, including those direct linkings now authorized by the commission as well as "overhead" mergers through holding companies, Eastman said that if the commission endorsed the Couzens proposal in its entirety it would be declaring it "doubted its own ability to judge wisely what is in the public interest."

QUIZ NORTH SIDE MAN ON BLAST

Detectives today were questioning Nick Vechio, 28, of 816 Reedsdale street, North Side, following an explosion and fire last night which destroyed a three-family apartment house in which Vechio resided.

Vechio was burned in the explosion, and two women were injured. Mrs. Dora Collins suffered a broken toe and a sprained ankle when she dropped from a second story window to escape, and Mrs. Ruth Fry, residing on the first floor, was overcome by smoke and was slightly burned before she was rescued by her husband, D. H. Fry. She is in St. John's Hospital.

Fry also carried his three-months-old child, Emma Lou, to safety.

C. R. Collins, husband of Mrs. Collins, assisted her from their second floor apartment when flames cut off their escape by way of the staircase. He held her by the hands and dropped her from a window to the street, then leaped himself as flames enveloped the room.

Detectives claim two five-gallon cans of gasoline were found in Vechio's apartment in the basement. Vechio was arrested after he was treated for burns in the Presbyterian Hospital.

Passion Play Near At Oberammergau

By DOROTHY R. FISCHER.
Universal Service.

OBERAMMERGAU, April 18.—The eyes of the world will turn again this summer to this little Bavarian village, where the world's greatest Passion Play will be presented, beginning May 11.

Oberammergau, steeped in a pious religious tradition which has made the humble peasants of this region famous throughout the world, is busy preparing to make this year's play the greatest in its history. Oberammergauers spend their whole lives, almost, with the idea of the Passion Play always before them.

None of these peasants has made money for himself. What little profit there has been has gone to improve the town and to pay the participants for the time lost from their regular labor.

Burden of Debt

This year, they hope to attract sufficient box office patronage to cover a huge debt for improvements to the town and the Passion Play auditorium, besides affording the actors in the drama modest salaries.

Oberammergau knows the expense connected with the performance of the Passion Play. The players still have the memory of 1922, the year of the last performance, in mind. That was a terrible financial failure, because, unfortunately, it came at the height of the German inflation and was paid for in inflated money, which lost its value almost as soon as it reached the pockets of Oberammergauers.

Bavaria is well prepared to receive the expected onslaught of tourists coming by rail, highway and air to see the Passion Play. Railroad schedules have been rearranged to meet convenience. New roads have been built, old ones repaired, bridges built, service stations constructed to make motor travel to Oberammergau comfortable.

Air Travelers

The Lufthansa will bring passengers by plane to Munich from all large European cities. At first the plan was to operate an air line between Munich and Oberammergau, but mountains around the little town caused its abandonment.

What Bavarians have done to shine up the state, Oberammergauers have done to brighten the town for the season. All the houses, some of them centuries old, have been repaired and given colorful coats of paint. The main road has been asphalted. There is a new postoffice and many modern shops. Never has Oberammergau undergone such a modernization. And the greatest change is in the Passion Play Theater, which has been enlarged and modernized at a cost of about $250,000.

CITIZEN BAN ON REDS UPHELD

PHILADELPHIA, April 18 (AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third circuit ruled against the admittance of Communists to American citizenship.

The decision upheld the revocation of the citizenship of John Papoi, said a member of the Communist party, by the Federal Court in Pittsburgh. The Appellate Court composed of Circuit Judges Victor B. Woolley and J. Warren Davis and District Judge Albert W. Johnson, of Scranton, took the position that the principles of the Communist party were not incompatible with the Constitution of the United States that one of its adherents could not be faithful to both.

Papoi said he is a Hungarian and has been in this country 12 years. He conducts a barber shop in Hermine, Westmoreland County, Pa., is married and has three children.

Pittsburgh Man Indicted As Killer

LISBON, O., April 18.—The Columbiana County grand jury returned a second degree murder indictment against Harry W. Kushing, 23, of 5629 Baum boulevard, Pittsburgh, in connection with the death of Deputy Sheriff James P. Elliott, 45, who was crushed between a tree and the running board of an automobile here on April 3. Elliott, who died in the Salem Hospital April 13, was injured when he attempted to arrest Kushing on a charge of driving through two traffic signals.

Kushing has been at liberty since April 9 on $10,000 bond pending a trial July 1 on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

South Brownsville Marksmen Qualify

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., April 18.—South Brownsville High School's rifle team, one of twenty-six among 1,000 clubs of the United States, is now sponsored by the National Rifle Association. The team, which was one of the two clubs in Pennsylvania to be given a handicap, fired 380 points out of 400.

Waynesburg Man Heads Red Cross

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 18.—R. J. Mitchland of Waynesburg, has been elected executive chairman of the Greene County chapter of the American Red Cross. He succeeds Mrs. W. J. Kyle, resigned.

3 MEN INJURED IN ERIE BLAST

ERIE, Pa., April 18 (AP)—Three men were injured, one seriously, here yesterday afternoon in an explosion at the plant of the Odin Stove Company. The blast occurred in the japanning department and the rear walls of the building housing the mill were blown out. Several autos also were damaged.

Joseph Danowski, 32, the most seriously hurt, suffered head injuries and burns about the body. George Patosnak and Samuel Dale were burned about the face.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and soreness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods. Never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please, let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

Milk of Magnesia has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

WILL SUSPEND BREAD LINE

The Pittsburgh Rescue Mission, operating a bread line at the Boulevard of the Allies and Grant street, announced that the service would be suspended within a few days but would be renewed if unemployment conditions warranted continuance of the free meals.

At the same time the mission criticized a proposal of officials of the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies to abolish bread lines on the ground that social service agencies were able to help the unemployed and on the ground that bread lines attracted an undesirable class of men to the city. A statement by the Rev. Alexander Gibson and James McEwan, of the mission, said:

We know from careful statistics that seven out of 10 in the bread line are honest and hard-working men. Just a few months ago these men that now stand in the bread line were wage earners. In the past they helped with their mite towards the drives of the community chest campaigns in this and other cities.

The Great Teacher said, "If a man is hungry feed him" and "He that gives to the poor lends to the Lord."

DRY BELIEVED ROBBER, SHOT

ATLANTA, April 18.—(AP.)—Two prohibition agents who mistook a bundle of papers for a bottle of liquor were fired upon and one was wounded by a bill collector who mistook them for bandits.

M. L. Clinton, the bill collector, was alighting from his automobile when R. R. Davis and C. E. McCrary, of the police dry squad, drove up in an automobile. Davis mounted the running board of the car which Clinton was leaving. One of Clinton's clients, A. Auerbach, store operator, in the car, shouted for help and Clinton drew his pistol and opened fire. Davis was wounded in the hip and in the back. The officers returned the fire and Clinton fled, telephoning police that he had been pursued by holdup men.

Davis' wounds were reported not serious. Clinton and Auerbach were held on a charge of "suspicion."

Davis said he thought Clinton's papers were being used to conceal illicit liquor.

JULIAN PROBER THOUGHT SLAIN

LOS ANGELES, April 18—(AP.)—Interest in the latest Julian Petroleum Corporation expose today centered on an inquest into the death of Robert Bursian, investigator of "dangerous angles" of the $100,000,000 Julian case for the district attorney's office.

That Bursian, who was found dead beneath the wreckage of his automobile, may have been the victim of foul play was indicated by County Chemist R. J. Abernathy, who said an autopsy disclosed "knockout drops" in the vital organs. A glass containing poison was found in Bursian's automobile.

A young woman, said to have been with Bursian a short time before his death, is held for questioning. Her name has not been disclosed. Three men are being sought.

ATHENS SHAKEN BY QUAKES

ATHENS, Greece, April 18—(AP.)—Severe earthquake shocks rocking the Peloponnesus during the night, did extensive damage in several small inland towns. Athens and the Piraeus were shaken badly, and there was great alarm among crowds of Holy Thursday worshippers in the churches.

Several persons were injured, one seriously, in collapse of a church tower at Isthmia, and a number were hurt at Corinth through collapse of several houses. At Sparta a church tower fell, but there were no casualties.

Wife Fights Order To Pay Man Alimony

DETROIT, April 18—(AP.)—Mrs. Lena Lakritz has her dander up and she doesn't intend to pay her husband, Wolf Lakritz, the alimony ordered by court several weeks ago.

Judge Maurice McMahon, after hearing Wolf's plea for a divorce, entered a temporary order requiring Mrs. Lakritz to pay his board and room rent, give him $3 a week and furnish him with a new set of teeth, the cost not to exceed $100. Yesterday Mrs. Lakritz's attorney filed an appeal with the State Supreme Court, contending alimony for husbands is illegal in Michigan.

DOPE ENSNARES VICTIMS FOR 'SLAVERS'

Narcotics Chief Weapon Of Vice Rings to Lure Girls Into Vicious Trade

Dope and crime are synonymous. Dope sears the brain and destroys the body. Addicts become the willing slaves of any master who can give the necessary daily supply. Brigands who operate the white slave rings therefore employ dope to entrap and sell thousands of girls all over the world into the most hideous form of human slavery. What it means to be an addict is told graphically in the fifth of a series of six articles on the drug traffic.

By G. W. L. DAY

LONDON, April 18.—Several girls had vanished under mysterious circumstances before some months ago a welfare center in Tokio had suspicions that a certain Eurasian girl was about to fall into the clutches of the underworld.

The Eurasian had struck up a friendship with a beautiful Japanese girl who it was strongly suspected, was acting as a decoy.

The friendship ripened and the Japanese girl asked her Eurasian friend to stay with her for a few weeks.

The welfare workers did not try to prevent her from accepting the invitation. They shadowed their protege and made a note of the address to which she went. Next day the police raided the place.

It communicated with a house of ill-fame. Here the Eurasian girl was found completely under the influence of drugs.

GIRLS DECOYED

Girls, often girls of aristocratic birth, are decoyed into these dens by "trusties" who work hard to win their confidence. They are given doped food with their first meal. In a short time they lose their consciousness and whenever they show signs of recovering it they are given injections of morphine.

Usually they are not allowed to come round for about a fortnight and when they do so it is to find themselves ruined women.

In South America thousands of girls have been ruined in this way; in Berlin, Paris, Marseilles and Madrid.

The Italian government has reported dozens of seizures of cocaine during the last two years in licensed houses. Also a special report has been handed in to the League describing the connection between drugs and the white slave traffic in Italy.

CARELESS DOSING

The most exhaustive investigations have been made in the United States to discover the causes of drug addiction among Westerners.

The conclusions are most remarkable. It seems that in three-quarters of the cases the trouble is due to careless medical prescriptions.

Deterioration of the habitual drug-taker is swift. Aside from the physical havoc, a fearful change takes place in the victim's character. He becomes utterly callous and a pathological liar. Beauty and ugliness, love and hate, right and wrong, all mean nothing to him.

Millions of addicts the world over sincerely desire to be cured. Thousands present themselves to hospitals and homes for this purpose; thousands endure the weeks, the months of agony which withdrawal of drugs brings in its train, and go away full of health and hope.

There is only one thing which can cure dope addiction. That is to cut off the supply of narcotics.

(The final article of this series, to appear Sunday, makes a frank discussion of the British opium policy.)

Baby 'Numerator' Named After Census Man

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 18.—(AP)—One census enumerator in a Negro section here has achieved the seemingly impossible task of endearing himself to the head of the family and his clansmen, large and small, implicitly retired in the most mysterious manner. The enumerator waited, wondered and retired.

"Numerater's arrived," he announced.

"Who's numerator," asked the census taker.

"He's a bran new baby, and we'se named him after you," said the chief.

ROAD PATROLS DENIED GUNS

BOISE, Idaho, April 18.—(AP)—A gunless squadron of Idaho highway patrolmen departed for their posts of duty as a result of a decision of Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, that they would enforce the rules of the roads without weapons.

Elimination of the guns from the equipment of the officers was decided upon at the close of a four-day conference of the patrolmen on the grounds that they were not dealing with criminals in supervising traffic.

Defensive weapons will be provided the men, it was explained, not because there had been any misuse of firearms but it was believed other weapons would suffice.

The old fashioned billy clubs may be provided the motorcycle men.

Several patrolmen objected to the change.

Locusts Ravage Colony in India

JERUSALEM, April 18.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—An area of 300 dunams (about 67 acres) in the Judean colony of Kishon Le Zion, 15 miles south of Jaffa, was invaded by a swarm of locusts, thought to be part of the swarm that has been ravaging the entire Sinai Peninsula.

Government officials, peasants and volunteers are ready to take emergency measures if the invasion spreads.

Milwaukee Man, En Route Home, Dies

ATLANTA, Ga., April 18.—(AP)—I. G. Gregg, 60, vice president of the Morris F. Fox Company, of Milwaukee, Wis., died yesterday after a brief illness. He had stopped in Atlanta while en route home from a vacation in Florida. The body will be taken to Milwaukee, where his widow and a son reside.

WOMAN GUILTY KILLING MATE

DURANT, Okla., April 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Ila Hughes, farm woman of near Utica, was convicted by a District Court jury here last night of murder in connection with the killing of her husband, Will Hughes, who was clubbed to death last November 27. The jury recommended a sentence of life imprisonment.

The jury returned its verdict after 30 minutes' deliberation. Judge Porter Newman set next Monday for the passing of sentence.

Mrs. Hughes, the mother of three children, testified she feared Andrew J. Eastep would kill her if she did not help him kill her husband, Will Hughes. Eastep, a neighbor, is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary for his part in the crime. The state charged that Eastep and Mrs. Hughes plotted to rid themselves of their spouses so they would be free to wed. Eastep is charged with the fatal poisoning of his wife.

"Eastep made love to me and told me he wished he had got me instead of the wife he got," Mrs. Hughes testified. "I couldn't resist his influence. When I suggested we run away he said 'No, it would be better to kill Will, then we would be free.' I could not hold out against him. I was afraid he would kill me."

CLUBBING VET COSTS JOB

HARTFORD, Conn., April 18.—(AP)—Capt. Arthur C. Bennett, executive officer of Fitch's Home for Soldiers at Noroton, resigned last night after being convicted of clubbing an intoxicated war veteran. He was convicted by the Connecticut Veterans Home Commission of "unnecessarily harsh and cruel treatment."

The commission began an investigation into reports of liquor parties at the home as the result of charges by William Fitzpatrick that Bennett had used a club on him while trying to break up a party and place the former soldier in the guard house.

The commission called a number of inmates and officers to the Senate chamber here to tell of conditions in the home.

Porto Rico O. K.'s Roosevelt Program

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 18.—(AP)—The annual legislative session in Porto Rico ended with most of the legislation urged by Gov. Theodore Roosevelt passed. The bills approved include those providing for extension of the island's chief judicial appointments from four to ten years, a new university act, and the creation of a bureau of commerce. The gasoline tax was increased to six cents per gallon.

Yacht Following Columbus Trail Damaged

NASSAU, Bahamas, April 18.—(AP)—Fifty-one days out from the Canary Islands with her mast snapped eight feet from the deck, the 12-ton 46-foot sailing yacht Carlsark was undergoing repairs here following completion of a journey over the trail of Columbus.

The craft is in command of Carl Weagant, Cornell graduate and amateur yachtsman, and manned by a crew of two, Dudley Scholes and Joe Rumler.

Franklin Hospital Given $5,000 in Will

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—The Franklin Hospital, of Franklin, Pa., receives $5,000 under the will of Miss Elizabeth McCalmont Wilson, filed for probate here. Miss Wilson died in Franklin on March 6 last. Her estate is expected to amount to $500,000.

The Franklin Red Cross also receives $5,000 and the Franklin Public Library $1,500. The Champlain Valley Hospital at Plattsburgh, N. Y., receives $1,000, and the Plattsburgh Children's Home $500. The Franklin bequests are in memory of Miss Wilson's brother and parents. The residuary estate is divided among three cousins and a sister-in-law.

TROTH BROKEN, HANGS SELF

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP).—With a letter from his fiancee breaking off their engagement before him, John N. Douglas, 24, hanged himself in his room in the West Side branch of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Douglas was a son of Dr. J. H. Rindlaub, surgeon of the Pasadena General Hospital, Pasadena, Cal. He was graduated at Yale last year.

He had been dead several hours when his body was found suspended from a steam pipe by a length of electric wire stripped from a reading lamp. On a table was a letter addressed to Douglas and signed "Dana," which declared "the only thing I can do, John, is to break our engagement. I don't seem to be your main interest."

Police said the writer of the letter was Marjorie Dana Frame, formerly of New York. The letter was postmarked at Fargo, N. D., where police said Miss Frame is living with her parents.

3 TO RE-ENACT REVERE RIDE

BOSTON, April 18 (AP).—A third rider will join Paul Revere and William Dawes tomorrow in spreading the alarm to every Middlesex village and farm.

Dr. Samuel Prescott had been a-courting late that historic April night in 1775 when the Red Coats were on the march, history relates. Midway between Lexington and Concord he came upon the British, who had temporarily captured Revere and forced Dawes to flee in another direction.

Exulting of their mission, Prescott took up the task. Speeding away through moonlit by-ways towards Concord, he bore the message to the defenders of ammunition stores there of the approach of the enemy.

Previous celebrations have overlooked Dr. Samuel Prescott. The observances are held in the day time.

Coroner Finally Succeeds With One-Arm Jury

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., April 18.—(AP).—Coroner C. S. Young's unique ambition to empanel a jury of one-armed men has at last been crowned as the literary lads would say, with success.

Ever since he himself lost an arm several years ago, the coroner has been trying to get together a jury of men similarly crippled. Yesterday in the case of a woman accidentally burned to death, he rounded up a justice of the peace, a contractor, a constable and three others, all one-armed.

URGE BANK QUIZ ON SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP).—The Senate Banking Committee today ordered a favorable report to the Senate on the Glass resolution proposing a Senate inquiry into the banking system and the use of federal facilities in stock speculation.

The resolution, presented by Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, was sent to the Senate without opposition. The resolution provides the inquiry shall investigate administration of these banking systems with respect to the use of their facilities for trading in and carrying speculative securities, the extent of call loans to brokers by member banks for such purposes, the effect on the systems of the formation of investment and security trusts, the desirability of chain banking, the development of branch banking as a part of the national system, together with any related problems which the committee may think it important to investigate.

Switzerland Raises Tax on Schnapps

BERNE, Switzerland, April 18.—(AP).—Schnapps, the strong fruit liquor much used in this country, will be harder to get and cost much more under Switzerland's new legislation.

Heavy taxes will be imposed on all alcohol and brandies under the referendum adopted April 6 by a two to three majority. Switzerland probably will collect $5,000,000 a year from these taxes.

ATTIC ROMANCE PAIR INDICTED

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(AP).—Otto Sanhuber, who imprisoned himself in garrets for 10 years to be near Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, the woman he loved, today again was close to his enchantress. Both, occupied cells in the county jail.

They were indicted jointly yesterday for the murder of the woman's husband, Fred Oesterreich, retired Milwaukee (Wis.) garment manufacturer, August 22, 1922. Oesterreich's slaying, because of apparent lack of motive and absence of clues, mystified police more than seven years.

Side by side at the arraignment they ignored each other. Sanhuber, by reason of insanity. His trial was pleaded not guilty and not guilty set for April 21.

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs; ingredients that start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, laden breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. Or just write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

What Ure Druggist Stores Mean To You

Ure Druggist Stores are independent local and personally owned drug stores that collectively own their own wholesale warehouses and Ure Druggist Factory. Each store is operated under the personal supervision of the owner, a licensed pharmacist and registered under your state laws for the protection of public health.

Ure Druggists are of the opinion that individual ownership in business is desired by the consuming public in order to secure community service that is required by the individual household. Community Service means dependable—home service—any hour—day or night, either personal, telephone, or messenger with free door delivery. This individual service and fair prices on every item plus weekly and monthly special sales is far more economical and preferable than the few pennies differential and inconvenient cash and carry plan machine service of competitive stores.

The constructive thinking public are fast realizing the harmful effect upon local community service by their patronizing stores that are only local agents collecting profits to be forwarded to centralized financial barons, and leaving the burden of church and charity, municipal and county government on the shoulders of the people and local independent merchants.

Many additional and varied items will be included in this sale by each individual

GAS FUMES KILL WIFE SLAYER

DETROIT, April 18.—(AP.)—Mrs. Maud MacPherson, 44, was found hacked to death in her home here last night. Her husband, Hume MacPherson, 50, real estate salesman, was found dead in his closed garage, the motor of his car running.

The woman's body was found by their 13-year-old adopted daughter. Detectives summoned by neighbors found MacPherson's body.

Police advanced the theory that the man killed his wife, then went to the garage, closed the doors, started the motor and waited for death from carbon monoxide gas. Detectives said blood on the dead man's hands and clothing supported this theory.

DENIES PART IN 'JAKEY' PLOT

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Abraham Michaels, indicted in Covington, Ky., with 15 others, for alleged conspiracy to ship 20,000 gallons of Jamaica ginger to that state for use in violation of the federal prohibition laws, surrendered here.

Appearing at the office of Assistant United States Attorney Joseph F. Sharp, accompanied by his attorney, Charles G. F. Wahle, he denied the charges.

He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter and was held in $5,000 bail for hearing on April 30 on removal proceedings.

ERROR CAUSES BLAST, 3 HURT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 18.—(AP.)—A plumber's mistake in using a blow torch on a gas pipe that he thought was a drain, was blamed by Frank Buckalew, city fire marshal, as a possible cause of a beauty shop explosion which yesterday injured three women.

The two-story building was damaged. The women's injuries were slight.

Buckalew said W. H. McMillan, plumber, signed a statement that he instructed a Negro helper to saw the pipe and apply a torch. The explosion followed, breaking windows and shaking buildings nearby.

QUIZ DIVORCEE ON 'CAPTIVE'

MEDIA, Pa., April 18 (AP).—Miss Amelia Phillips, 30-year-old divorcee, testified at habeas corpus proceedings brought by relatives of Aaron Unger, New York candy manufacturer, that she was engaged to be married to Unger, whom she is accused of holding captive in her apartment in Lansdowne, near here.

The hearing was on application by Unger's wife and his brother, Elias Unger, also of New York, for a writ of habeas corpus in which Miss Phillips was charged with holding Aaron Unger against his will by duress and coercion. Unger's relatives also alleged he was invalided and weak-minded. It also is alleged in the petition that Unger was forced against his will to sign over his business to Miss Phillips, and application was made for a receiver to handle his estate, said to be worth between $200,000 and $500,000.

After Miss Phillips had testified that Unger, who is 48, was in a serious condition as the result of high blood pressure, was unable to walk and might not live if forced to appear in court, Judge Roger W. Pfonefield continued the proceedings until May 1.

FAKED 'PARDON' COSTS 5 YEARS

TOPEKA, Kan., April 18.—(AP.)—Convicted by a jury of forging his way out of the Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, Hayes Van Gorder had five years added to the long term which he must serve before his many sentences expire.

After less than 15 minutes deliberation, the jury decided that the writ of habeas corpus which threw open the prison gates for the 54-year-old convicted forger March 2, 1929, was his own handiwork and not that of officials.

Judge Richard J. Hopkins, of the United States District Court, sentenced Van Gorder to serve five years on each of two counts, the sentences to run concurrently and after the expiration of his present terms for mail order forgery convictions, which his record shows aggregate approximately 20 years.

Van Gorder's record as it appears in the files of the United States district attorney, discloses he is now serving sentences on commitments from Federal courts in Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Illinois and Kansas, all for forging money orders.

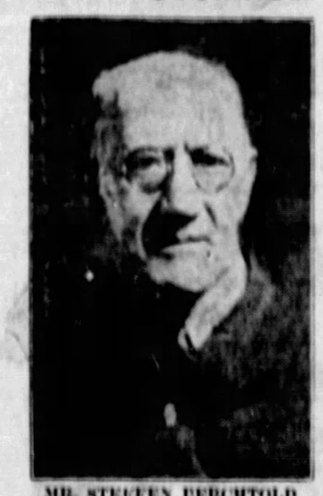
SUFFERED FIFTEEN YEARS FROM STOMACH AND KIDNEY TROUBLE
MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 SOON FIXED HIM UP FINE



MR. STEFFEN BERCHTOLD Cincinnati, Ohio

The sensation of Pittsburgh today is the newest and most remarkable medicine which has come to the relief of the thousands of sufferers from stomach and kidney troubles and kindred ailments like rheumatism and neuritis. The reason for its success is plain. MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 invites you to see plainly what is in each and every bottle and to discuss with MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 MAN just what to do in your own case.

Mr. Steffen Berchtold of Cincinnati (Norwood), Ohio, stated: "I have suffered with stomach, liver and kidney trouble for 15 years and have tried many different kinds of medicines, but none gave me results like MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7. I suffered severe gas pains in my stomach. I would bloat up after I ate. I suffered with pains in my back and would get dizzy and would sometimes have to take hold of something to keep from falling. But after taking only a few bottles of MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 I can truly say it certainly has worked wonders for me. I am glad to recommend MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 to any one."

See the MONROE'S FORMULA NO. 7 MAN at DOW'S, Smithfield and Diamond Sts., Pittsburgh, any day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., or on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. He will tell you what it contains and what it does in cases of stomach and kidney and bladder trouble, for indigestion and constipation, for rheumatism or neuritis. Try a bottle or two.

SHOOTS WOMAN, DIES IN LEAP

CHICAGO, April 18.—(INS.)—Shot twice because she refused to marry her suitor, Mrs. Marjorie Ryan, 45, was near death here today after William Costello, 60, shot her and then plunged to his death from the window of their twelfth floor suite in the Great Northern Hotel.

Other guests who rushed in after the shooting found Mrs. Ryan on the floor trying to crawl away from the room. Costello, flourishing the revolver with which he had shot the woman, threatened the guests.

Before help could be summoned Costello went back to his room, hurriedly penned a suicide note and leaped from the window. His body struck a parked car on Quincy street, downtown thoroughfare, and then fell through a steel sidewalk grating to the basement.

Costello's note read:

Confederate War Record Book Found

WASHINGTON.—(AP.)—Layers of book labels removed from an old set of United States supreme Court reports in the War Department Law Library have disclosed that the set was once used in the headquarters of the Confederacy at Richmond.

The book is autographed by Juda P. Benjamin, attorney general of the Confederacy who, after his escape to England, became a queen's counsel of note.

Another rare volume, a copy of the first civil code for the territory of Orleans, was rescued from the basement of the State, War and Navy Building and is now in the War Deparment Law Library.

Japanese Good-Will Girls Leave Capital

Washington, April 18.—(INS.)—Japan's four dainty emissaries of good will and gratitude for aid given that country during the 1923 earthquake and fire, left the capital at 10 a. m. today for Philadelphia, the next stop on their tour. The girls, dressed in native costume, represent the flower of Japanese maidenhood, and during their four-day stay here were received by President Hoover and were entertained at a round of receptions and banquets.

Train Kills 2 as Auto Runs Through Gates

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 18.—(INS.)—Two men were killed outright and two women and another man were seriously injured today when an automobile crashed through the lowered gates of a grade crossing here and was struck by a North Shore Line electric train. Those killed were Harold Drieske and Louis Koppel, both of Chicago. The injured were Mrs. Louis Koppel, Mrs. Grace Lund and Bernard Reinschreible.

25 Carry Fugitive Snake Back to Cage

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 18.—(AP.)—Katrinka, 30-foot Sumatra python, A. W. O. L. since Saturday night, is home again.

The snake disappeared from her cage in a concession on the water front. A reward of $50 was offered for her return. Searchers poked, none too enthusiastically, into holes and corners of the pier, without result. Then bathers saw her, curled on the rocks of a pier, asleep, digesting a 60-pound pig, fed her a day before her escape. Twenty-five men carried Katrinka on their shoulders back to her cage.

CAR CONDUCTOR TELLS HOW NEW KONJOLA WORKED

Suffered Three Years — Famed Medicine First To Bring Relief From Ailments

Don't harbor any doubts about the merits of Konjola, the medicine that has been quick to win new fame and friends everywhere it has been introduced and put to the test. Get all the facts about this medicine that triumphs even after all else tried has been found wanting. Hear the remarkable story of this new and different medicine from the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh. See for yourself how Konjola, taken after meals, works with the food you eat in cleansing and stimulating the ailing organs, and in aiding Nature in paving the way for the return of new and vigorous health.

Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mr. Mark P. Lovett, street car conductor, 40 East Roseridge avenue, Bellevue, Pittsburgh. After all, results are what count in any medicine, and Konjola's success rests upon its proven ability to give splendid results. Even though Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals, it quickly brings relief, and a treatment of from four to eight bottles brings amazing results. Read, now, the words of Mr. Lovett, who recently said to the Konjola Man:

"I was generally rundown in health. I was weak, tired and worn-out each morning. I had stomach trouble that caused gas and bloating after eating. I also had headaches and dizzy spells. I was in this condition for about three years. I spent hundreds of dollars in an effort to get relief. I have paid as high as fifty dollars for examinations.

"Someone recommended Konjola and I got some right away. I didn't notice any results until after the second bottle. Then I felt refreshed each morning and ready for my day's work as conductor for the Street Railway Company. The gas and bloating disappeared and my food digests a lot better. Headaches are less frequent and my bowels are in more normal condition. It is worth so much to get relief that I am glad to indorse Konjola."

Konjola will produce results that will amaze those with the most stubborn ailments. It is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken as a fair trial.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold by all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

GOOD FRIDAY RITES FILL CHURCHES

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

OF all the persons who get their names in the papers frequently, Weatherman Brotzman is probably the least known to the public. He is a well-dispositioned man approaching 56, quiet and popular with the newspapermen. A few years ago he married.

Here is a comparison which shows how far ahead of all his rivals is Ziegfeld. Two years ago "Show Boat" opened at the Nixon while George White's "Scandals" was at the Alvin. Recently "Show Boat" and a later edition of "Scandals" were here, but Ziegfeld's show was still several degrees better entertainment.

WALKING is more or less of an abandoned pastime in Pittsburgh. So disdainful of that activity are the public officials that when the Boulevard of the Allies was lengthened no provision for a sidewalk was made along a stretch of several hundred yards.

If the Inquiring Reporter ever asks us to answer the question, "What is your favorite street?" our vote will go for Devonshire street between Fifth and Ellsworth avenues. No two houses in the block are similar, each indicates good taste and a double row of aged trees invites a restful quiet which is good for tired nerves or what have you.

WHEN the night-lifers of 10 years ago get together these days they regret above all else the passing of the old State House in Wylie avenue

When the night-lifers of 15 years ago congregate they shed a tear over the demise of Newell's saloon in downtown Fifth avenue . . . There was no night life 20 years ago, was there?

A reporter who has interviewed hundreds says that of all the women at whom he has hurled questions, Ruth Elder, the New York-almost-to-Paris flier, was the most beautiful and that Amelia Earhart was the most likeable and most intelligent.

PERSONS are forever calling up newspapers for the answers to preposterous questions. Is it true that John L. Sullivan died of a broken heart because a woman rejected him? Did Thackery write Shakespeare's stuff, or was it vice versa? Recently somebody called this newspaper for the date of the Johnstown Flood, and, quicker than that, the newspapermen supplied the date. He happened to have been born in Johnstown.

Many of the oldtimers in show business when they return to Pittsburgh ask about the late Charles M. Bregg, who was drama critic of the old Gazette Times. His intelligent, critical reviews of the theater were outstanding. With his death, the name Bregg was not lost to Pittsburgh newspapers for Mrs. Bregg is the Sun-Telegraph's club editor.

THERE is probably something significant in this: On a shelf of odds and ends in books in a downtown store was "Bridge of San Luis Rey," for sale at 25 cents.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 18.

IF AT times you feel your government is not interested in you you are all wrong. Why, every 10 years they send around to see if you are still living and why.

They take your name and address and if anything shows up during the next 10 years they will notify you. Knowing how many of us there is don't mean a thing. Censuses are just for chamber of commerces oratorical purposes. The new census will give California six new congressmen. Now if you can call that adding to human welfare, you are an optimist. Yours for less census and more sense and cents.

Gleason Invites Ardeth to Dinner on Houseboat

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll is being wooed by Neil Burke, who rooms with her Aunt Stella. Almost every night when she returns home from work she finds him waiting in the hall for her, and he often causes her to be late for dinner. Aunt Stella gets angered and scolds Ardeth for holding back the meals. Ardeth feels depressed. Ardeth goes for a machine ride with Neil. Passing through a park Ardeth gazes at Kent Gleason, a college football player, whom she knows to see. Neil shows signs of jealousy. Later, when Neil kisses her, Ardeth realizes that she does not love him. Jeanette Parker, society girl, calls at the store to see Ardeth. Jeanette is revengeful against her own sister, Cecile, who is taking the spotlight of prominence from her. As an excuse to shun social events, Jeanette plans to open a specialty shop. Ardeth goes to work for her. Neil begs Ardeth to marry him, but she refuses. Gleason visits the shop and is introduced to Ardeth by Jeanette. Ken calls at the shop for Ardeth and takes her home in his machine.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

INSIDE the dark hallway Ardeth stood tense, straining to the sound of Ken's car starting up the street.

There—he was at the corner . . . he was turning the corner . . . he was gone.

Hot despair raged in the girl's heart. Gone—back to that bright, comfortable world where he belonged. That world which held girls like Cecile Parker who could give jolly little dances—dinners—supper parties. If she, Ardeth, had such a background . . . if she could have asked Ken to come upstairs, assured of an easy welcome . . .

She interrupted her own thoughts with an angry little laugh. Only too vividly she was remembering a painful night three years before.

A shy young fellow she had known at school had called on her.

That evening! Even now she could go red at the humiliating memory.

The shabby living room under the glare of the chandelier. Tom, stretched on the couch, coat and shoes off, grunting a surly greeting behind his newspaper. Bet flouncing through the room on flimsy pretexts. The smothered snickers and painfully audible comments of Fan and Paul in the adjoining room.

The agonized embarrassment which had kept the unforunate young man from making a break for liberty.

Paul slept on the couch at night—it was not until Aunt Stel's muttered undertones at nine-thirty broke the spell that the victim had mustered up the courage to escape.

Ask Ken Gleason to face such an ordeal? Ardeth's heart was heavy as she went up the stairs. Oh, well—it was all over now. Embarrassment had made her awkward when she said good night. He was probably laughing at her now in his mind.

Happiness

Ardeth Delighted When Ken Visits

At the sight of the tall figure in the grey suit her heart started racing. She had to struggle to keep the joyous note from her voice as she tried to sell a rhinestone butterfly to a vacillating lady.

Under the covert gaze of Ken, the sale went badly. The vacillating lady would not make up her mind; she would think about it and come in later. She vacillated herself clear out to the pavement, leaving the shop to two radiant young people who had forgotten her very existence before she had quite faded from their view.

"I was passing. I couldn't resist coming in to say hello," Ken explained.

Ardeth struggled to hide her delight. "You made me lose that sale!" she smiled with mock severity. "I should make you buy this animal!" She shook the rhinestone butterfly at him before returning it to the case.

He leaned over the case until his laughing face was close to her own. "Thanks for nothing! I only collect moths!"

On the echo of their laughter Jeanette entered. Her quick black eyes drank in the scene . . . vivid color in Ardeth's face. Something almost lover-like in Ken's attitude. A strange little malice-tinged smile curled Jeanette's lips

An Invitation

Girls Consent to Join Young Men

The expression was gone, however as she hurried forward with an air of cordiality.

"Surprised to see you, Ken. I didn't expect to be so long."

"I had a bright idea this morning, Jennie," he returned easily. "Tom Corbett and I were over at the duck shack—you know, our houseboat in the salt marshes—getting it into shape, and it struck me what a jolly place it would be for a foursome some Sunday. We could cook dinner and all that sort of thing, you know. Can't I persuade you and this young lady here to have a primitive dinner with us—maybe this Sunday? Ah, Jennie—be a good egg!"

A breathless moment, when Jeanette did not know whether or not to be insulted. Tom Corbett and Ken Gleason—she would have been delighted to accept such an invitation from either one. But to have this girl who worked for her included in the party!

However, there was more than one excellent reason why Jeanette did not choose to take offense. She had never been popular with men. And here was an invitation from two of the best. Moreover, if Ken became interested in Ardeth, what a joke on Cecile—Cecile, who had always been crazy about Ken! Cecile, whose complacency had always grated on her older sister. Pleasant to see Cecile's vanity hurt.

Sunday, sang Ardeth's heart. Four eternities to Sunday!

She delighted in the small preparations of the day—washing out her best pair of stockings. Pressing the blouse or her sports suit. Polishing her new tan pumps and buying gloves in her noon hour.

Bet viewed these preparations with suspicion.

"Must have a heavy date!" she said, sourly, on Saturday night, her pale green eyes going across the room to the other girl.

Plans Changed

Two of Party Forced To Back Out

Wrapped in a cotton crepe kimono faded to shell pink by numerous tubbings, Ardeth sat filing her nails. She had just shampooed her hair; not quite dry, it hung about her head in a shock of dark gold.

She looked up at Bet's acrimonious remark and burst into a peal of joyous laughter which completely baffled her cousin.

"I'm going out with King George, Bet," she teased, "but we don't want it known!"

Oh, it was easy to laugh these days! Ken's laughing, blue eyes—his white smile always in her mind.

She awoke to a sense of joyous expectancy. Sunday morning! The far sound of church bells ringing over the city! A glorious day! A day made to order! The faded wooden houses of Fell street were bathed in early sunshine when she walked up the street to meet Ken.

She would not let him come to the house. There was always the chance of a jealous scene with Neil.

He was waiting at the corner, slouched down in the front seat of the blue car which was already so thrillingly familiar.

She saw his face light up at the sight of her. They were on their way, plunging down the hill through the sunshine.

And the girl found herself listening with painful intensity, her heart turning to lead.

Ken was saying: "I couldn't bring myself to tell you before—Jeanette phoned last night, . . . a house party at Burlingame she's forgotten. On top of Tom being called out of town, it looked as though a links were working for us. But I thought—I hoped—" he tore his eyes from the street to fix them pleadingly on her face: "Look here, why can't we go on through with the thing by ourselves. Ah please, Moth!"

HOLDUP STAGED IN DOWNTOWN RESTAURANT

30 Diners Undisturbed as Armed Man Threatens Cashier and Takes $50

While more than 30 patrons dined unaware of what was occurring, an armed robber early today held up the cashier in Gammon's Restaurant, 100 Smithfield street, and escaped with $50 taken from the cash register.

The robber approached J. C. Aul, at the cash register. Concealing his revolver from the customers in the establishment, the robber forced Aul to turn over the money in the register. The thug then backed away.

As he neared the door, Aul cried out and the customers turned to see the man, with pistol leveled at Aul, back into the street and flee. Aul told police the man was aged about 38, neatly-dressed and wore glasses.

AGENTS TRACE CAR OF BEER

Prohibition agents today were endeavoring to trace the shipper of a carload of high test beer which they seized in the Forty-first street yards of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad late yesterday.

Children of the neighborhood obtained beer in buckets as it flowed from a corner of the car. It was the second seizure of its kind in the neighborhood within five days. Saturday the agents routed a number of men who gathered as spectators and attemped to help themselves with receptacles while the raiders were dumping the beverage.

Yesterday's seizure, consisting of 100 barrels and 57 half-barrels, was valued at $10,000.

A second-floor club at 816 East Ohio street, was raided, agents reported, and a small quantity of whisky confiscated. Albert Wagner, 28, was arrested, it was said. Joseph Barbles and William McCormick, were arrested in a club at 7241 Tioga street, which yielded the raiders a small quantity of whisky, they said.

SHERIFF TAKES 361-POUND MAN

Police Supt. Charles H. Kelly, of Pasadena, Cal., who weighs 160 pounds, today was expected to start back to the coast with William A. Coleman, his 361-pound prisoner, arrested here last week. According to police, Cpleman is an international swindler wanted in Pasadena for defrauding the Western Union Telegraph Company of $11,000 and two banks of $3,500.

When Coleman was arrested he weighed 345 pounds and gave police much trouble because of his size. During the several days he has remained in his cell in Central Police Station he gained 16 pounds. The "Oregon boot," the steel ball and chain which Chief Kelly brought with him, is useless. Coleman's ankle is too large to permit use of the shakle.

Local detectives predict a troublesome journey for Chief Kelly and the train crews he calls upon to help him on the way back to his home town.

CREEDS UNITE IN CHRISTIAN SERVICES

Solemn Processions and Penitential Pilgrimages Recall Calvary Tragedy

The Way of the Cross became the way of Christendom today, as Good Friday, day of penitence, was observed in Christian churches. Catholic and Protestant united in solemn remembrance of the Crucifixion.

Following all-night vigils last night in many churches, Roman Catholics this morning attended services called, "the mass of the pre-sanctified," since Good Friday is the only day of the year in which there is no consecration.

Processions of white-clad choirs, altar boys with lighted candles and priests with swinging censers attended the return of the Host to the main altars from side altars, where all yesterday—Holy Thursday—the sacrament had been exposed.

During the day, worshippers moved from church to church, saying the Stations of the Cross. Tonight there will be congregational services.

CANTATAS SCHEDULED

Cantatas and sermons, with other Lenten services, will be held in many Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran and other churches.

"The Burial of Christ," according to the Oriental Roman Catholic rite, was to be observed late this afternoon in St. Ann's Syrian Church, 33 Fullerton street. At 7:30 p. m., following the Corpus Christi procession, the placing of the body of Christ in the sepulcher will be re-enacted.

In Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Alder street, the Three Hours devotion were to begin at noon and end at 3 p. m. A sermon will follow the stations tonight.

"The Passion," based on the last seven words of Christ, will be sung in Trinity Cathedral under the direction of Alfred Hamer, organist.

The Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker, of the Point Breeze Presbyterian Church, Fifth and Penn avenues, was to speak at the services this morning on "Christ, Christ, None But Christ."

"The Thief and the Other Thief," was the subject of the Rev. Dr. Clarence E. Macartney at the Good Friday services this morning. "O, God, the Light of the World," was presented by the choir.

UNITE FOR SERVICE

A bi-lingual service was held in the German Evangelical Protestant Church, Smithfield street, starting at 10 a. m. The Rev. Dr. Carl A. Voss spoke on "Beneath the Cross" at the German service, and "The Shadow of the Cross" at the English service. The Lord's Supper was to be distributed at the close of the service.

Good Friday services will be held in the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, this evening at 7:45 o'clock. The double quartet choir will sing "The Last Seven Words of Christ," by Dubois. The soloists will be Dan Jarrett, Letty H. Eifler, Elma B. Sulzner and Paul Grine. The Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton will speak. The services will conclude with communion.

The Presbyterian and United Presbyterian Churches of Bellevue will unite in the Bellevue Presbyterian Church tonight for the celebration of the Lord's Supper. The Rev. OFFICIALS HELD IN CONSPIRACY

Charged with conspiracy to indict, Justice of the Peace George Kayser, his constable, Joseph Conway, and Police Chief Samuel Riddle, all of Coraopolis, are at liberty today, under bond, pending a hearing next Tuesday. Similar charges have been preferred against Lang Williams and David Keyes, Negroes, of Coraopolis. They will be arraigned with the others Tuesday, before Justice of the Peace Eugene Mehrlich, of Shaler Township.

The charges were preferred by Justice of the Peace L. V. Gibbs, of Sewickley, who alleges that the Coraopolis authorities "framed" him and his constables, F. J. Kovacs and J. M. Fiebiz, on extortion charges. Gibbs and his constables waived hearings when arraigned before Kayser last week.

The counter charges brought against the Coraopolis men are the outgrowth of an alleged drive against unlicensed dogs in Coraopolis by Sewickley constables last week. Keyes and Williams had been arrested, the former being fined $5 and assessed $7 costs by Gibbs.

COAT OF ARMS DESIGNED FOR BISHOP

Shield Presented Sacred Heart Church by Old Friend of Hugh C. Boyle

They were building a coat of arms, a crest for a bishop.

The Right Rev. Hugh C. Boyle's ancestors came from the Aran Islands, off the west coast of Ireland. So a fish was made the episcopal symbol for his escutcheon.

"Hugh" brought memories of St. Hugh of Lincoln, St. Hugh of Cluny. They used the fleur-de-lis for their symbol. That, too, was included.

Educated under the Benedictine Fathers but not one of them, the Benedictine cross was another fitting symbol, silver and ornamented instead of black and plain.

Symbol of the diocese was an adaptation of the seal of Pittsburgh, with the golden coins at the top changed into a cross. At the bottom the sword of St. Paul was impaled on the shield. This formed the "sinister" half of the coat of arms of the Holy Roman Catholic bishop of Pittsburgh.

Over the combined shields are the miter and crozier, symbols of episcopal power and jurisdiction, all covered by the traditional episcopal green hat with its six pendant tassels on each side.

The new shield has been presented to Sacred Heart Church by Edward M. Diebold, Jackson street, as an Easter gift. It is, he says, in memory of the years he and Bishop Boyle spent as classmates in St. Vincent College.

Sculptured and illuminated, the shield has been set in the wall of the new sanctuary, immediately adjoining the papal coat of arms. It is about 20 by 24 inches.

THIEVES BUSY IN EAST LIBERTY

Robbers entered one home and several business places in the East Liberty district last night and escaped with cash and other loot totaling more than $650, police reported today. They failed in two other attempts.

Thieves entered the home of John E. Thomas, 6449 Jackson street, during absence of the family, taking $250 cash.

The Negley & Weisbrode cigar shop, 5563 Penn avenue, was looted of pipes and cigars of undetermined value.

SHOW JEWELED SPECTACLES

Well, girls, the latest thing in the jeweler's art is diamond studded spectacles. And you can buy them just as expensive as you wish.

Herman H. Hofmann, a member of the firm of Heeren Brothers Company, jewelers and optometrists, originated the idea, and he says it is successful. So it's a Pittsburgh style thought.

Pretty Edna Sipe, of Sewickley, consented to pose, wearing the new innovation. The rims are of 18-karat white gold, the lens being octagon in shape.

The bridge is hand engraved and contains three small diamonds—one on either end and a slightly larger one in the center. Hofmann says everyone who has seen these spectacles has marveled at their beauty and simplicity. In the opinion of most persons who have seen them, they show refinement as well as class.

SAFE RESISTS CRACKSMEN

Would-be safecrackers forced a rear door to enter the store of Luther Caterer, Inc., at 411 Federal street, early today.

In the safety of the cellar they knocked off the outer door of the safe. But there was still another door to deal with. They tried futilely to smash it, and left empty-handed.

Robbers who entered the office of the Modern Welding Company, 231 South Euclid avenue, and knocked off the combination of a safe, got $1 for their trouble, Herbert J. Scott, proprietor, reported.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Dean Mandell, of Yale, advocates old-fashioned beer gardens as a means of providing an attractive place for student meetings and discourages the use of hard liquor. What do you think of this opinion?

DORA ROTHSTEIN, downtown, stenographer—If students must drink, it is far better for them to drink beer than moonshine. I do not know much about the old-fashioned beer garden, but I believe Dean Mandell is right to advocate anything that will aid in decreasing the drinking of hard liquor.

Dora Rothstein

NELLIE BOYLE, East End, cashier—To my mind, Dean Mandell is wrong in making such an assertion. This country is supposed to be dry, so why stir up talk of the benefits of beer gardens. If students want to drink the more intoxicating beverages they will do it no matter if there was a beer garden on every corner.

Nellie Boyle

VIRGINIA COHN, North Side, secretary—I do not approve of beer gardens as a means of providing an attractive place for student meetings. How offering the students intoxicants would break them from drinking hard liquor is beyond me. Of course, beer may not be as potent as whisky, but it is an intoxicant.

Miss Cohn

JOHN P. McGUIRE, Lawrenceville, messenger—Many young people today are drinking hard liquor just because they can't buy a glass of good beer or wine. If we have beer gardens there is no doubt that the students will stop drinking so much bad hooch and take the beer. Nobody ever developed into a drunk by drinking beer.

J. P. McGuire

HERBERT COOK, South Side, county assessor—Dean Mandell's heart is in the right place. The only addition I would make would be to have less garden and more beer. Those good old days when a man could sit in a beer garden and drink his fill while listening to the band strike up a lively march are gone. Too bad they are, for college students would like them.

Herbert Cooke

ANDREW BOYLE, South Side—Dean Mandell has the right idea. There is no harm in visiting a beer garden and being refreshed. It's far better for students to go to a respectable place and drink mild liquors than frequent some dirty speakeasy where they have to buy poison. I believe they would be satisfied with good beer.

Couple Ask $50,000 For Flood Damages

William Doring and his wife, Suzanne Doring, of Becks Run road, asked $50,000 damages in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court against the City of Pittsburgh, growing out of the storm and flood of July 4, 1928. They alleged that the city permitted debris to collect in a culvert in Becks run about half way between East Carson street and Carrick, raising the bed of the stream, and that the storm resulted in a flood which inundated their house, damaging it and its possessions. The dampness and exposure caused Mrs. Doring to contract a serious illness, according to the suit.

EXHIBIT SHOWS STATE GAME

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

FIRST FORK, Pa., April 18.—Not a few of the native wild animals to be exhibited in the Sportsmen's Show which the Izaak Walton League will open in Pittsburgh tomorrow have been collected in the Sinnemahoning valley during the last few weeks. The collectors were Chauncey E. Logue and Blair J. Davis, state trappers, with headquarters at First Fork.

The Board of Game Commissioners is forming a traveling menagerie of Pennsylvania mammals which will be sent to sportsmen's conventions, county fairs, and the like. It is hoped eventually to have in the menagerie live specimens of each of the 50 kinds of animals listed by Prof. S. H. Williams, of the University of Pittsburgh, in his treatise on "The Mammals of Pennsylvania."

Persons of this region are cooperating with the trappers. Logue and Davis have trapped bears, beavers, wildcats, minks and many other "varmints." During the past week they obtained two splendid specimens of porcupine, two black squirrels and a gray squirrel.

Sometimes animals are caught in the traps that it was not intended to catch. A wild turkey stepped into a steel trap and lost a leg as a result. After it had been nursed back to health, Logue and Davis restored it to the flock of wild turkeys in the woods here.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Moore To Marry May 31

IN the month of abundant spring flowers when blooming apple orchards will add their sweetness to the poignancy of the youthful season of the year, many young girls will become brides.

Nearly every day I hear of another wedding planned for the merry month of May. Marion Moore, attractive granddaughter of Mrs. John R. McGinley and the late Mr. McGinley of Pittsburgh, and niece of the Thomas A. McGinleys and of the Cyrus R. Millers, of Sewickley, has named the very last day of May as the date for her wedding to John W. Cross, Jr., son of John W. Cross and the late Mrs. Cross.

The wedding will take place in the Church of the Advent, Westbury, L. I., to be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's father and mother, the Edward Small Moores, of the Gables, Roslyn, L. I.

OF course the younger school set enjoyed its spring recess, and now the college boys and girls are home for Easter vacation. With Lent over, and school over for a few all too brief days, and with folks back home again, the time has come for some dances and dinners and luncheons for the younger set. And with debs and the college set and all their friends the most attractive of these is a dance.

Dance For Deb

One particularly interesting entertainment has been planned for Tuesday. The junior William Bacon Schillers will give a dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club Tuesday night for Jane Bradley Miller, daughter of Frederic Walsingham Miller, who made her debut during the last winter. Mrs. Schiller, as you probably know, is Jane's sister.

MOST people are coming home for the Easter holiday, but there are a few still staying on at various resorts, and still others leaving to spend the holiday in Europe. The George Hubbard Clapps, of Sewickley, and their daughter, Mrs. William Welch Collin, Jr., with her debutante daughter, Katherine Collin, have returned from Hot Springs, Va., to be at home for Easter.

Back for Easter

Members of the Pittsburgh colony at the Hot Springs will attend the annual Princeton Musical Club's concert in the Homestead Theater tomorrow evening. An Easter tea dance in the Casino will attract still others on Monday. Among those I know of who will remain at the resort for a while are Mrs. J. R. Robinson, Hughart R. Laughlin, William Jamison and A. Bryan Wall.

IN Rome are Mrs. Henry Chalfant, of the North Side, and Miss Isabelle Chalfant, of Morewood avenue. They sailed last month for the continent.

Visit In Rome

John W. Chalfant, Jr., son of the John W. Chalfants, of Howe street, will spend Easter Sunday in Sicily. He will motor on the continent after spending several weeks in Sicily, and will return home only in the late fall. For several months he has been traveling and studying there.

Others in Europe are Mary Margaret and Jane Irene Marshall, daughters of the C. Connell Marshalls, of Fifth avenue, and they are in Seville for Holy Week and on Easter Sunday they sail for England. On May 8 they sail on the George Washington for New York. They left here in October with a party of six students and traveled through France, Switzerland, Italy and Spain. Their mother and father will meet them in New York when they arrive on May 16.

MISS KATHLEEN D. M'MURRAY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ernest McMurray, of Schley avenue, Ingram, and Ernest Stephen Heindl, son of Mrs. Louisa Heindl, of Valonia street, will be married tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock in the German Evangelical Protestant Church, Steuben street. Miss Jean D. McMurray will be her sister's maid of honor, and Ralph Hartner will be best man.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. William M. Douglass at 5:45 o'clock, before an embankment of ferns and palms.

Married In Rome

The bride wore a gown of shell pink lace and chiffon with matching hat and carried sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Louraine McGill Stouffer, wore a gown of poudre blue lace and chiffon and carried Claudia Brenet roses and delphinium. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Alice Wilson, who wore flowered chiffon, and Miss Betsy Reeves Rosamyer, who wore flowered chiffon banded with capucine. They carried talisman roses. After the ceremony there was a dinner and reception for 40 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Bettinger will be at home in Mount Vernon after May 1.

STYLISTS PREDICT BRAID MAY STAGE A COME-BACK

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 18.—There seems to be a binding obligation to bring back braid once in a while. And so, once more, braid is edging into the mode, and may stage quite a comeback this season. For we have observed that many couturiers seem to have had the simultaneous idea of trimming not only coats, but dresses and suits with braid of various fabrics. Both silk and woolen braids are used with artistic results, usually providing the color contrast to the main body of the garment.

DESPITE the overwhelming success of the suit, the coat has not been neglected, although it is idle to deny that it is as strongly represented as usual in the various spring collections shown here. Each couturier is represented by some coats however, for they all have clients who demand coats, whatever the vagaries of the mode may be. And so, coats delightfully embellished with striking furs, interesting coats for travel wear and for automobiling are all in view. The black broadcloth coat trimmed with black fur is still a prime favorite with many smartly gowned women, and so it is given representation in many collections, especially those catering to the more conservative dresser who wishes to arrive at the goal of smartness via the shortest, straightest road.

BOTH of the coats sketched for this page are extremely smart and good-looking. The first, from Champcommunal, is of green mixture tweed, trimmed smartly with dark green woolen braid. The deep draped collar falls over the shoulders in the manner of a fichu and extends in front to the waistline. A pleasing variation of the cape theme. Narrow lapels turn back over the collar and are bordered in the same manner with the braid.

Citrus Fruits Should Be Included in Daily Diet

A glass or two of orange juice every day is a most advantageous habit. The addition of the juice of a lemon increases the value of it enormously.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

IN THE spring months it is a good thing to turn to a lighter diet. It should be one that will stimulate the appetite, and yet one which contains the food elements which go to make for good health. For this purpose there is nothing better than the citrus fruits, especially oranges and lemons.

Oranges and lemons come first, because in them are the very necessary vitamins A, B and C, the mineral salts and the organic salts. These two fruits are particularly rich in vitamin C.

It has been known for years that a lack of vitamin C in the diet produces a run-down condition of the system. You may feel listless, irritable and nervous, and nothing seems worth while. The chances are that you have not been eating the foods that hold the food element vitamin C.

Recent investigations into the amount of vitamin C which is necessary in good health are interesting. The human body is alkaline, and now science shows us that vitamin C is rapidly destroyed by an alkaline solution. There is an alkaline reaction in the body after digestion. The body uses up a supply of vitamin C in approximately 24 hours, so it is necessary to renew this supply daily.

Many home owners do not want a "for sale" sign on their homes but they do advertise their properties for sale in the Classified Ads. If you are in the market for a home see what is listed for sale today. Turn to the Classified Ads.

Prevents Disease

Orange juice is so rich in all three vitamins A, B and C that it is a recognized food of excellence for infants, children and adults. In fact nowadays babies are given orange juice along with milk. It prevents disease.

Adults cannot do better than to drink a glass or two of orange juice every day. If you add the juice of half a lemon this doubles the vitamin factors. It is a most refreshing and stimulating drink before breakfast.

Oranges are an aid to digestion and splendid as a laxative. Contrary to popular belief, the citrus fruits, including oranges, do not produce acidity during digestion. They do not increase the acidity of the body. The reverse is true.

These juices are readily assimilated in the system so they put little burden on the digestive organs. They are good in the invalid diet on these accounts particularly.

Good as Spring Tonic

Start in right today for better health. Add plenty of the citrus fruits to the diet, and especially oranges and lemons. Don't join the ranks of the "overfed and undernourished." That is a condition only too common in America today.

Many persons are troubled with what is known as "spring fever." That is an evidence of run-down condition which helps to prepare the way for boils and carbuncles, and many other miserable symptoms. Nothing is better to overcome this condition than plenty of lemonade made from good, fresh lemons, a little sugar and cold water. Drink it several times a day. Such persons need the citrus fruits in their diet.

Almost as often and regularly as the calendar changes so does the supply of oranges. During April and May the markets are full of the delicious Florida oranges, and by June we have the delicious, thin-skinned California crop. They are delicious in salads, or served for desserts, and as flavorings. They are indeed a valuable fruit.

Barricaded Man Taken By Police

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 18.—(AP.)—George Krall, 69, was arrested by state police at Pleasant Unity last night after he had barricaded himself in a room of the home of his step-son, Andrew, who told police the aged man had driven him and his wife from their home after threatening to shoot them. Krall, although armed, displayed no resistance when officers forced their way into the house. It was said a sanity commission would likely be named to examine him.

THE members of your family may protest that the bacon appetizer is just a mouthful in fact, too small a mouthful; but that simply proves what a perfect appetizer it is. To simulate the appetite is to tease the palate, that is its function on the best regulated dinner menu.

You prepare the appetizers by removing the stuffing of large olives and replacing each filling with a blanched almond. Wrap half a slice of bacon around each olive and fasten the strip together with a toothpick. Broil or fry the bacon and serve it very hot.

In roasting beef I don't think it is practicable to choose a roast weighing less than 3 pounds. Left-over roast beef never will go amiss, I warrant you!

SEASON the roast with salt and paprica and dredge it well with flour. Lay the meat in a pan with 3 to 4 tablespoons fat, and place it in a hot oven to brown quickly. Then reduce the heat. Baste it about every 10 minutes with the fat in the pan. When the meat is half done, turn it over and again dredge with flour to finish browning. If necessary add a little water while cooking.

I would allow 15 to 20 minutes for each pound of meat, although the time depends on whether you prefer it rare or well done.

For the gravy brown 3 tablespoons flour in 3 tablespoons of the fat from the pan. Gradually add 2½ cups boiling water, and CORN WAFFLES—Mix and sift 1 1/3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Beat 2 eggs and add a tablespoon of melted butter, 2 cups of cooked corn and 1/2 cup of milk. Combine with the dry ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls onto the hot waffle iron and bake. Serve with sausages or bacon and maple syrup.

WAFFLES WITH TOMATOES AND CHEESE SAUCE—Wash 4 tomatoes, cut in half crosswise. Dip the cut surface in melted butter, then in flour and again in melted butter. Place in a baking pan, cut side up.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in hot oven for 30 minutes. Meanwhile melt a tablespoon of butter in the top of a double boiler and add a teaspoon cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Add gradually a half cup of hot milk and cook until smooth and thickened. Add a half pound of American cheese, grated, and stir until thoroughly melted.

Place half a baked tomato on one waffle section which you have all ready and pour over a little of the sauce.

HERE is my recipe for banana butter: and if you think it sounds interesting, you'll be even more fascinated when you taste this delicacy.

First of all, you will need 3 cups of banana pulp, and you must use only mellow ripe bananas. Six and a half cups of sugar, or 2 3/4 pounds. The juice of a lemon, 1/4 teaspoon of butter, and a bottle of pectin.

Crush the bananas to a fine pulp. Put the crushed fruit into a large kettle, and add sugar, butter and lemon juice. Mix and bring to a boil, stirring constantly.

At once add pectin, stirring constantly, and bring again to a full rolling boil. Boil 1 minute, stirring constantly over the entire bottom before and while boiling to prevent sticking. Remove from fire, and stir frequently for 8 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Cover the hot butter with a film of hot paraffin; when the butter is cold, cover with an eighth inch of hot paraffin. Roll the glass to spread the paraffin on all sides. It sometimes sets very slowly.

RICE BAVARIAN CREAM—Soak 1/4 teaspoon gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water. Sweeten with 2 tablespoons sugar and add to 3 tablespoons hot boiled rice. Mix the ingredients thoroughly. When the rice begins to cool add 1/4 cup cream which you have whipped. Pour into a mold to chill. Serve with any crushed fruit to suit the individual taste.

FISH SOUFFLE—Prepare a white sauce by blending 2 tablespoons butter with 2 tablespoons flour and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Gradually add 1 1/2 cups milk, stirring frequently until thickened. Then add 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley and 1 1/2 cups fish flakes. Add the beaten yolks of 3 eggs and mix well. Lastly, fold in the 3 egg-whites, beaten stiff. Bake in a buttered loaf pan in a moderate oven until firm. Serve immediately.

A CREAMED pimento cheese canape is always popular. Cut the bread delicately thin, spread it with creamed pimento cheese, and cut into rounds with a small cooky cutter. Place a thin slice of stuffed olive in the center of each canape. A caviar canape is, of course, an aristocrat among canapes, and deservedly popular, too.

BAKED BEANS ON TOAST—Mash 1 cup of baked or cooked beans. Melt 1 tablespoon of fat in a saucepan, add 1 cup of grated cheese, and melt (about 2 minutes). Add 2 teaspoons salt and an eighth mustard, stir smooth and cook 4 minutes. Add the mashed beans and 1 egg slightly beaten and cook for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Have ready 6 slices of toast (be sure it is hot). Pour the bean mixture over the toast and decorate with strips of pimento.

HEALTH PROBLEM IS SOLVED FOR MANY

They Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Daily

Constipation is the most common menace to health today. It is extremely dangerous in itself and is the source of many other complicating ailments. There is no permanent relief in pills and drugs. Many of them are dangerous.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation. If it does not, money will be refunded.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. And roughage in food helps eliminate the possibility of constipation. Most modern foods do not contain roughage. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is the proper amount. In recurring cases, ALL-BRAN should be eaten with each meal. It is an essential in any reducing diet. In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, the blood builder. It is the original ALL-BRAN, proved effective by millions and recommended by physicians.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has an appetizing flavor. Eat it with milk or cream, in cereals and fruit juices, in soups and in cooked foods. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IS THERE A PRICELESS PAINTING AMONG YOUR PORTRAITS?

SEVERAL recent discoveries have led to the startling conclusion that thousands of great masterpieces worth $500,000 or more, are at present concealed beneath the paint of apparently worthless old pictures. Equally interesting is the fact that these precious old masters can be completely freed from the overlying paint by the scientific methods of modern picture restorers and thus acquire their full value.

So surprising has been the success of several persons in discovering ancient masterpieces that have made them very wealthy, that many Englishmen and others are now feverishly searching old curiosity shops, old country houses and other likely places for similar treasures. And they are being found in unexpected places.

Read the interesting details next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Love Songs' Strange Effect On Composer's Family

Music is credited with all-persuasive charms—to inspire—to dissolve trouble—but here is a case where sentimental melodies inspired trouble in abundance. She felt perfectly sure that when her husband, a well-known popular song writer, wrote his lilting melodies, he was not writing about her as the one "the angels must have sent" to him. Alluring, sentimental melodies all of them—resulting in a strange marital tangle. Read about this queer mix-up next Sunday in The American Weekly.

rent and bake tarts about 10 minutes, or until light brown and crisp. Cool and fill with rhubarb sauce.

Rhubarb Sauce—Wash and remove the skin from 1 bunch of rhubarb. Cut in small pieces, put in enamel saucepan, add ½ cup water and cook slowly until tender. Remove from heat and add enough sugar to sweeten.

CINNAMON CAKE—One and one-half cups brown sugar, 1½ tablespoons melted butter. Cream together and add an egg well beaten. 1 cup milk, ½ cup water, 2½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder.

Beat well—make 3 layers, sprinkle ½ cup of brown sugar, mixed with a teaspoon of cinnamon over the layers, which are covered with small lumps of butter. Cook slowly.

PINWHEEL COOKIES—Cream 1½ cups shortening, add 1 cup brown sugar and cream together. Then add 3 eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Sift together 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons cinnamon.

Divide the dough into 2 parts, adding 2 squares melted chocolate to 1 portion. Then roll the chocolate dough to ¼ inch in thickness, roll the plain dough to the same thickness and place it on the chocolate dough. Then roll the two doughs like a jelly roll, wrap in wax paper and chill overnight in the refrigerator. Slice very thin when ready to bake. This will give a pinwheel effect.

RHUBARB BROWN BETTY—Mix 2 cups stale bread crumbs with 2 tablespoons of melted butter and arrange in layers with 3 cups of sliced rhubarb and 1½ cups sugar in a buttered baking dish. Bake about ½ hour in a moderate oven—356 degrees—until the vegetable is soft and the crumbs are brown.

Some one is Suffering in Silence

—from troubles caused or aggravated by harsh or impure toilet tissue

They fit the built-in fixtures

A prominent New York hospital surgeon conservatively estimates that between ten and twenty million people in the United States are suffering from ailments of this nature.

An astonishing statement. But not so surprising when you consider the careless attitude of most people toward the quality of toilet tissue used in their homes.

Today, however, women are beginning to realize the importance of bathroom tissue from the health standpoint. To assure absolute protection, careful housewives insist upon the tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved—ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three health-protecting tissues are made from specially processed fibres—"thirsty fibres." Crumple a sheet in your hand. Feel its unusual softness.

Treat a sheet of ordinary glazed tissue this same way. You can actually feel its cutting edges—frequently sharp enough to cause a seriously inflamed condition.

Why risk your family's health . . . when it costs no more to buy these fine quality toilet tissues.

Scott Tissues

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world . . . Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

Fay King Pays High Tribute to Every Devoted Foster Mother

By FAY KING

EVERY once in a while some stepmother is accused of an atrocious and inhuman crime to a stepchild.

This makes it difficult for the countless good women who take stepchildren to their hearts and love them as their own.

In every walk in life there are persons who betray the trust imposed in them. The worthy ones of this same calling must suffer for the criticism heaped upon the guilty ones.

I have known a number of stepmothers whose devotion and affection for the motherless ones in her care pleases not only all who know her, but must bring blessings to her from their mother who watches from above.

There are many good stepmothers. Honor and love them.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER LXIII.

BARRY held Ila's card with the verses. There was no color in his face. And finally he glanced at Chickie, his ...es seeking and anxious.

She knew that he was waiting. But she sat with arms ...iet in her lap, her head lowered. He came over and took ...r hand.

"Chickie listen. I couldn't get ... of it. I didn't want to go ...e phoned and asked me ... said would be a great favor.

She closed her eyes. No, she ...wouldn't cry; let him see her ...irs. Oh no! If he wanted to ...d Ila Moore's poems, have ... with her he could.

"You won't look at me? You're ...nous? You think I should ...ve refused?"

She put her hand up and ...aded her face, hiding her chin ...cause it trembled so. Silence ...etched between them, raw ...h pain.

He walked over to the table, ...ked up the book, turning the ...ges. He came back. "Lord, ...uckie, it's not a tragedy, is it? ...en't you going to say anything at all? What did I do ...at's so awful that you won't ...k at me?" Listened to her ...d half a dozen poems, told ...r what I thought. That's all ...t more than an hour all to...ther—is that such a crime?"

He repeated this; he began ...king rapidly. "Lord, Chickie ...we have to have a few con...cts, don't we? We can't bury ...rselves. I didn't think you'd ...nd so. You don't trust me—...at's all." If you did, would ...u care for an hour given like ...hat? You'd mind if I talk."

She grew faint because of the ...rmith stealing thickly, like ...ves over her heart. She said: ...Oh, Barry, stop! Never mind ... see."

He sat beside her. "What do ...u see? You think you see ...hat?"

Suddenly she raised her head ...nd, meeting her vivid eyes, ...moved toward him, seized his ...hands, pressed them against ...her face.

Chickie Troubled

He drew a deep, pained breath. "Chickie, what's the ...matter with you? Oh, you ...don't feel miserable about it—...er that? A little thing like ...that!"

"What do you mean by every...thing?"

"You like to go there. You ...think I shouldn't oppose you. ...You want to meet these people ...—I'm not enough for you. Oh, ...I see—"

He put his arms about her. ...We can't do this, Chickie—we ...nt' go wild over everything ...that comes up. I'm sorry I went ...—I didn't really want to. I en...joyed that dinner, yes—and I've ...ked these meetings—that's ...hat you mean. But you aren't ...going to make me out a crimi...al because I went to see an old ...friend for an hour, are you? I'd ...seem a churl to refuse a request ...like that."

"You didn't tell me. You ...didn't intend to. Is that fair?"

"No, I suppose not. But I ...guessed you wouldn't like it, and ...Lord! if we're going to nag each ...other over every little thing—...well—"

The cords of her throat tightened like a claw—like a hot, ...living anguish. She kept looking at her hands, rubbing them. "She knows about us, Barry. ...Should she ask you to go there? ...She knows as well—as well ...about us!"

"Listen, Chickie. Ila Moore ...doesn't look at things the way ...other people do. She doesn't ...think a snap about asking me ...to go there, like she did yesterday. She would have asked me ...just the same if I were fifty or ...if I were married. She doesn't ...think of love. She has a hundred interests—"

Fears Losing Him

He covered her twitching hands; consoled her, saying again and again, "Don't make a tragedy of it. I like to go there—yes, I like to talk to her. But I like talking to Basil Arthur or Tifts. Is that anything? Oh, it isn't. It has nothing to do with love. I love you—Chickie—you know that—no one else—"

She let her head rest against his shoulder, her eyes wet. "Really, Barry? Do you mean it? Only say it, if it's true—"

She grew calm, letting her thought sink in her emotions. But the fear of losing him crept into her heart and lodged there, alert, whispering with terror. So that now, if she stood at her window and he didn't hurry from the shadow with a happy grin, she thought: "He's tired of me—tired of this—" And if he came, leaned his hands on the ledge, made a swift movement with his lips, tears shot to her eyes. He did that just to please her—not because he wanted to—oh, she could tell—

She was far removed from the blithe, flippant Chickie who felt herself indeed a "Blessed Damozel" clothed with mysterious charm; who took his first gift—the little set of books—with a majestic, "The whole earth you bring, Mr. Red? Tish! 'Tis no more than I expect!"

It made her tense and hypersensitive, so that little incidents unnerved her. Jonathan, raising her chin in his palms, saying, "Chickie, girl, little springs inside all quiet today? No talk for your old dad? What's the matter with her, mother?" Little things like that made her wish to cry.

Or Barry, sitting in the machine, musing, recalling arguments and quotations. Oh, that let her know Ila was in his mind; oh, that made her wind her hands under his, call him back.

Even Wildie could do a thing that made her heart brim. Like one Sunday morning when they walked. They were tired and lagged. The dog kept bounding ahead of them and running back, tapping his paw inquisitively as though to say: "What's happened? Can't you people hurry?" Finally he dashed to Chickie's side, walking along somberly, licking her hand, rubbing his nose against her. When she paid no attention he jumped up, seeming all concerned and licked her face. She stooped down quickly, patting him. She was touched piercingly. She said, with a little hysterical laugh: "Oh, you love your pretty lady dog—don't you?"

Go Window Shopping

Even in the sweetest moments, when both of them were gay, her feeling quivered at the surface, waiting for hurts. As one night when they had dinner downtown and were sauntering along the street afterwards, looking in the shop windows. Often Chickie made him do this, rather delighting at his reluctance, at his scorn for her absorbing interest in clothes. She was aware that he was secretly appalled at her preoccupation with the things of fashion.

They looked at a wonderful black crepe wrap widely bordered with summer ermine. Chickie sighed. All these alluring furs and lustrous fabrics filled her with sensuous joy. She said dreamily, "Some day, my darling Red, you'll swathe me in mole and squirrel from my head to my feet and seven diamonds to wear in my hair, place of the seven stars, you know."

"Would that make you so happy, Chickie?"

"Would it!"

"Rather than a trip to Honolulu?"

"Both—I want both—"

He laughed. But the coat first, I take it! Lordee, Chickie, you spend an awful lot on what you wear. In a year you could stack a library—you just about spend your whole salary on clothes—"

"Doesn't he wish me to be beautiful? Doesn't he like me in gorgeous raiment—"

"Well—he do. But if you stop to count up, you're just giving up your life and all your earnings to these things. It's your great interest. That's awful. Take clothes away from the average girl and you take her life, don't you?"

Invited to Party

Another time she would have answered airily, "Oh, us wimmin! We're the empty lot!"

But now she thought with a chill: "My only interest! He comparing me—to her—"

She grew silent, turning her head from him. He reached down for her hand. "Not sore, frail? Not mad for a little thing like that?"

"No—why, no—of course not!"

But her eyes had a hurt, gentle look in them. And he had come to expect this—watch for it. It was a torment to him. Inwardly it made him impatient—restless—burdened.

He didn't want Chickie to look at him so. Say something gracious; something sweet; make her laugh. He began to talk. "Remember that engineer I met? Fellow who's been in Alaska all these years? He dropped into the office today. Look—gave me a nugget. Here it is! Yours, frail!"

He put the little drop of gold on her glove. She was delighted. "Wasn't that generous? Why did he come in—he must like you?"

He paused. Then hurriedly: "Well—he's giving a dinner Saturday night—kind of farewell. He's going back next week. He asked me to it."

"Oh!" and quietly: "Is it a stag affair?"

"No—no. I don't think so—same crowd as at the other one—"

Faintly: "You're going?"

"I haven't thought about it."

She bit her lips, her feet stumbling.

He said tensely: "You think I shouldn't, don't you?"

She wouldn't answer.

"You do?"

"I don't know," and brokenly: "Whatever you want—"

He let it pass. When he was leaving her that night, he said: "Well, I'm not going to that dinner, Chickie. I'd like to—of course—but I don't care if you feel so—honestly. Now laugh—good lord!"

And she did. She ran her hands up to his neck. She pulled his head down, pressed her cheek on his.

At noon Saturday he said to her suddenly: "I have to work tonight, Chickie."

It came so abruptly she stared. She said incredulous: "Oh—you do—"

He watched her narrowly, his answer rough: "Yes, I do."

"Why—all right—"

But she felt as though a hot iron seared over her body, scorched to her veins. And the heat of it grew. She couldn't put it down.

That night, sitting in the quiet, watching Jennie at her sewing, Jonathan at his paper, she felt the burn of it spreading to her mind—her heart—lighting wild fires. Had to work—night of the dinner—

She got up, her eyes darting: "I think I'll drop down and see Mary—we may go to a movie—well—"

She ran into her room—dressed. She pulled on her hat, sticking the hatpins through in such a frenzy of haste they jabbed her scalp. She said to herself: "No—I wouldn't think of it—No!" But she kept seeing his office. And it was dark—no light—no one working—oh, he wasn't there—

But perhaps he was—oh, maybe he was—

She got on a car and rode over the bridge. She went to her own building, intending to look from the window. But she had forgotten her key—she couldn't get in.

And she went into his building and along the corridors—stealing along, half running. A light streamed under the door. Her heart swelled. But maybe it was some one else—maybe Tufts.

She loitered. She passed the door . . . listened.

Suddenly it flung open. He, standing there—he staring at her. Then his face ashen—then a white fury leaping in his eyes.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Formal Calls

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I have been married recently and have moved to another city where my husband is in business. Several women have called upon me, but since I was not at home they left their cards.

1. How much time should elapse before returning their calls?

2. How long should one remain when making a formal call?

AN INTERESTED READER.

FROM 10 days to two weeks. This kind of a call is extremely important since it establishes your social status in your new home. Therefore I advise you to be very careful and very punctilious about returning calls made by these friends-to-be, who are so generously welcoming you to their city.

2. Formal calls of this kind used to be called "20-minute" calls and usually that length of time, or a half hour, is a good time to allow.

Church Amenities

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a young lady goes to church with a young man, is it proper for her to give an offering, or should she depend on her escort to place the money in the collection box for her?

SALLY.

THIS kind of offering is such a personal thing that each one makes a separate offering. If the young man gives the offering, it is his offering, not the young lady's.

Dining Pointers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What is the proper way to eat bouillon or consomme when it is served in cups with the two handles? Aren't you supposed to test it with a spoon and then drink it, or are you supposed to use a spoon to eat it all? This question has often puzzled me.

2. Are you supposed to use both hands or one?

PUZZLED.

WHEN soup is served in bouillon cups it is correct to test the heat of the soup by sipping a few mouthfuls with the bouillon spoon. Then it is correct to drink the rest of it—slowly, as you would tea.

2. Use only one hand in lifting the cup. Again, just as if it were a teacup.

Household Hints

To prevent a boiler rusting, empty the water from the boiler and while still hot rub well with soap.

Silk will look like new if a teaspoonful of methylated spirit is added to each pint of the rinsing water.

The Marry-Go-Round

These Modern Lovers

MOST women would rather be called "Little Girl" by an unreliable husband than to be called "old dear" by a doting one.

decree from the current husband is just sticking the "burnt hand back into the fire, before the bandages are off.

Many a bride has dimly realized her "mistake" right on the honeymoon trip, by the way in which her bridegroom bullied the porter, argued with the waiter, and settled with the desk clerk.

Some lovers and most married couples never know how happy they are together until they have discovered how miserable they are apart.

The sudden transition from the role of the dazzling sweetheart who stirs a man's pulses, to that of the unseen wife who merely stirs his coffee, is a shock from which the average bride seldom recovers.

In a quarrel a man never knows whether a woman is going to be more "injured" if he answered back, or more insulted by his silence.

Most men have heart enough to love two women, but few have brains enough to love them in succession, instead of simultaneously.

A young girl likes to believe that she is dazzling a man; an older woman prefers to believe that she is inspiring him.

* * *

ing the eyes, heart and attention on one woman at a time.

In business or a poker game, a man may act deliberately and with deep design, but in matters of love he is as irresponsible as a motor car on a slippery hill.

Madge Ponders Over the New Developments

"STOLEN!" My mother-in-law and I echoed with one voice the word Mrs. Ticers' lips had uttered.

My mother-in-law recovered herself first.

"Nonsense!" she exploded. "It couldn't be stolen. You've mislaid it."

"No, I haven't," Mrs. Ticer insisted stubbornly. "I saw it in the place I always keep it only last week and I haven't touched it since. No, that devil of a Hallam must have taken it, and the land only knows what he's done with it or what he wanted it for—no good—that's the only thing certain about it. Oh, why did I ever let him into my house?"

"There's no use wasting breath on that now," my mother-in-law said practically. "You go on back into the house and make a thorough search for it, and Margaret and I will drive down to the agent's and get his key, as we started to do in the first place before we thought of you. We won't say we stopped here, and if he tells us to get your key we'll make some excuse that we don't want to drive around this way. But we will come back and pick you up, for we'll want to know whether you find it or not, and of course we'd like to have you go with us to look over the place. Turn around, Margaret, toward Bridgehampton, and be quick about it. We must hurry."

I obeyed her, and Mrs. Ticer scuttled toward the house. My mother-in-law did not speak until we were well on the way to Bridgehampton.

"The loss of that key looks serious," she said at last. "Don't you think so?"

"I don't know what to think," I told her truthfully. "But I am anxious—and fearful that we have not seen the last of the mysterious Mr. Hallam."

"A child could see that," she snapped. "But Mrs. Ticer didn't get the meaning of that last speech of his at all—that one about the burglars not giving up until they got the thing they were after. I thought you looked as if you had some glimmering of sense concerning it, and that was the reason I wanted to get away with you alone. But she would tag along. However, there's some small good in the loss of the key after all. I can talk to you without her listening. What do you make of it?"

I mean the speech. We can take up the key later, when we find out whether it's really been stolen or whether she's mislaid it, as I'm sure she has. But didn't you think that the speech that man Hallam made was meant for us to hear?"

"That's just it," I rejoined. "They 'acted.' I think it was just part of a scheme to terrify us into giving up something later that they think we have—whatever that may be. Their imagination is evidently running away with them."

"There can be no other theory," she decided. "They are trying to frighten you into giving up whatever they are after at the farmhouse."

"Your idea as to that seems to be the best one," I said, slowly choosing my words with care, for I wanted to occupy her attention for awhile, "that it is probably some list of names or something like that which either my father or the Underwoods have in their possession—a list which they have obtained in their Government work and which for some reason these miscreants wish to get hold of."

"It's the only explanation," my mother-in-law said loftily. "But isn't this the corner where you turn to the agent's."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Joy of Life

SOMETIMES I sense how work makes mock of me,
How all the deeds I do are futile things,
And soon borne out where none can hear or see
On time's swift wings.

Oh, small and incomplete are all the tasks
Wherewith man ever strives to fill the years,
And small the glittering rewards he asks
For toil and tears!

But there are shining lives apart, remote
As are the waters of a mountain stream,
And from them issues song's transcendent note,
Life's loveliest gleam.

Not vowed to any sullen, plodding round,
But glad of all the joy that life can give,
These taste of bein's self, intense, profound,
These truly live!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Country or City for Health?

WHICH is the better place for man to live in—the city or the country? What effect has moving from farm, forest and shore had on human life?

DR. COPELAND

These are important questions to the average person. Where shall we live? What environment is best for the family? What are the social and economic advantages of the city as compared with rural places?

For the most part the economic factor is the one that decides the question of where we are to live. Fortunate are those who work in the city if they dwell in the adjacent suburbs. There the children may have the fresh country air. Thousands take this way of getting "back to the country," commuting to and from the suburban places, sometimes long distances away.

The growth of the great cities has been phenomenal during the past 80 years. Back in Saxon times, there were scarcely 20,000 persons living in London. Its extraordinary growth did not begin until after 1850.

New York, in 1800, had less than 80,000 inhabitants, but by 1850 it had increased to about 600,000. In the past 80 years it has increased more than tenfold.

Forty years ago only 33 per cent of the population of the United States lived in cities. But the move from farm to factory and from village to town has been on the increase. At the present time 55 per cent of the total population are living in cities.

Man lived in cities for centuries before sanitation made them safe. It is only within the past century that the city has come to mean a really safe place to live.

Seventy-five years ago, the large cities of Europe and America were dangerous places. The loss of child life was appalling. A quarter of the babies born died within a year. It was not uncommon for the general death rate of any big city to run to 30 per thousand. Modern municipal sanitation, modern ventilation, splendid water systems or unpolluted water in abundance, and pure milk, have made city life more and more safe.

It would seem that man had overcome most of the handicaps found in the crowded cities. But the ever increasing population, changing as it does from month to month, calls for greater ingenuity in devising means to promote public health.

Tuberculosis brings the highest death rate in the great cities. Under the present day habits of living, a large city affords only an artificial atmosphere for humans to breathe. Smoke, dust and fog modify the pureness of the air to such an extent that atmospheric conditions have become a real menace. Ventilation of buildings has bettered conditions materially, but there is still much to be desired for the thousands who are hoarded together in the crowded city.

There is no doubt that the period since 1920 has brought marked improvement in both city and rural places. Science, the medical profession, public health workers, philanthropy through private channels, are all striving and pointing toward better health conditions everywhere. In rural places, where doctors are few and the population scattered, good clinics and hospitals, with district nursing facilities, are to be found. In the not distant future we may look for better housing and working conditions, for better health knowledge and a better health future for the race, no matter where men dwell.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

BANDOLINED beau-catchers worn abaft the ears are taking on strange and mysterious designs. They may be fat or lean, blunt or pointed. They may appear singly or in family groups. The idea of having one ear covered and one ear exposed is made possible by a group of sculptured curls in front of the ear that peers out. Girls who have grown front hair and side hair, keeping the back shingled, are now letting the back grow and a freaky trick is achieved by doing the tag ends into flat curls that scurry along the nape of the neck. Tres chic, but much time is required to preserve them. And as for neck-washing, that's almost out of the question!

FATS and oils are first-class wrinkle fighters. When there is the slightest appearance of facial pleatings, the old cream jug should get into a state of activity. It's not only the emollient that helps, but the massage which tones and gives elasticity to relaxed facial muscles and tissuey paddings that have gone blooey. One form of connective tissues is adipose which rounds out the contour and acts as a storehouse of food; when wrinkles are present, this layer of upholstery has collapsed. Oils and friction revive it.

EYEBROWS are no longer a drug on the market; in fact they are being cultivated by nightly applications of brilliantine or vaseline. Wild hairs that have strayed away from the fold can be tweezed or removed by means of the electric needle. The arched brow isn't always the ideal. The winged brow is also beautiful. It lifts at the inner end, then droops, like the wing of a bird in flight. Powder left in the eyebrows is a beauty crime. Not good for the growth either.

THE eyeball is a camera. It is a sensitive organ which receives and transmits impressions to the higher centers of sight. The act of vision is performed by the brain. That is why eyestrain will often produce depression and headache. If the eyes are continually tired, if lids burn and smart, an eye specialist should be consulted. That is the way they behave when vision is impaired and glasses are necessary.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, April 19

ALTHOUGH this day may be exceedingly lively, with conditions restless and possibly upset, yet, according to the frustrating force of Saturn, conjoined with Luna, it may be difficult to make any substantial headway. There may be unforeseen disruptions and upheavals which the keenest mental attitudes may not be able to regulate or control. It is urged that precaution be taken against duplication or treachery, especially in new ventures.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively enough year, with much activity, which may be characterized as disruption and change rather than constructive activity. There may be much turmoil as well as stubborn obstacles to control. Be cautious as to duplicity and subtlety in new ventures.

A child born on this day should be brilliant and active, but restless, unsettled and erratic. It may have many adverse situations to confront in life, but should be popular and successful in its private career. It should have high social accomplishments and worth.

SOUTHPAW LIVING UP TO FANS' HOPES

PIRATE rooters have been counting confidently upon Larry French to be one of the main props holding up the local pitching department this year, and judging from the great start made by the young southpaw at Cincinnati yesterday, when he humbled the Reds, 7 to 1, they are not going to be disappointed. Only Ethan Allen's homer in the final inning deprived French of a shut-out, and in holding the tribesmen of Dan Howley to two hits, the first of which did not come until the seventh round, Larry, despite that he gave bases on balls, turned in the best major league slab feat of the early season, surpassing the three-hit performances of Lester Sweetland Lloyd Brown in complete games on Tuesday.

Larry French

The fact that French's fine pitching gave the Rovers their second victory in the first three games of the year was pleasing enough in itself, but that was by no means the most important item. His impressive start means a great deal more than the winning of a single game, in that indicates a complete recovery to the form he lost last year when an attack of influenza put him out of commission for a month.

APPARENTLY only the return of his strength was needed to make French a successful pitcher. There is no doubt of his having all the required stuff, and that he has the necessary courage to back it up was demonstrated very clearly in the first game he began last season. Starting his first big-league game as a 20-year-old kid on the first day he ever spent in New York, and opposing the National League's leading pitcher of 1928, French held the Giants to six hits in 10 innings and beat Larry Benton, 3 to 2.

The youthful left-hander followed up that display of ability and nerve by defeating Brooklyn and St. Louis in his next two games, and he was headed for a big record in his first year when illness cut him down. At that he finished with seven victories against five defeats for the season, and with a fair shake from the fates he is likely to do a great deal better this year. Connie Mack is predicting that the A's will show another winning pitcher in Lee Roy Mahaffey, discarded by the Bucs, but there is a bright prospect that local fans will have no cause to regret the deal that sent Mahaffey to Portland a year ago and brought French to the Pirates.

THE release of Jack Scott, veteran right-hand pitcher, by the New York Giants to the Toledo club, of the American Association, adds another chapter to the story of a career that has been a peculiar series of ups and downs, fade-outs and comebacks.

Jack Scott

Scott has been a member of five of the eight National League clubs, has been traded twice within that league, released unconditionally once, and sent back to the minors four times since he first came up. Three times he has been shipped to Toledo and this is the third time he has been released by the Giants.

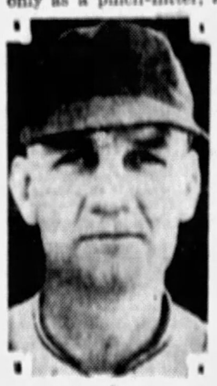
SCOTT'S first major league engagement was with the Pirates, who obtained him on trial from Macon on August 15, 1916, and returned him to Macon on September 27. He became a member of the Braves in 1917 and remained with that club until the end of the 1921 season, when he was traded to Cincinnati for Rube Marquard and Larry Kopf. He turned up with a seemingly dead arm in 1922 and the Red management tried to have the deal annulled, asserting that the Brave bosses had been aware of his condition. The protest was unavailing and in May the Cincinnati club released the pitcher as worthless.

SHORTLY afterward Jack was picked up and given a chance by John McGraw, and rewarded the Giant leader by helping him to win the 1922 pennant, featuring his come-back with a four-hit shut-out against the Yankees in the world series. The Giants kept him until 1924, when he was sent to Toledo under option, being recalled for 1925 and 1926.

On January 7, 1927, Scott was traded to the Phillies with Fresco Thompson and Alex Ferguson for Butch Henline and George Harper. New York then turning Henline over to Brooklyn in exchange for Burleigh Grimes. The Phils kept Scott in 1927 but in 1928 sent him to Toledo, from which club the Giants obtained him on August 21, giving Bill Walker to the Mud Hens under option in part payment.

NOW Scott goes to Toledo for the third time, and it is doubtful if he will return again to the big show, as his arm is reported to be no longer fit for major league service. As a 10-year man, he could have demanded his unconditional release, with the privilege of signing where he pleased, but he had no objection to going back to Toledo.

During his short stay with the Pirates in 1916 Scott was used only as a pinch-hitter, and his first appearance in that role was a number for the well-known book. The Bucs had the score tied and a runner on third base in the ninth inning. A batted ball was needed to bring in the man on third with the winning run and end the game, and Scott was sent up as a pinch-batter. Instead of hitting the first good pitch, however, he carefully surveyed around until he worked the opposing hurler for a base on balls, which didn't mean a thing in the world to the Pirates. It took six players to hold Manager Jimmy Callahan when Scott pulled his great piece of headwork.



Max Carey

MAX CAREY'S withdrawal from the playing ranks this year to serve as Pirate coach leaves some of Ty Cobb's records safer than ever, a Detroit dopester observes, inasmuch as Carey had a better chance than any other player remaining in harness to approach the Georgian's marks. This applies particularly to number of games played. Cobb tops the list with 3,033 major league contests in 24 seasons, an average of 126 per year. Carey has a better average for his 19 campaigns, his mark being 136 per season, an average beaten only by Sam Rice's 140 for 13 years, and his total of 2,467 games played made him the closest rival to Cobb still active up to 1930.

FOUR other players took part in more games than Carey. Eddie Collins played in 2,822 contests in 24 years, Tris Speaker in 2,789 in 22 years, Honus Wagner in 2,785 in 21 years (the National League record), and Napoleon Lajoie in 2,475 in 21 years.

But they are no longer active, so Carey, until his retirement as a player, was the chief remaining threat to Cobb's record. Max, with 738 stolen bases to his credit, also had the best chance to approach Cobb's record of 892 steals. With Carey out, none else is close enough to be called even a trailer.

NOT only was the Pirate pitching in the first three games all that could be desired, barring Remy Kremer's unsuccessful start on Tuesday, but the Bucs showed plenty of punch, in addition. In the three games they made 37 hits for the healthy club average of .352. Making three more hits yesterday, Gus Suhr kept up his pleasing start to such good advantage that he became the leading Pirate hitter with seven safeties in 13 times at bat for an average of .538.

It spells no mean attack when a club pounds two pitchers like

SIMPSON WON'T USE STARTING BLOCKS HERE

By JESS CARVER.

Tomorrow's dual track and field meet between Pitt and Ohio State, of which you have heard rumors, if it does nothin' else in the way of boosting Pitt, will afford two or three of the Panther individual performers notable opportunities to gather in some fame.

Ed Knoblock.

Pitt hardly hopes to outscore the Buckeyes, but if Pete Bowen defeats George Simpson in the century, or sets a record in the half-mile, or cracks a mark in the quarter, he'll be first page stuff. Ed Knoblock, running against the champion hurdler of the country, the world record holder in the low timbers, will gain prestige should he beat his opponent, the noted Mr. Richard Rockaway, in either race.

Capt. Bowen will not use the starting blocks in his races tomorrow. Since Simpson has been putting the rap in for the new fangled method of getting off the Panther ace is willing to go along with his Buckeye rival.

By starting the old way, Bowen will kayo any alibi Simpson may advance should Pete beat him in the century tomorrow.

UTTERBACK MAY STAR

Everett Utterback, who gives promise of being a great all-around track and field star, in fact, already rates among the leaders, will go after a district record in the broad jump and, besides, will attempt to make it tough for Staters in the high jump, pole vault and the shot.

Knoblock has improved his form and speed in the high hurdles to a noticeable extent, and may be counted upon to give Rockaway a very stern test. He's certain to run one or two, and unless Rockaway goes at top speed, may force the Buckeye to chew cinders.

All in all, there will be four champions on display, Simpson, Bowen, Rockaway and Utterback. Utterback joined the list of title holders during the past indoor campaign when he won the I. C. A. A. A. A. indoor broad jump championship, setting a record in the doing.

WON'T USE BLOCKS

COLUMBUS, O., April 18.—George Simpson, world champion sprinter, from Ohio State University, who races against the Pitt Panthers tomorrow in the Pitt Stadium, will forsake starting blocks when he toes the mark for the 100-yard dash. This will be Simpson's first race since 1928 without the aid of these blocks. The Buckeye flash feels that he can run just as well without the blocks and plans to compete until the Penn relays next week without them.

Simpson has a 9.4 mark for the 100-yard dash, which is the fastest time ever recorded for that event, but it has never been officially accepted by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, because he used starting blocks in running this race. This body meets next month and will settle the question of starting blocks at its meeting.

Simpson feels that if he can turn in another 9.4 race within the next few weeks it will convince the committee that starting blocks do not aid him. Simpson occasionally used the blocks during his sophomore year, but used them in every race last year. He also employed them in the dual meet with Ohio Wesleyan last Tuesday, winning the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds on a slow track.

Reynolds Victor In Toronto Marathon

TORONTO, April 18.—(AP.)—Billy Reynolds, of Galt, Ont., made every post a winning one in a 15-mile modified marathon race through Toronto streets today. Running the distance in 1 hour 24 minutes 47 seconds, he finished a mile in front of Johnny Cuthbert, of Guelph.

Cuthbert was nearly the same distance in front of Tom Dick, Galt, third, and D. Wilding, Toronto, fourth, who waged a great battle for third place.

D. MacDonnell, Detroit, was eighth among the 10 who finished.

Will McClusky, Toronto, won the six-mile race in 28:52.01, with W. Grancewsky, Detroit, second, and W. Isaacs, Brantford, third. J. Moorecroft, Detroit, and F. Sargeant, Galt, ran fourth and fifth. W. Hogsby, of the Hamilton Olympic Club, won the three-mile event in 14:59.

RODGERS, GOLD IN BATTLE

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight boxer, whose knockout streak recently was halted at eight victories when Archie Bell, of New York, cleverly outboxed him at Motor Square Garden, returns to action at the Moose Temple tonight against Marty Gold, former flyweight, of Philadelphia, now boxing under the direction of Butch Kestner, of Donora.

Gold has been a good little ringman in his time, having boxed Al Brown, present bantamweight champion; Frankie Genaro, Newsboy Brown, Willie Davies (seven times), Black Bill, Blas Rodriquez, Willie LaMorte and others of note, but he has passed his peak and also appears to be too little to give Rodgers much trouble. He is a dangerous puncher, but not in a class with Rodgers in this respect, and Jackie may start on a new knockout campaign if they trade their best blows.

Hans Roberts, of Brookline, and Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, box the semi-final tonight. Don Frazier, of the North Side, and Andy Stahura, of Braddock, are in the second bout, while Frankie Portland, of Ambridge, and Roger

Stars in Patriots' Day Marathon Run

BOSTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Three former winners and nine of last year's first 10 finishers will face the starter's gun in the torturous Patriots' Day marathon run tomorrow noon.

Outstanding entries among the 216 listed are Karl Koski, of New York, recent winner of the national championship, who finished second here last year; Johnny Miles, of Hamilton, Ont., who won the event last year, after a previous victory in record time, and the 41-year-old Clarence De Mar, of Melrose, who has finished first in six races.

The event will be run for the thirty-fourth time. Rugged, hilly country makes up part of the course, which is from Hopkinton to Boston, a distance of 26 miles 835 yards.

THE LOWDOWN ON PIRATES

By THE BENCHWARMER.

CINCINNATI, April 18.—Well, folks, what do you think of my roomie today? I guess Larry French didn't make them Reds bite the dust and right in their own wigwam. Larry and me has been talking things over and he was sure that right hand batters couldn't scare him. You know the righthanders are supposed to be tough on the lefthanders, but Harry has a big ace up his sleeve which the wise guys don't figure, but Jewel kinda thought about it and decided to put French against the Reds. The thing that fools the righthanders as much as the lefthanders is his screw ball. It comes up there drifting like a cork, and then if he thinks you're expecting one he blows one past you.

HARGREAVES GOOD

Charley Hargreaves worked him just right, too. When we got to the club house, Jewel was feelin' good and I asked him if the club was gonna buy all the lefthanders straw hats on account of Larry's trick. And Jewel cracked back that being as both of us was collegiate ne'd get us bear skin coats for the Fourth of July. Remember, I was telling you that it pays to be a little fresh in this game. Well, Larry and I have been doing a little jockey stuff and yesterday he goes in there and sets down the Reds. That boy has the stuff.

He got a laugh out of the gang when he was at the plate. Larry is the best fungo hitter in the league, but he ain't so hot when he's up there swinging at a good pitcher. This year he decided he would bat lefthanded against the righthanders and vise versey. So when he came up to hit against Eppa Rixey he batted righthanded.

CHANGES 'HANDS'

The next time he came up he turned around lefthanded because a righthander was working. Well, up he came in the eighth with a righthander working and he turned back to righthanded again to lay down his second sacrifice. All of us on the bench got a big kick out of it and when he came to the dugout, Jewel said nobody but a lefthander could get away with an act like that. I still think all the southpaws ought to get a straw kelly on the victory, but we're outvoted by the righthanders.

Maybe they'll come through with the hats if Jess Petty trims the Reds today.

Great Stuff!

RHINELANDERS WANT BETTER BASEBALL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

CINCINNATI, April 18.—The smallest of major league cities, Cincinnati has big ideas regarding baseball, and the fans here have just about served notice on the Reds and the owners that unless they get a better brand of baseball than was dished out to them last year they will walk out on the show. The Reds of 1929 were a bitter disappointment, so much so the fans demanded a new deal and got it so far as a new pilot was concerned. The local newspapers had "thumbs down" on the team, they revoking the "extras" which had carried the daily scores.

ROOTERS SORE

With the season only a few days old, the rooters here already are saying mean things. They set up a howl for Curt Walker in the second game and the little slugger was in the contest before it was over.

Larry French, clever kid lefthander of the Buccos, caused more of the sarcastic yelling yesterday when he held the home batters to two hits as the Pirates won, 7 to 1. French mixed his fast pitch with his baffling screw ball in such a manner as to befuddle the Rhinelanders.

Eppa Jeppa Rixey matched his stuff with the boy left-hander, but the veteran could not go the distance. Rixey was missing before the third was over.

HITLESS UNTIL SEVENTH

Nary a Red was able to break through on Larry until the seventh, when Bob Meusel connected for a single. Nobody reached second base on the Pirate star until the ninth, when Ethan Allen belted the rocket over the left field fence for a real homer.

Gus Suhr, the Buccos' new first sacker, continued his fine batting by poling out three clean singles. He also drew a pass.

BELL BEATEN BY DOEG

PINEHURST, N. C., April 18.—(AP.)—Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica (Cal.) star, defeated Berkley Bell, of Austin, Tex., 8-6, 6-3, 6-4, today in the semi-finals of the United North and South tennis tournament.

Mrs. Marian Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Boston, won the women's doubles in the North and South tournament. They defeated Miss Dorothy Andreus, of Greenwich, Conn., and Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, 7-5, 7-5.

Woman Golf Star Declines Team Bid

SIOUX CITY, Ia., April 18.—(AP.)—Mrs. Auston Pardue, formerly Dorothy Klotz of golfing fame, has turned down an invitation to accompany Glenna Collett and the American golf team on an invasion of England this summer because of maternal duties.

"I do not want to leave my two babies for so long a time," Mrs. Pardue said.

Her children are less than two years of age.

FENCERS ELECT HOCKER

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Lee Hocker, Jr., of Princeton, was elected president of the Intercollegiate Fencing Association today to succeed Haskell Coffin, of Columbia. The other officers chosen were J. Dana Alden, Harvard, vice president, and Clarence J. Hauck, West Point, secretary-treasurer.

GRAYS IN ST. LOUIS

The Homestead Grays will play a St. Louis Negro club tomorrow in one of their exhibition games on their training trip en route to Pittsburgh.

Pat Donoghue Fails in Debut

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Pat Donoghue, son of the famous English jockey, Steve Donoghue, made his debut on American turf yesterday, but it was not a victorious first appearance. The young English rider was up on Victor Emmanuel's Stalker in the second race of the United Hunts meeting at Aqueduct, but failed to finish in the money. The mile-and-one-half gallop over the brush went to Fair Class.

Nick Altrock Says:

BOSTON, April 18.—The way this season has started the rain-check privilege ought to be worth a lot of jack this year. It seems as if this guy Juniper Pluvious always hides in ambush till the schedule opens and then kicks his ouckets upside down. I think Griff must have walked up one flight when he bought our ball suits, they have begun to shrink already.

Nick Altrock and we have only been caught in one shower. Our Washington Club is wearing numerals on our backs this season. I am number nothing which makes me the only member of the team you can tell without a score card.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT TRIBE IN LID-LIFTER

MALONE STOPS FISHER AS CUBS COP

By COPELAND C. BURG,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 18.—That lachrymose old gentleman J. Pluvius, had a perfect 500 in the batting record today, and if he keeps up his average big league baseball magnates undoubtedly will silence him forever by starting their season in May or at least later in April.

Rain washed away the Giants-Braves and the Brooklyn-Philadelphia skirmishes in the National League yesterday and the Athletics-Yankees and Washington-Boston games in the American circuit.

Another near-victim of the skies was the Tigers-Browns encounter in Detroit, the game being called after five and one-half innings when a deluge flooded the field. Earl Whitehead, Tiger hurler, did not notice the Pluvial attack and held the Browns to three singles as the Tigers won, 6 to 1. Big Dale Alexander and Marty McManus hit home runs for Detroit.

In the other American League game, Donie Bush's White Sox rallied in the sixth inning against Cleveland to score six runs and finally emerged on top in 10 innings, 8 to 7. In the tenth, after Cissel walked and Reynolds was hit with a pitched ball, Metzler doubled against the right field palisade for the run that counted most.

Larry French of the Pirates held the Reds hitless until the seventh inning as Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati, 7 to 1. Papa Eppa Rixey starting his eighteenth major league season, was shellacked from the mound in the third.

The hitting streak of George Fisher, the new Cub outfielder obtained from the Giants, was stopped like Kaye Dorn's car under the effective fast ball of Pat Malone as the Cubs won from St. Louis, 3 to 0. Fisher did not get a single and Malone allowed only three.

A rain-out a day keeps a player away is the adage of John McGraw, of the Giants. He could not abide the lull of yesterday without some action and decided to send Sam Leslie, outfielder, to the Toledo Club of the American Association. Leslie was purchased last winter from Memphis.

Valley Heights and Harmar Country Clubs.

Like a number of district professionals, Ben Loeffler, who holds down the duo of pro jobs at Valley Heights and the new Harmar Club, started as a caddie at the Oakmont Country Club 22 years ago. His first venture as a pro was with the Canterbury Country Club, Cleveland, later laying out and building the Rocky River links, which was the first link of the metropolitan chain. He was next affiliated with the Lake Shore Club in Chicago, returning here to open an indoor school, during which time he taught golf by radio through Station WJAS, being the first to attempt it. Ben played only little, giving his time to instruction, but last year returned to Valley Heights, at Oakmont, where he had learned the game. He holds three course records, but has failed to come through in many tournaments due to lack of playing. Loeffler showed well last year and expects to come through again this season. His rating as an instructor is A-No. 1, and he's a real sport, coming, as he does, from the famous golfing family of that name. A feature three-way match, with Honus Wagner hitting a baseball with a bat, James Jiles shooting an arrow, and Loeffler playing golf, two years ago, went over big, with the archer giving Ben a tough game—it was the first time such a match had been attempted.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

WALKER CUP TEAM CARDS PRACTICE

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Bobby Jones and his Walker Cup golf teammates will get in some serious practice at the National links in Southampton next week before leaving for England.

The National links were selected perhaps because they are some 110 miles from New York, where big crowds would have been sure to have been on hand for the teams' practice rounds. The Southampton layout also has the advantage of offering a fair sample of the kind of gusty winds the Americans will find at St. Andrews, where the Walker Cup matches are to be played.

Girl Track Stars Gather for Meet

BOSTON, April 18.—(INS)—Girl track stars from New York, Newark, N. J., Cleveland, Philadelphia, New Haven, Conn., and elsewhere were gathering here today for the National Amateur Athletic Union women's indoor track and field championships at Boston Garden tomorrow night. Eight championship events will be decided and eight titleholders will be on the defense.

From Cleveland today came Stella Walsh, who hopes to capture the 40-yard dash title as well as the 220-yard dash event. Catherine Donovan, of Newark, will defend her title in the 50-yard dash, while Jean Shiley, of Philadelphia, who broke both the indoor and outdoor national records in winning high jump last year, was back to retain her title.

PANTALEO SIGNED

CHICAGO, April 18.—(AP)—Paul Pantaleo, Chicago featherweight, has been signed to fight in Boston, April 25, his opponent to be selected from among Johnny Grisbo, Tod McCarthy and Babe Hunt.

The Style Story for Spring

THESE Four Famous Master Craftsmen were never before assembled in one room to give an American manufacturer the benefit of their life's experience and judgment in selecting the best styles of All England to be reproduced for All America.

The friendships formed in previous trips made it possible to secure their combined cooperation on our last visit, although these men represent four competitive English Bootmakers—Bartley and Sons, G. W. Bunting, Ltd., Allen and Bridge, and Manfield and Sons—all competing for the finest trade in England and Europe. They have made boots for the Royal Family of England, the Princes of Europe and even the Rajahs of India.

Their knowledge of the innermost secrets of custom boot-making was invaluable to us in reproducing in our factory the masterpieces they made by hand.

We suggested this London Style Conference because London is recognized as the source of Men's Styles, just as Paris is for Women's Styles. We thought if any one in England would know what the best dressed men in London were wearing, these four men should be able to tell us, because they are making them every day.

We spread on the table all the newest models, lasts, leathers, patterns and the latest designs suggested by the customers of these four English firms, and through a process of elimination there was a unanimous approval of the Styles finally selected for the purposes intended—Street, Dress and Sport.

We are showing in our Easter windows today these 6 original English hand made models, costing from $20.16 to $32.76, which we believe include the greatest Golf Shoe ever made, the finest Dress Shoe worn in England, and your choice of formal and informal patterns in different leathers for street wear.

We are going to put the ($6.60) Regal Reproductions to the acid test by showing one of our shoes immediately beside each of the six original English models, and let you decide for yourself whether or not we have faithfully Reproduced these expensive and exclusive hand-made English shoes.

We don't know of any more severe test to convince you of the unusual value in the Regal Reproductions and we don't know of any better way to tell you our Style Story for Spring.

WHITAKER HAS GOOD DIAMOND MATERIAL

RUSHE TO PILOT WEST PENN CLUB

By TOM BIRKS.

With one of the largest squads in the district to chose from, the Whitaker Club of the West Penn League expects to make a big showing against some of the more favored contenders in the pennant race. Syl Rushe will manage the club and, with Business Manager George Vogt, he expects to place a good Whitaker team before the sandlot fans of the district. The team has been on the diamond for a number of years and always figured in the various pennant races. With better clubs to be met, Whitaker will get its share of sandlot recognition.

The pitching staff includes R. Rushe, B. Bost, F. Wilkinsin, J. Smile, Dunmire, formerly of the Southern League; Vic Dober, now in the South; J. Ellis, P. Ellicker, Tom Rushe, Swinson, of Duquesne Steel; Reed J. Hunt, of the Munhall Orioles and Jimmy Asmonga. From this aggregation six twirlers will be selected.

A. Vogt and S. Vogt will bear the brunt of the catching duties. Eight players are out for the infield positions: G. Vogt, H. Vogt, Tubby Norum, T. McCarter, W. Carney, H. Ott, T. Hannon and Bud Stephens.

A real battle is on for outfield berths. W. Ott, J. Carney, T. Haynes, A. Brown, of Homestead Steel, W. Wampler, of last season's Stephens Club; C. Popp, E. Morgan, E. Jackson and G. Guidish, of the Munhall Orioles, are after jobs.

There appears to be enough talent in that aggregation to give any club in the West Penn a real tussle. H. Vogt will captain the club on the field. When the roster is cut to the player-limit, Whitaker will be very much in the pennant race.

There is some good-natured rivalry between Whitaker and Homestead Aces in the West Penn, but stirring battles can be expected between all of the clubs in that circuit.

Elliott Says Press Overrates Athletics

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—Frank R. Elliott, director of publicity at Indiana University, said in an address yesterday before the convention of the American College Publicity Association that a survey of more than 150 college professors and administrators revealed that five out of six believe intercollegiate athletics is just overemphasized in the newspapers.

"While 128 of 151 college executives stated emphatically that intercollegiate athletics was overemphasized, a number took the view that when academic and scientific achievements are given their proper place in the public press, the emphasis on college athletics will disappear," said Elliott.

LEWISBURG, W. Va., April 18.—Greenbriar Military Academy staged a thrilling rally in the last two innings yesterday to defeat Morris-Harvey, 6 to 5. Morris-Harvey was leading, 5 to 0, at the beginning of the seventh, but Graham became wild and several passes, together with Carney's triple, gave Greenbriar two runs. The locals won the game in the ninth.

Today men want real Value for their Money, whether they are buying a house or a handkerchief.

It doesn't make any difference whether they are trading on Wall Street or shopping on Main Street, or looking for a hat on any other street in the U. S. A. where we have a store.

I believe this is one year when a name that represents Value is worth more than a Label that spells Price.

Last year the average man didn't consider the Value of anything, but he knew the Price of everything—and was willing to pay it.

It's different this year. Mr. Average Man isn't going to pay any more than is necessary for the exact "Style Twin" of the best Style shown by the Highest Price Hatter. He is not going to pay a Luxury Tax for an Expensive Label if he can get exactly the same Style, without the Label, at half the price.

Now, it's my business to Reproduce every Style Introduced by the High Price Hatters, and the "Style Twins" in my windows today explode the idea that you can get more Style, if you pay more money.

This year I am going after more business by giving more Value and I know my new Spring "Style Twins" will make this a Truly Warner Year.

I paid $10 for the original new Close Roll Welt Brim with the High Taper Crown—Wide Silk Band—Side Bow. My exact "Style Twin" costs you . . . $3.50

3,000 SEE LONG SHOTS WIN AT WHEELING

FAVORITES FIND MUDDY TRACK TOO TOUGH

WHEELING, W. Va., April 18.—Favorites had a tough going at the Fair Grounds yesterday and five long shots galloped home over a muddy track to give their backers a thrill. Despite the fact that the track was muddy and that the weather was threatening throughout the afternoon, more than 3,000 turf followers were present on a chilly, blustery day.

Today's Ladies' Day and several races are scheduled. The feature event, the Pittsburgh Post race at a mile and one-sixteenth, has drawn a field of nine starters, among which are some of the best distance runners at the track.

SHORTY O SOLD

Yesterday's races featured victories by Sure Wall in the first race, Tar Bill in the second, Jack O'Neil in the third, Mandolin in the fourth, Autumn Bloom in the fifth and Carlton in the seventh. All were overlooked by the talent, but they came home to win and pay big odds.

At the conclusion of the fifth race, James Bindenberg claimed Shorty O'Neill, one of nine three races here for a price of $1,500. It was owned by William Marx. He came in second for Arundel Bloom.

Sweepstakes, a 10-year-old brown gelding that won his last race last Wednesday, will be trying for a modern world racing record the next time he faces the barrier. Already tied with Carefree for the world record of winning races with 32 victories to its credit, it will go to the post tomorrow once more. Its owner, H. M. Skaggs, believes the horse can come through and break the record, thus establishing a remarkable mark for any horse on the American turf.

FINE RECORD

Sweepstakes has raced in all kinds of events during his long career on the track, but has won many handicap races during his campaigning throughout the United States. In 30 starts it has won 16 times, and a few dollars short of $40,000. If Sweepstakes wins other races here he will not be tied up for another start for this big black horse has been retired from the turf.

Sweepstakes last Wednesday beat a field of stake runners which included Castiff, Jawel Five Bells, Jaime and Panther. He ran the mile and 70 yards in his last start in 1.49 flat over a fast track. Sweepstakes is By Sweep out of Gold Ten.

Two Hurt, Horses Injured as Train, Van Collide

WEST CHESTER, Pa., April 18.—(AP.)—William Hayhurst, a jockey, Alfred Bayliss and four thoroughbred horses of the Harry Payne Whitney Stables were injured last night in a collision between a Reading Railway freight train and a van on the Baltimore pike near here. Neither the men nor the horses were believed to be seriously hurt.

Hayhurst, 22, and Bayliss, 35, both of Manhasset, L. I., were taking the horses in the van from the Whitney stables on Long Island to the owner's farm in Virginia.

A donkey, which also was in the van, suffered a fractured leg. The motor van, built especially for transporting horses at a cost of $35,000, was wrecked by the train, a slow freight.

Sport Vignettes

Static . . . . John Lester Johnson never was the heavyweight champion of the world, but John (Li'l Artha) Johnson was . . . . John Lester Johnson was the Negro heavyweight who broke Jack Dempsey's ribs when the champion-to-be first invaded New York . . . . John Lester still is fighting in California and is being touted as an opponent for Primo Carnera if the big Eye-talian ever gets his skirts cleared out there . . . . The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is the only local newspaper that has its staff photographer in Cincinnati with the Pirates for the initial series of the season . . . . They're opening the track season with a bang at the Stadium tomorrow by giving us George Simpson and Dick Rockaway, champion sprinter and hurdler, respectively, in the dual meet between Pitt and Ohio State . . . . There ought to be plenty of thrills in the dash duels between Simpson and Capt. Pete Bowen, of Pitt, who hates columnists who write nasty things about track sports . . . . Did you hear the pip that Max Zeuzschmidt, timekeeper at the local boxing shows now that Chappy Couch has been promoted to the post of knockdown timekeeper, pulled on a ringsider the other night? . . . . Max exercises his lung-power on a police whistle 10 seconds before the start of each round to notify the boxers and seconds to get ready, and many of the regular customers have got in the habit of stuffing cotton in their ears because of said l. p. . . . . Well, the other night, after tooting the whistle his tootingest, Max turned around to look the ringsider squarely in the face and note that he was yawning, perhaps because of the tame battle that was being presented in the ring . . . . "Pardon me," politely asked Western Pennsylvania's loudest whistle punisher of the fan, "am I keeping you awake?" . . . . "Tankers Turn to Track" says a headline in the Pitt Weekly . . . Just another typographical error . . . . It should have read "Turn to Carnera" . . . . Jim Stroner, who understudied Pie Traynor at third base for the Pirates last spring, is going great guns with the Baltimore Orioles in the International League . . . . And Bill Skiff, a former Pirate catcher, who later performed for Newark in the International, now is with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League . . . . Skiff turned down four contracts before accepting terms with the Coast Leaguers and then they had to send him a one-way railroad ticket from New Rochelle, N. Y., to California so he could sign and join the club . . . . That goofy finish to Primo Carnera's bout with Rumbo Chevalier the other night, when one of Chevy's seconds tossed in the towel while he was winning, brings back to memory the night, a few seasons ago, when Young Jack O'Brien, threw in the towel for George Gemas, of Philadelphia, against Emmett Rocco at Motor Square Garden . . . . Gemas had taken everything Rocco had for three rounds, and, in the fourth, turned in and punched the daylights out of Emmett and hung a big eye on the latter . . . . It looked as if they'd have to stop it on account of that eye and award it to Gemas on a technical knockout, and, just at that propitious moment, O'Brien conceived the noble idea of saving the potential victor by tossing in the towel . . . . Was it funny! . . . . George Von Elm, the celebrated amateur golfer, who quit California for Detroit, now is back in the Native Son state and will make his home there again . . . . He is a former national champion . . . . Pitt will hold a banquet for its great basketball squad on April 24 at the Faculty Club . . . . A captain will be elected for next season to replace Charley Hyatt . . . . Eddie Baker and Willie Arture are the leading candidates for the honor.—HARRY KECK.

PRIMO LEAVES FOR PORTLAND BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—(INS.)—Primo Carnera and his string of managers will leave here tonight for Portland, where the bulky Italian fighter has an engagement to meet Sam Baker, Negro heavyweight, next Tuesday night. The affair is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Meanwhile, the State Boxing Commission is marking time on the fiasco staged at Oakland last Monday between Carnera and Leon Chevalier.

The Italian was given a technical knockout in the sixth round when one of Chevalier's seconds tossed in a towel, although the Negro fighter, who had been pasting Primo right merrily, was not in distress.

The commission is expected to make a final decision on what action to take against those concerned at a special meeting here Monday.

College Coaches May Sit in Grandstands

PRINCETON, N. J., April 18.—(AP.)—College baseball, suffering for years for a decline brought about by lack of interest, is now convalescent and soon may be restored to its former health and vigor, thinks Charles W. Kennedy, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Dr. Kennedy is sponsor of a plan to have coaches sit in the stands during college baseball games while their teams carry on without benefit of their counsel on the bench. Much of the renewed interest in the college sport is caused by this innovation in the opinion of the Princton board chairman.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 18.—(AP.)—Unfavorable weather yesterday postponed postponement until April 30 of a dual track meet between Geneva and West Virginia.

North Braddock To Get Night Football

OUTDOOR SHOW OPENS HERE TOMORROW

The finishing touches are being put on at Motor Square Garden, where tomorrow the Pittsburgh Sportsmen and Outdoor Life Exposition opens under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaak Walton League. It will be the first show of its kind ever held here, and it is attracting interest among the hunters, anglers, and outdoor devotees.

Pistol and rifle ranges have been built on the sub floor. Here Bob Limbert, world champion exhibition rifle shot, will give daily demonstrations of his remarkable skill. He also will engage in matches with local rifle and pistol experts.

ART YOUNG HERE

Art Young, famous hunter, lecturer and explorer, who is given credit for having revived the use of the bow and arrow as a weapon for hunting big game, arrived in the city today. His appearance is attracting interest among the archery enthusiasts in this city.

Work on the indoor golf course was completed yesterday. The casting pool, which will be 40 by 50 feet, has also been completed. Casting exhibitions as well as instructions will be given to groups and individuals throughout the period of the show. The display of motor boats will be the finest ever seen here.

LIVE GAME EXHIBIT

To give a touch of realism to the setting, Indians from the county parks will pitch their tepees, and there will be an exhibit of some of the live game to be found in this state. This exhibit will be in charge of game protectors in uniform.

An outstanding feature during the show will be the appearance of George (Mechano) Stevens. A prize of $1,000 will be paid the first person who can make him smile and $10,000 for the first one who can make him laugh. The payment of these prizes is guaranteed by W. R. Owings, who is in charge of the show. A forfeit was posted with the management at the time the contract for Stevens' appearance was signed.

DATES SET FOR TWO WORLD TITLE BOUTS

GENARO MEETS WOLGAST ON MAY 28

NEW YORK, April 18.—Definite dates were assigned yesterday by Matchmaker Tom McArdle for two of the series of world championship matches to be held under the auspices of Madison Square Garden this spring and summer.

At the suggestion of Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, the date for his title fight with Al Singer, of the Bronx, was shifted from July 27 to July 17. It will take place at the Yankee Stadium.

WOLGAST GO SET

The spring time glove carnival will bring together Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, recognized by the New York State Athletic Commission as world flyweight champion, and Frankie Genaro, native New Yorker, who is hailed as the titleholder by the National Boxing Association, in a 15-round bout May 28 at Madison Square Garden. This bout will be recognized by the local commission as a championship affair.

Joe Jacobs, Max Schmeling's manager, postponed his trip to Poughkeepsie to look over a training site there on account of the bad weather. He intends to go up-state, however, and then proceed to Johnson City.

CHAMPS TO ATTEND

Efforts will be made to have every living world heavyweight champion present at the ringside on the night of June 12 when Sharkey and Schmeling fight for the title renounced by Gene Tunney. If they can be mobilized, James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Tommy Burns, Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey and Tunney will have ringside seats.

O'Brien, recently of Chicago, open the show.

Between Rounds

My Sullivan, of St. Paul, and Jackie Hurley, of St. Louis, battle in St. Louis next Monday night.

Pierre Charles and Roberto Roberti, Belgian and Italian, respectively, are matched for the alleged heavyweight championship of Europe in a 20-rounder at Milan, Italy, May 13. Winner when Max Schmeling, the German champion, and Phil Scott, the English champion, were eliminated by these pretenders to the throne?

Jim Maloney and Armand Emanuel meet in a return bout at Los Angeles, April 28.

Although announcement has been made that he will be the matchmaker at the Meyers Bowl again this summer, Jules Bock will continue on the job in the same role at Motor Square Garden for the remaining two shows there before taking up his new duties.

MARTY GOLD

Big Ten Baseball Race Set to Go

CHICAGO, April 18.—(AP.)—The Western Conference will go to work on the business of settling the 1930 baseball title with games on two fronts.

Chicago's green team will go to Bloomington to meet a veteran and ambitious Indiana team, while Purdue, out for a third major title this year, will tackle Ohio State at Columbus. Michigan, winner of the 1928 and 1929 championships, will not see action against a Big Ten foe until next Wednesday, when Ray Fisher's team entertains Ohio State.

TOWER TOPS STRANAHAN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 18.—(AP.)—The first major upset of the 1930 Mason and Dixon golf championship was registered yesterday in the semi-finals match between Robert A. Stranahan, of Toledo, several times finalist, and Duane L. Tower, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., when Tower circled the course in 73 strokes and eliminated Stranahan, 4 and 3.

In the Tower-Stranahan match, the youthful New Yorker hung up a row of birdies, par and an eagle. After a bad start, which left him two down at the fourth, he settled down and proceeded to regain the lead and forge ahead to stay in front all the way.

Ryerson was out in 37 to gain a three-stroke lead on his veteran opponent and found the machine-like play of the champion too much for him.

CLAIRTON TRACKERS WIN

Clairton High School won a dual track and field meet from Turtle Creek Union High, 79 to 43, on the latter's field yesterday.

Campus Comment

By KNUTE ROCKNE

MY HEALTH

I find that convalescing from an illness that requires a lot of time and patience sometimes puts one in an uncomfortable position. One's best friends take liberties and there is nothing that can be done about it.

Knute Rockne

I was somewhat amazed to read in the press that I was all through as a coach. This of course is interesting but of no importance. But to athletic men the fact that Hunk Anderson, Chevigney and Voedish are carrying out thoroughly and enthusiastically the system devised by Jess Harper and myself is important. It means that Notre Dame will have a good football team this fall, the fall after that, and so on. And, incidentally, although of no importance, I hope to be back for three or four weeks of spring practice—sort of polishing up, as it were, and surely hope to be able to do my work again in the fall.

But, as I said, lying quiescent and patiently for months is a difficult thing for one whose whole life has been extremely active and it is not made any easier by friends taking liberties. A good man may be down, but he never waits for the 10.

High Scorers Enter Kansas Relay Games

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 18.—(AP.)—High scorers last year, all except two Big Ten schools, will defend their laurels here tomorrow at the eighth revival of the Kansas University relays.

Track and field men from the Midwestern Conference last year won five of the six university class relays and four of the 10 individual events. Purdue and Ohio State will be the only Big Ten schools not represented tomorrow.

In 1929 Illinois won the 440-880 and four-mile relays and took first in the high hurdles when Lee Sentman fought a heavy track to clear the timbers in 15.3 seconds, only three-tenths of a second short of the meet record. Sentman is entered this year.

COLUMBIA COPS SABRES TITLE

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP.)—For the third consecutive year, Columbia won the sabres title at the Intercollegiate Fencing Association Championships yesterday. Columbia won all five of its matches with New York University, Navy, Dartmouth, Yale and Army. Three of these, however, were decided on the basis of total touches, after the four bouts in each instance had been evenly divided.

Yale's swordsmen won the Epee championship with five victories and no defeats.

The fight for the sabre title was strictly between Columbia and the Army. Army conquered New York University by 3-1, and Navy, Dartmouth and Yale by 4-0 counts. Columbia beat N. Y. U. and the Navy 3-1, and tied with Dartmouth. Yale and Army with two and two. In touches, however, the Lions nosed out Dartmouth, 17-14; Yale, 17-15, and Army, 17-16.

In the Epee division, the scores were:

Yale 3, Ohio State 1; Yale 3, Army 1; Yale 3, Cornell 1; Yale 4, Massachusetts Tech 0; Yale 4, Princeton 0; Army 3, Princeton 1; Army 3, Ohio State 1; Army 3, M. I. HATCH BENEFIT NETS $224 FOR WIDOW

CARD REDUCED, BOUTS FULL OF ACTION

Six bouts composed the card offered last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, by Jimmy McGirr as a benefit show for the widow of Billy Hatch, local Negro boxer who died of injuries sustained in the Tube City ring recently. All of the bouts, four-round affairs, went the limit and several of them resulted in highly interesting action.

Many of the fighters who volunteered their services to McGirr failed to put in their appearance last night, and as a result the card, originally intended to be of no less than 10 bouts, was reduced to an even half-dozen.

TOMOSKY ABSENT

Among those who offered to do their bit toward making the show a success, but who did not appear, were Georgie Tomosky, of Trafford; Andy Tomosky, of Wilmerding, and Teddy Welch, of McKeesport. Georgie Tomosky was Hatch's opponent on the night the latter participated in the bout that resulted in his death.

A total of $213.93 was realized from the sale of tickets and $10 was added through a pair of $5 donations. The total gate receipts was $251.50 and the state tax amounted to $12.57. Expenses totaled $25.

Young Nanci, of Swissvale, shifty little featherweight boxer, turned down an offer of $40 to fight tonight at the Moose Temple in order to appear at last night's benefit card. Nanci was offered a place on the Moose program, but refused to fight two nights in a row and preferred to do his bit last night.

HEBNER TOPS CARVER

Eddie Hebner, Clairton, 142, defeated Eddie Carver, Pittsburgh, 141½.

Casey Hayes, Homestead, 149½, defeated Young Johnson, Pittsburgh, 148.

JOE DRUGMOND IS HOLDOUT

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 18.—Joseph Ulman, 22-year-old Leland Stanford University pitcher, was signed by the Charleroi Governors yesterday and will report to Manager Dave Lamb Sunday. Ulman and Jimmy Uehrinsko, West Newton smoke-ball artist, are scheduled to meet Lamb in the vanguard of arriving players due here next Monday.

Ulman is the third pitcher signed by Lamb in three days. Uehrinsko and Eddie Brower, Parsons, Tenn., giant moundsman having attached their names to the documents.

Joe Drugmond, portside pitcher whose records have led the Mid-Atlantic for several seasons, is still listed among the holdouts. A demand for more money is the difficult, which the firemen are trying to overcome.

Horton Smith Tests New Golf Weapons

JOPLIN, Mo., April 18.—(AP)—On the modest nine-hole course of the Oak Hill Golf Club here, starting end of the golfing rainbow that led to his pot of gold, Horton Smith, youthful golfing professional, today was to test out 35 specially constructed clubs from which weapons for his summer invasion of Europe will be selected.

The clubs include five drivers, three brassies and 25 irons—two of each regularly numbered iron.

Long's Sport Comment

Red Lucas and Eppa Rixey off the hill within three days. The routing Rixey marked the first notable failure by a left-hander this spring. The southpaws have been standing out prominently. In addition to French, Sweetland and Brown, Bill Walker, Bob Grove and Earl Whitehill have won their first games in impressive style, and Bill Clark was defeated only 1 to 0. Pete Jablonowski was charged with Cleveland's defeat after an extra inning yesterday, but it was another southpaw, Dutch Henry, who got the decision over him and started Donie Bush's new club off with a victory.

Charley Paddock

TIE this one—After four years of waiting, Charley Paddock has finally received an official certificate from the Amateur Athletic Union showing that he is the holder of the American record of 9 5-10 seconds for the 100-yard dash. The run was made at Los Angeles on May 15, 1926; the record was accepted and approved at the A. A. U. convention in Baltimore on November 15, 1926; the letter accompanying the certificate and stating that the latter was enclosed was dated June 18, 1928, and the envelope containing the letter and certificate was postmarked March 21, 1930. Thus it took the A. A. U. chiefs four years to tell Paddock that his record was O. K. It took years for them to write him a letter and two years more to mail it. If the sprinters did not move any faster than the A. A. U. you wouldn't need a split-second watch with which to time them. You could do it with a calendar.

20 DIE IN FIRE IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, April 18.—(AP.)—Constabulary reports from Cadiz, Province of Occidental Negros, stated that 20 persons lost their lives in the burning there of a huge sawmill and the homes of 5,000 inhabitants. The fire was said to be under control after raging two days. The loss had reached approximately $2,500,000.

The Philippine Red Cross has offered to send workers to Cadiz to reinforce doctors and nurses now administering to the many injured. Search of the ruins is continuing for the bodies of possible victims in addition to the 20 known dead. Nearby towns have sent food to Cadiz, a city of about 25,000, thrown into confusion by the long fight.

The fire started Tuesday night in the sawmill of the Insular Lumber Company. The plant, one of the largest in the Philippines, was destroyed and the flames quickly spread to the adjacent flimsy houses of natives. Little resistance could be made to the fire, which rushed through the inflammable buildings.

RUSS TO UNITE FISHERMEN

MOSCOW, April 18.—(AP.)—Encouraged by the great strides made in the conversion of small farms into state-controlled collective farms, the Russian government decided to adopt the same principle with regard to the hundreds of thousands of fishermen in the land of the Soviets.

With a view to higher productivity, the fishermen will be grouped into so-called "Artels," pooling their resources and equipment. Neither Kulaks (rich peasant proprietors) nor disfranchised persons will be accepted as members of "Artels," whose principal aim is to unite the poor and the middle-class fishermen.

Stranger Offers To Pay Car Damage

He found the front fender crumpled, but tied to the steering wheel was a note, which gave the address of the man who damged the fender with the suggestion a bill for damages be sent to the signer.

THAT when a party calls you and you are cut off and an operator says: "Numberpleez?" she is your operator and she had nothing to do with the previous call—so don't yell at her!

That the first penny made in the U. S. Mint (1787) was the size of a half dollar and on one side it said: "We Are One" and on the other "Mind Your Own Business." And that Fred F. Clarke, Torrington, Conn., owns it now.

That N. Y. detectives will never touch part of a uniformed cop's clothing, his cap or his club because of the old superstition that he will be back in uniform immediately after.

MAYORS, KLEIG LIGHTS FOR WARNER PREMIERE

In addition to well known persons in public life, some prominent entertainers of the stage and screen will be present at the gala Pennsylvania premiere of "Hold Everything" in the Warner tonight.

The premiere of this picture, especially chosen by Warner Brothers to mark the formal dedication of the former Grand Theater as the Warner, features Winnie Lightner, Joe E. Brown, Georges Carpentier, Sally O'Neill and Bert Roach.

Elaborate plans have been made for the dedication. Kleig lights will illuminate the front of the theater, moving pictures of the event will be taken and it will be broadcast over station KQV, through a special line installed in the theater.

Agnes Ayres to Wed Again And Also Return To Screen

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.

YOU should have heard an echo of the fireworks at the Pathe Studio when Sylvia, masseuse extraordinaire, was asked to play a comedy masseuse in Gloria Swanson's new outloud, "What a Widow!" She was to have been billed in the supporting cast as herself—Sylvia Ulbeck. She refused the offer. And how!

Ordinarily, such an offer would have been considered a compliment. Possibly, in Sylvia's case, it would have been a compliment, but the idea of her being expected to farce her profession for the sake of a few laughs struck the little Swedish masseuse like a match strikes a keg of T. N. T. It is generally known in Hollywood that Sylvia has the same esteem for her work that any artiste has.

Gloria Swanson

Hence, Sylvia will not be Miss Swanson's screen masseuse in "What A Widow!" Daphne Pollard has been cast for the role.

NEVER A JUNE BRIDE

ONE of these fine days, Agnes Ayres, erstwhile flick star, expects to find a good story and a good offer and return to the silver sheet. Miss Ayres looks better than she has looked for years. She has melted off some 20 pounds, and now weighs a sylph-y 108. She has received invites to make a talky, but the role offered failed to answer the superlative Miss Ayres insists upon. And very wise she is, too.

Incidentally, Miss Ayres denies that she and Lewis (director of "All Quiet on the Western Front") Milestone will be married in June. They have set no date for the ceremony. "All Quiet" opens here next Monday. Immediately after the premier, Milly departs for New York to attend the Manhattan premiere of the picture. Miss Ayres remains in Hollywood. Business. Whether she will join Milly in New York, be married there, and honeymoon in Europe is their secret.

Agnes Ayres

Miss Ayres explained how the report got out that they were to be married in June. She has been married twice before. Neither time in that month. A friend asked if she expected to marry again. She reckoned it was possible.

"Will it be in June?" the friend persisted.

"Possibly," Miss Ayres returned. "I've never been a June bride."

BUSY MR. HAMILTON

FOR 30 minutes of radio musicaling next Tuesday evening over WEAF on a national hookup program, Sigmund Romberg will receive the tidy sum of three thousand clunkers. Listens pretty, all right.

NEIL HAMILTON is being kept busy since he departed the Famous Players fold. At least, since his departure, one hears the name of Hamilton mentioned. The local Famous studio has gone in for the greatest secrecy as to what their contract players are doing. Secrecy in Hollywood is sufficiently novel to merit comment. The comment has been made.

Neil Hamilton.

To return to Neil Hamilton. Neil is finishing a featured role in Richard Barthelmess' aerial yarn, "The Dawn Patrol." He is slated to hero for Alice White in Alice's next, "Widow from Chicago," direction Eddie Cline.

Mr. Sharp's Pitt Presents New Leading Man

Emmet Vogan will make his debut in the Pitt Monday night as new leading man with the George Sharp Players. The presentation will be "Holiday," a comedy.

Mr. Vogan has had a wide experience as an actor. He spent all of the present season and all of last season with the Orpheum Players in Kansas City as leading man. In that capacity he played in 62 different roles.

The actor was born in Roanoke, Va., and was raised and attended school in Lima, O. His father was an old minstrel man and his mother also came of a theatrical family.

MRS. FISKE, WAR PLAY AND STOCK HERE NEXT WEEK

"Journey's End," drama of the World War, returns to the Alvin Monday as the Easter week attraction. Richard Bird plays Capt. Stanhope, and is supported by the well known Eastern Company, heretofore seen in Boston and Philadelphia.

Only once since Joseph Jefferson and Mrs. John Drew toured the United States with "The Rivals" in 1896 has there been an opportunity to witness such a performance of Sheridan's immortal comedy, it is said, as is coming to the Nixon for three nights and a Saturday matinee, April 24, 25 and 26, with Mrs. Fiske and an all-star cast. In 1925 Mrs. Fiske and James T. Powers headed an one hundred and fiftieth anniversary all-star cast, and they will be seen in the same roles next week.

"Holiday," a comedy, will be presented by the George Sharp Players next week in the Pitt. The production was originally produced in the Plymouth Theater, New York, in 1928.

Aid Home Builders

FINANCING PLAN HELPS SOME BUILDERS

Lumbermen's Association Program Now Operative in 1,200 Districts, 44 States

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, April 18.

The return of cheap money will accelerate long term progress in the direction of improved means of financing sound purchases at retail by ultimate consumers.

This column has recently directed attention to the extent to which prosperity has been impeded by inefficient methods of financing the small home owner, especially in regard to second mortgages. It has been suggested that a consortium of great corporations engaged in supplying building materials be formed to study this question and perhaps undertake the actual junior financing of the home builder on a more scientific basis. The ably conducted Johns Manville Corporation which is greatly interested in this whole question, has satisfied its management by tests on the Pacific Coast that roofing material can be prudently sold on the instalment plan with the co-operation of outside finance companies.

FINANCING PLAN

Arthur A. Hood, president of Associated Leaders of Lumber and Fuel Dealers of America which was formed as a co-operative agency to introduce modern merchandising and financing methods among the somewhat antiquated lumber trade, in a message to this column points out that his organization has been functioning along the lines recommended in 1,200 communities in 44 states.

"Our services to members" Mr. Hood declared, "include a very complete merchandising program, and also a second mortgage financing plan this latter service being rendered through a finance company which is affiliated with us and serves the building industry exclusively through our members.

"The first step in this merchandising program is to identify all of their materials under a common organization trade mark or emblem—certified materials.

"The next step in our merchandising program is to guarantee all of these materials. This is done by providing the member with a surety bond in a $44,000,000 surety company, which places a cash warranty of $1,000 behind the quality and quantity of every purchase of materials.

"Another feature of the program is to sell in completed units—instead of selling the various materials as such, we teach our dealers to sell completed homes and completed modernizing jobs."

TRADES AWAKENING

The foregoing program is one specific example of an important awakening in the older trades of newer methods of promoting sales. In view of the large, if not excessive, capacity of many basic industries, the emphasis in American business must be placed to an increasing extent on merchandising and financing. Such co-operative movements as the one described are a significant phase of the new mood of independent dealers.

In the grocery and drug trades, for example, in which chain stores have given the independents a hard run, the unit stores are beginning to emulate the scientific merchandising methods and principles of economy of the chains and have banded together in some instances into co-operative organizations, which have come to be known as voluntary chains. Incidentally, some of the important chain store executives have privately expressed apprehension regarding the competition from voluntary chains, which attempt to fuse the advantages of the personality of the independent dealer with the scientific technique of the chains.

Rough Going Is Forerunner Of Smooth Going

By B. C. FORBES

AT THIS season of the year stock exchanges perhaps may not be amiss to turn from topics of the market place to topics touching on "life itself" having special regard to the conditions which now beset us in the business world.

Others have ego.

Be straight makes ultimately for smooth going.

Success without effort is hollow.

Telling and doing are different.

On the sea of life, ebb tides overtake every one of us. So don't be discouraged.

Don't fool yourself that sufficient talk will make up for insufficient results.

The biggest of them once were little.

Staying power is paying power.

Thank God, nobody can kill our spirit.

Each of us have to invest daily—our thought, time, energy, life.

If we only put the same zest into work that we put into play!

Lone Star Gas to Get New Market

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

FURTHER expansion in gross and net earnings of the Lone Star Gas Corporation is expected as a result of the agreement announced yesterday for the sale of gas to the Missouri Valley Gas Company. Associated with Lone Star in the transaction were United Light and Power Company and the North American Light and Power Company.

A new outlet for gas, which will be of great importance to Long Star, will be made available by the construction of a 24-inch pipe line by Missouri Valley Gas from Stevens County, Kan., toward Lincoln and Omaha, Neb. An extension of the line will also reach into the Panhandle field in Texas where it will connect with Lone Star's lines.

Lone Star Gas has been in a period of rapid expansion during the past four years. Acquisitions of a large number of producing, transporting and distributing properties, together with entirely new territories developed by the organization, have placed the company in a strong position in the natural gas industry.

Greater Profits Expected

THE results of expansion work were reflected to some extent in the earnings of 1928 and 1929 but they will be more apparent in the results for the current year. As the work of integrating newly acquired properties progresses, substantial operating economies are being shown. In addition to this about three years are required to develop the distribution of gas in new territory. Lone Star will not reap all the harvest from some of its new territories for some time to come.

For 1929 the company reported net profit of $6,540,581 after depreciation, depletion, taxes and reserves. This was equivalent to $1.82 a share on 3,595,841 shares of common stock. It compared with net profit of $4,824,805 or $3.35 a share on 1,438,130 shares in 1928.

Stock Split

The common stock was placed on an annual dividend basis of $1 with the dividend payable on March 31. The previous rate was 80 cents annually.

The last financing done by the company consisted of an offering of $8,000,000 of 6½ per cent cumulative preferred stock at $100 a share by the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh in October, 1929.

Properties Increased

THE extent of the expansion work done last year was indicated by the fact that the balance sheet showed physical properties of $119,215,222 at the end of 1929 compared with $89,067,266 at the close of the previous year. Funded debt amounted to $29,747,500 at the close of 1929.

Worth, Tex., a distance of 100 miles, was completed. The company owns over 3,100 miles of main transportation lines, 22 gas compressor stations and 10 gasoline recovery plants.

MOTOR TRUCK OUTPUT

NEW YORK, April 18.—On the basis of reports from 10 leading manufacturers of commercial motor vehicles to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, production of heavy duty motor trucks for the first quarter of this year showed a normal increase over the corresponding periods of 1928 and 1927. Figures were somewhat below what is characterized as an "abnormal peak" during the first quarter of 1929.

Of heavy-duty trucks and buses accounted for in the report, an increase of slightly more than 2 per cent was noted over 1928 production for the first quarter and an increase of 37 per cent over production for the corresponding period of 1927. A decrease of about 29 per cent was shown in 1930 from level of the first quarter last year.

National Dairy OK's Capital Increase

NEW YORK, April 18.—Thomas F. McInnerney, president of National Dairy Products Corporation, stated at the annual meeting that during the quarter ended March 31, profits were approximately $1,000,000 ahead of the first quarter of 1929.

Stockholders approved an increase in capital stock to 10,000,000 shares from 6,000,000.

P.R.R. TO SPEND MILLIONS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 18.—The Pennsylvania Railroad plans to spend several million dollars in this district within the next two years, double tracking its system and improving terminal facilities. Options have been taken the past week on sites bordering on West Federal street, immediatey west of the passenger station.

In addition, the road is now conducting a survey of motor trucking systems in the Middle West, with the view of acquiring the leading lines. Negotiations have been opened with a number of the motor truck interests. A six months' survey, in charge of experts, is now under way.

Headquarters for the company's operations in the motor truck field, catering the short hauls, will be centered in Youngstown for Northeastern Ohio.

STEEL SHAPES DEMAND GOOD

CLEVELAND, O., April 18.—Demand for steel bars, shapes and plates is holding at a steady rate, with aggregate tonnage in fair volume for this period, according to Daily Metal Trade. Whatever change has developed in specifications for steel bars is for the better, although the gain over the March tonnage is only moderate. Cold-bar finishers are better buyers of hot bars as a result of slightly improved demand from automotive sources.

Orders continue in small lots with little anticipation of future requirements noted. Mill operations show little change. The market is steady with 1.80c, Pittsburgh, ruling on the bulk of the shape, plate and bar tonnages moving, with 1.85c being applied on small lots. Flat rolled steel demand continues to improve, but slowly.

Republic Steel Extends Research

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 18.—Another step in the expansion of the Republic Steel Corporation is the organization of the Republic Research Corporation, which will have headquarters in Massillon. It will be in charge of P. J. Griffith, formerly chairman of the board of the Central Alloy Steel Corporation. He was responsible for introduction of Krupp steel in this country.

Dow-Jones Steel Averages Same

Stock Exchange Topics

Bear Operators Turn Attention to Rail Shares.

BEAR operators who had been working in the copper shares with quite some success heretofore, are reported now to have turned their attention to the railway shares in the hope of unsettling the market through bringing pressure to bear on the carriers. Much of the selling which has been evident in the rails recently is attributed to this element. Operations for lower prices in the carriers apparently are being based on the belief that March operating statements, which should begin to appear rather freely next week, will be disappointing. Freight loadings in the period provide the basis for such calculation, but the point is made that comparison will, it must be remembered, be made with figures for last year, which was an exceptionally good one for the rails.

Speculation for the rise in the motor stocks, which had been gathering considerable momentum a short time ago, seems to have simmered down with the appearance of the first of the quarterly earnings statements of these companies. The Hupp figures out recently, showing net of around $67,000, against $1,571,000 in the first quarter of 1929, proved keenly disappointing. The Street is now waiting anxiously for the General Motors figures, expected to be available along about the end of next week. Motors is expected to show around 90 cents a share earned, compared with $1.37 a share in the first quarter last year.

OFFICIALS of United States Industrial Alcohol are not anxious over the outlook for the present dividend. Charles Adams, head of the company answering a query at the annual meeting, told stockholders "we see nothing at present or in prospect which might affect the rate of dividend." Referring to the Union Carbide's process of making alcohol, it was stated that Industrial Alcohol had entered an agreement with that company to sell their output which will not be sufficiently large to justify setting up of a separate selling organization. Industrial Alcohol is now on a $6 regular dividend basis and last year, an extra of $1 was paid. No comment was made relative to the outlook for further extras immediately.

Heavy arbitrating was reported being done in American Telephone issues during yesterday. Trading in the stock was quite active, and the turnover in the convertible bonds was the heaviest in some time, with a bid for $1,000,000 of the issue reported to have made its appearance shortly before noon at 180. The "rights" in which trading began on the "big board" with the opening yesterday was intensely active with the price moving within about a point of the opening figure of 21¼.

MUCH of the selling which came into American Telephone and Telegraph following the announcement of the terms of the new stock offering Wednesday may have been the usual profit-taking on the "good news." But not a little of it represented the move by big traders to adjust their position so as to maintain their position marketwise, and at the same time save considerable in the way of carrying charges, for the next month or so. By selling the stock and buying the "rights" this could be accomplished, as no carrying charges are involved in holding the "rights," trades in which the stock exchange has ruled must be settled by the close of business on June 19. American Telephone and Telegraph will sell ex-rights on May 23.

The head of the National Lead Company assured stockholders yesterday that there need be no fear of a reduction in the present regular dividends on that company's shares. Mr. Cornish in a statement said that business to the end of the first quarter had been the poorest in 20 years. But so far as dividends are concerned he declared "nothing has happened that has not been prepared for." He expects this year's business will bring earnings that will justify the present regular dividends, but held that nothing more can be expected unless a substantial revival in general business takes place. New orders last week were three times those of any previous week since the turn of the year. The company had net profit equal to $25.49 a common share last year.

Line Orders 1,000 Refrigeration Cars

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—American Refrigeration Transit Company, owned jointly by Missouri, Pacific and Wabash, has placed orders for approximately $3,400,000 equipment to meet demand of increased shipping of vegetables and citrus from South Texas and a corresponding gain in traffic to and from Colorado and western points served by Missouri Pacific Lines. Equipment includes 1,000 new refrigeration cars.

American Gas Co. Steps Up Output

NEW YORK, April 18.—American Gas & Electric Company reports output of 73,865,614 kilowatt hours by its subsidiaries for week ending April 12, up 2 per cent over 1929 week.

Bond Offerings Lower in Week

NEW YORK, April 18.—New bond offerings totaled $98,504,000 this week, against $182,111,000 last week and $39,371,500 in the like 1929 week.

Markets Observe Good Friday Holiday

Stock exchanges and commodity markets throughout the country are closed today in observance of Good Friday. Banks in Pittsburgh are closed, but New York banks are open as it is not a legal holiday in that state. The stock exchanges and most of the commodity markets will remain closed tomorrow, but the Chicago Board of Trade (Grain Pit) will be open for the usual Saturday session. All banks will be open tomorrow. The stock and commodity exchanges will resume operations at the usual hours on Monday.

TRADE GAINS IN FIREPROOFING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 18.—President George C. Brainard, of the General Fireproofing Company, advises that new business has improved considerably the past two weeks and that first-quarter earnings will compare favorably with first quarter last year, when new records were set up.

The company is operating at 85 per cent.

Its new aluminum chair department will be in full operation by the latter part of April.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Cal Writes a Book

MR. COOLIDGE selects a dainty blackboard when he autographs a mountain in the Black Hills.

"Bugs" Baer

The Black Hills in Dakota. Well, that's one lesson the kids won't have to look at in Pittsburgh.

Cal will write his history in 500 words. Colleet. Each word will be three feet high. Which glorifies our national history to almost an equal plane with outdoor cigaret advertising.

Incorporated in this rocky tapestry will be dates and figures almost as important as those on a dial telephone.

Cal has completed his history of these sovereign senatorial investigations up to 1787. That makes the United States only 11 years of age, but Cal will soon get it into long trousers.

Many prominent men are envious of Mr. Coolidge. They think they could write on a mountain so well that it would run six editions.

They also claim they could spin the biography of a nation in less than 500 words. There's only one thing we ask. Don't give the job to Zane Grey.

Mr. Coolidge's handwriting on the cliff is dignified and noncommittal. He mentions the declaration, liberty, justice and the pursuit of happiness on four flat tires.

From there he will go on to the Louisiana purchase, Alaska, Texas, Oregon, California, the finish of the Panama Canal and the standard oil-hot dog stand merger.

Then will follow Cal's signature with these words carved in imperishable granite, "Dictated, but not read."

After Gutzon Borglum finishes the gigantic business Mr. Coolidge will go to the Dakotas to dedicate it.

Following his usual habits, when Cal sees the bulletin on the mountain, the first thing he will do will be to veto it.

The Senate will pass a budget for six million to purchase Cal an extra mountain for a postscript.

Which will start an epidemic of scribbling on landscapes that will wind up with every school child carrying a telescope in order that no distant lesson will be overlooked.

And when you see little tots struggling under the weight of three-ton boulders you will know that they are struggling back from school with their home work.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

There was static in a famous senator's remark before the Federal Radio Commission the other day when he said:

"My sympathies are always with the little short wave stations."

Sacred Cantata.

Du Bois' "Seven Last Words of Christ," a sacred cantata for solo, chorus and orchestra, will comprise the Good Friday music.

This cantata, portraying the last moments of Christ, employs a narrator to describe the scene of the crucifixion. Following this the Christ begins the seven words with "Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do." The chorus depicts the crowd and is heard constantly in the background.

Harre Hill, celebrated opera baritone, a narrator, and a chorus of 40 mixed voices will present the cantata, while music especially written by Josef Koestner for this presentation will be heard during the interludes.

Story of the Holy Grail.

"Parsifal" grandly expresses the heavenly greatness of the Christian idea of God, which is at the foundation of the legend of the Holy Grail. It portrays vivid contrast between saintly beauties and those of the fascinating fairies, glowing with poetry and ravishing music.

The first act opens in a forest on the grounds of the keepers of the Grail. King Amfortas has been wounded by the foe of the Holy Grail. He can only recover through "a guileless fool" who will bring back the holy spear and touch him with it. Parsifal, a young knight who has been reared in the desert, a guileless fool, suddenly appears.

At Klingsor's magic castle is shown in the second act, and Kundry, a woman of mysterious beauty instead of a demon, who must seduce Parsifal. The young knight spurns her and the curses all paths which would lead him from her. Klingsor appearing at her cry, hurls the spear at Parsifal, but it remains floating over his head, and the youth, grasping it, destroys the magic by the sign in the cross.

In the third act, Kundry is awakened from a death-like sleep. She is now penitent and serves the Grail. Parsifal, comforted to the King, touches his side with the holy spear, and the wound is closed.

More Miles From Tires.

Make your old tires last you as far as the new! It may be economy for you to buy new tires when the old ones show wear, but it's needless waste to throw the old ones away.

There are many hundreds, even thousands, of miles of service still in them—and many auto owners who have the time and mechanical ability are saving the rest such as you have been throwing away.

Re advertise your used tires in the Classified Ads—it's economy for you, and economy for those who come to buy.

If your car will not run, bring your title and we will give you a credit of $50 on any car in our stock, and remember our cars are all reconditioned. Absolutely no strings to this offer. DAILY TRUE STORY

BY WOLCOTT [illegible]

NATE HARPER wrote "Westerns."

Westerns," you most certainly know if ever you view the news stands, are stories of the West, published in scores of magazines of the wood pulp variety and some others of better grade paper, regardless of the grade of story, which is debatable.

Nate was born in Wyoming educated in a Western college and seemed destined to work on his father's small ranch.

But in college Nate needed money—more money than his savings and his allowance would afford him. He recalled a story of action in his territory, set it to words and sent it East, where most of the Westerns are published.

A check came back with a note from the editor suggesting a few things about the next story.

That's how Nate Harper got into the writing of Western fiction.

By the time he was through his college he was making a steady income with his stories.

His father and mother thought they must be pulling [illegible] the editor chaps to pay so much money for just writing about things that happen on ranches in cattle countries and the like.

The secret of it was that Nate wrote convincingly. It was cheaper to hire a couple more men while he ground out his stories than it was for him to quit exercise, riding, fishing, hunting, but he made a steady job of his writing, putting in so many hours each day, six days a week.

Time came when it was advisable for Nate to go to New York and talk with some editors. He had some serials in mind and they liked his stuff and would be glad to see him. He had their letters to prove it.

So Nate worked overtime a couple months, got his writing ahead and started East.

Nate didn't wear boots and a ten-gallon hat—not going East. He often did out home, but he looked very much like some healthy young broker's clerk or assistant bank teller who had time to get tanned on week-ends in the country.

New York Is as Wild

Nate's visit was a successful one in a business way and was all up in a few days. He was going back and write some serials. He wasn't setting the world afire as a literary genius but his stuff sold steadily.

Few literary geniuses can make that claim.

Nate decided that he wouldn't care to live in New York or Chicago. He had stopped off in the Windy City on his way East. In New York during the first week he read of three gangsters found murdered and left in lonely spots, of two card games held up and the players robbed, of three payroll holdups wherein many thousands were stolen and four men were killed.

There were sundry other things like harbor accidents, explosions of stills, a street cave-in and such.

For the life of him Nate couldn't understand why the devil so many Easterners had to read Western stories for thrills when New York was surely twice as wild and ungodly and dangerous as any part of Wyoming of the west.

Nate wanted to study New York. In some of his forthcoming serials he would want to introduce city characters. He wanted to get them right.

A young assistant editor of one of the magazines that seldom issued a number without one of Nate's short stories took him up in Harlem. The night clubs were exciting and at the same time silly, he thought.

He was also taken down into the Village.

In both places various personages, from higher-up politicians to low-down gangsters, were pointed out to him.

He had made two trips to Chinatown in one of those big buses. It interested him.

One of these sight-seeing buses had a barker that proclaimed trips down into New York's "wicked underworld."

"See famous characters, crooks, gangsters, ex-convicts, men and women with court records—see how they dress and live and amuse themselves," bellowed the barker.

Nate didn't want to miss this.

Many of the old familiar spots were pointed out, like "Five Points" and "Hell's Kitchen" and the old Tenderloin district, now entirely dissipated.

Real Underworld

The big car drove up at a rather shabby building.

"The famous 'Mud Hole' ladies and gents," the barker announced, "rendezvous of New York's most notorious slice of the gen-oo-ine 'underworld'." The barker talked through a stubby and much-used megaphone.

Many timid ones preferred to remain in their seats and stare at the dark stairway down from the sidewalk and guess as to the horrible creatures below and their horrible lives. A few of the more intrepid ventured down.

Nate went with them.

There was quite a boisterous crowd with them.

The guide selected a large table. Some of the visitors had ginger ale, some had near beer. What any of the others had doesn't go on record.

"That guy is Beany Crothers. He's croaked three men and done twenty years," the guide informed them.

Beany leered at the bar and looked decidedly tough.

"That one with the scar on his forehead is Scalp McGuire," the guide said, huskily, and he gave a list of crimes the man had done. It was rather nerve-rending to the ladies.

"That painted up kid is a gun moll—she helps these gangsters and hold-up men. They do the shooting, slip her the gun and she walks away," the man prattled on.

Nathan Harper stared at the painted up kid. He couldn't take his eyes from her. Despite her cheap, flashy clothes and her thick make-up, he liked her eyes, he liked her face.

Nathan took a last lingering look at the gun moll as he left with the others. He also noted the address of the place, number and street. He wanted to go down there not with a crowd of rubber-neckers, but alone, to study them. Here were the real types, the sort he could write about, the characters he could put into his Western stories when he had occasion to send a Western hero on East or bring a New York underworld character out West into the wide open spaces where men were good riders and good writers got paid for telling about them.

Nate did go down to the Mud Hole the next afternoon.

Most of the characters were there, but they seemed listless. Nate bought some beer. It didn't prove to be the best sort. He was surprised and pleased.

The gun moll wasn't there. It occurred to him that he had come down more to see her than to get atmosphere.

She came in rather briskly, looking around, waved her hand at the haggard old Mag, said "Hello, Jim," to Beany Crothers, and sat down at a table alone.

Nate went over to her table.

"Would you be offended if I bought you some beer, miss?" he asked.

"Why?" She asked it listlessly.

Nate Talks With Girl

Nate ordered beer.

"What gets me," he said when the listless girl with the handsome, appealing eyes had thanked him and started drinking the beer, "is how people live how you can stand it just hanging around these dumps."

"What gets me is not how people live, but why they want to live," the girl said, and then, "That's supposed to be a joke. What's your line?"

"Say, don't tell me you're just down here for atmosphere," she exclaimed.

"I am, but—"

"Isn't it rich—what a story!" She began to laugh.

"Ally-oop!" shouted a tough-looking young man coming downstairs on the run.

Instantly the people got busy. The girl said, "Excuse me a few moments," and went over and sat with the tough young man, draping an arm affectionately about his neck, which made Nate scowl.

Another load of sightseers from the big bus came down. The guide gave them the same talk about Beany and Scalp and Mag and the tough gun moll and others.

The sightseers went out.

The denizens of the dive lolled about and read or chatted as soon as the visitors went and the girl came back to Nate.

"I did come down for atmosphere the first time," he said, "and then I saw you and—well, your eyes, your face. I wanted to see you again."

"Is this a line or an attempted pickup?" she asked, rather sharply.

Nate leaned forward.

"Look here, sister, you're the first girl I ever saw who made me look twice. Why the devil can't you quit this gang of toughs and be decent?"

"What is it to you?"

"Why not come out West with me to my mother and live right for a year, then you'd never want to live wrong again! You are too pretty and your eyes are too soft and intelligent—it's all wrong."

Nate's Advice

"You think I ought to live right—for a change?"

"You were cut out for different, better, sweeter things, girl, believe me."

"What's your name and where do you live in town?"

He told her.

"I'll give you a ring at your hotel tonight at seven," she said.

At seven he got the ring and was informed that there was a young lady down in the writing room waiting for him.

Nate went down and looked around eagerly. He planned to take her out to some quiet place—he couldn't take a girl like that in the hotel grill—but he could not find her.

A neatly dressed, pretty girl came to him.

"Mr. Harper?"

"Why—why doggone! It's you—the gun moll!" he exclaimed.

He took her in to dinner.

"Yes," she said, when they came to the dessert, "it's all posing, we're hired. There's nothing here in movies and I haven't been able to get a part in any show for months. I have to eat, so I took the job of playing the tough girl down there. They're most all paid by the rubberneck bus company."

"You are a good actress, Jenny Cate," Nate said. He had learned her name. "How would you like to come out to Nature's stage in Wyoming and play the part of Mrs. Nathan Harper—for life?"

"Oh, Nate, I'd love to!"

"There'll be a contract for you to sign tomorrow, girl—marriage contract," Nate told her.

And there was—and it was properly signed.

There Are Times When Ye Editor Must Be Frank and Fearless, Let Chips Fall Where They May

(From the Clermont, Ohio, Weekly American.)

Two town dogs fell dead last Tuesday morning on the street of Clermont. Julius Johnson was sick in bed or he might have been suspicioned. Both Julius and Doc Jorgenson do not tolerate dogs running over their lawns. Dr. Jorgenson is away so he wasn't mentioned when the dogs ceased. But that someone is poisoning dogs seems to be certain. But the American as well as the average citizen does not approve of that. It does say and has said that dogs running loose are a nuisance. On the morning that the two dogs dropped in the streets, two of the business men counted eleven dogs congregated together on a lawn. Out of the eleven they counted not one could be really called a necessity. Every one of them was a trespasser. Some dogs have a disagreeable habit. That is natural. But poisoning a dog is just cowardly and should be below the thought of any real man. Yet, as we said before, no dog gets poisoned who stays at home and tends to his own business.

ZUPPKE SLICES IT THICK

(Told to Cleveland Advertising Club)

"It's the college athletes who taught this nation to bathe and bathe often. They also demonstrated the value of the open window in the sleeping room. Talk about 'culture' —what is more valuable than these achievements?"—Bob Zuppke, University of Illinois football coach.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
40% of Pennsylvania's Bituminous Coal Produced Here

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Pinchot for Governor, Davis for the Senate

Voters of Pennsylvania Have the Opportunity Next Month to Repudiate Grundy-Fisher Rule and Encourage Liberal and Progressive Citizenship

JAMES J. DAVIS

THE SUN-TELEGRAPH is for James J. Davis for the United States Senate, and for Gifford Pinchot for Governor. It hopes they will be nominated in the primary of May 20 and elected next November, because it believes they can and will do more than their opponents to promote the best interests of Pennsylvania and the United States.

This newspaper hopes also that the citizens will send to the Legislature men and women who favor and will support the legislative program that Pinchot advocates. That program embodies many of the things for which the Sun-Telegraph has been working, notably relief from the outrageous rates and abominable service that some of the public utilities, with the consent and approval of the Public Service Commission, are imposing on the people; abolition of the barbarous coal and iron police system perpetuated by Governor Fisher, and fairer distribution of the tax burden.

THE candidacies of Davis and Pinchot offer a splendid chance to deal a staggering blow to the Grundy-Fisher machine, whose ruthless and outrageous rule of the state should be a challenge to every decent voter. Election of Senator Joseph R. Grundy especially would be construed by the machine—and rightly—as conferring authority to continue the unsavory policies and practices which have done so much harm to Pennsylvanians and made the name of Grundy a by-word throughout the Nation.

If only for the opportunity it affords to repudiate this sinister gang, the candidacy of Secretary Davis would deserve consideration. Happily, there are other good reasons for voting for him. Davis has been prominently before the public for many years, and with plenty of chances to betray the trust reposed in him, with abundant opportunity to make blunders, has remained consistently honest and level-headed. The fact that three presidents have had him in their cabinets is striking testimonial to his mental capacity and administrative ability.

PINCHOT is fearless, independent, a "square shooter." He is free from entangling alliance of any sort with the corrupt political rings. He speaks his mind boldly — too boldly, some of his cautious friends think, to be a good politician. To straddle an important public question is not in the man. When he has formed an opinion he expresses it. Further, while willing to listen courteously to suggestions, he makes up his mind for himself, and takes orders from no man. That is one reason why the gang is against him.

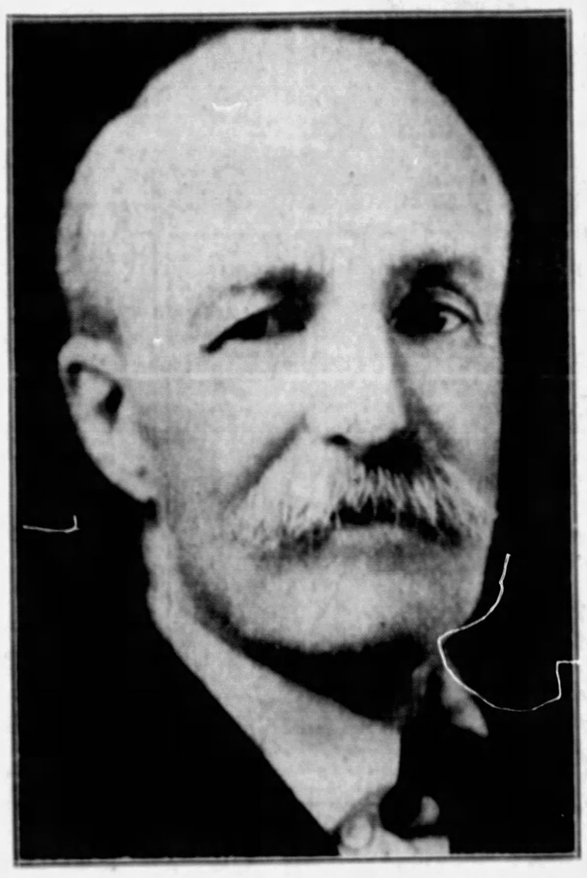
Pinchot had the confidence of President Roosevelt. His life and record are an open book. Everybody knows where he stands and what his attitude will be. No risk will be taken in electing him. He made a good governor before, and will make a good one again.

In electing Davis and Pinchot the people of Pennsylvania will be convicting the Fisher-Grundy machine and repudiating the things for which it stands.

THERE are three major counts on which this machine has been indicted before the bar of public opinion during the last two years. First—the coal and iron police betrayal. When public indignation was at a high pitch because of the brutality of coal and iron policemen, Governor Fisher showed a personal desire to correct the un-American practice that had been established in the days of another equally selfish state machine. It had been a practice for years for the State of Pennsylvania to sell out its police power to coal companies, permitting coal company employes to wear the uniform and use the authority of the State to quell labor disturbances. Two bills were passed in the last Legislature. One of them provided for the partial amelioration of the admittedly wrong condition. Another was slipped through perpetuating practically all of the outrageous features of the law. Governor Fisher stultified himself by signing the Mansfield bill and coal companies still have the right to buy the police power of the State when they want to do it.

THE second count involves Senator Grundy more particularly. It was Grundy who, with his associates, organized a committee in the last presidential year that spread advertisements through the State advising the people to vote against large bond issues for highways, armories, forests and welfare purposes. It was pointed out in these advertisements that the bond issues would mean higher taxes. These announcements told the people that there was plenty of money in the State treasury to take care of necessary improvements. Then when the Legislature met the State machine jammed through an increase in the gas tax, even though the State treasurer still insisted this was absolutely unnecessary. Manifestly, the State machine deceived the people as to State finances on one of these two occasions. There seems to be little doubt as to the truth—that the imposition of the additional gas tax was unnecessary.

THE third count is the manner in which Lobbyist Grundy was made a senator. The appointment was a defiance of public opinion after Grundy's lobbying activities had been exposed. The appointment was indefensible from the point of view of public interest; it showed how little the Grundy-Fisher machine cares for the taxpayers of the State, and with what utter selfishness it operates.



GIFFORD PINCHOT

PENNSYLVANIA has long been the protector of privilege and predatory interests, and for too long has its State machine trampled upon public rights. Next month the Republicans of Pennsylvania will have an opportunity to repudiate the machine and to give encouragement to whatever liberal and progressive sentiment there may be in this great State.

Blue Law Is Opposed In Philadelphia Council

The fight of the modern-minded citizens against the antiquated, out-dated, out-moded blue law of 1794 goes on. A late and significant attack on the old, discriminative restrictive law is that by which the movement for a modern Sunday for modern people is carried into the Philadelphia City Council. W. W. (Bill) Roper, noted football coach, member of the Quaker City Council, has introduced a resolution looking to summarizing sentiment of Philadelphia citizens, and, if it is found to be against the blue law, have Council petition the General Assembly for its repeal.

"Sunday baseball, by our major league teams, should be permitted," he said. "Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are the only cities having major league baseball where Sunday games are prohibited. I don't know how it affects Pittsburgh, but I know that on Sunday Philadelphia is dead, uninteresting and uninviting to strangers."

Mr. Roper may be assured that Pittsburgh is no less "dead, uninteresting and uninviting to strangers" on Sunday than Philadelphia. And it is no less in any of these things to thousands of residents than it is to the stranger.

Pittsburgh Council would deserve and receive much commendation were it to act as Mr. Roper, an authority on recreational needs, urges his fellow councilmen to do, declaring that something must be done to put an end to restrictions on recreation on Sunday. He told of seeing men and boys sitting on the doorsteps of the crowded districts of his city, last Sunday, with nothing to do, and asks if it wouldn't be better if the boys could go into the parks and play baseball.

Mayor Kline last summer demonstrated very thoroughly the demand for freer recreational privileges here by establishing motion pictures in the parks. Attendance of thousands conclusively proved the sentiment of the people. That one thing should be sufficiently significant to Council to cause it to seek to ascertain all public feeling in this matter and to act in accordance with the wishes of the majority.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THERE was a pretty smart lawyer that was hired by a bus company to defend it against damage suits. All kinds of suits are started against companies that carry people, and they need a good lawyer.

Well, there was a prize-fighter that had got hurt on a bus. He claimed he had been making big money knocking people around the ring before the accident, and that now he was no good.

So they had another prize-fighter in court that was testifying against this guy. He was a kind of an expert, I reckon.

The bus company's lawyer was asking questions of the guy that got hurt. Finally he says, "Now, will you stand up there in front of the bench and show the jury just how it is that you can't hit hard any more since you got hurt. Here, this other prizefighter will stand here, and you show how your arm can't deliver that hook to the jaw since you was hurt."

So the guy stands up and takes off his coat and starts to make a pass at the other guy's jaw, and his fist misses the guy altogether and there ain't no blow.

"Well, well," says the lawyer. "That's pretty bad, we'll admit. Now show us how you used to do it before you was hurt."

The poor boob hauled off and hit the witness so hard on the jaw that he knocked him cold and the victim landed clear on the other side of the room.

"That's how I used to do it," he says, kinda proud.

And maybe you can guess what the jury did.

THE INTENTS OF DEMOCRACY

By Herbert Kaufman

THE Continental Congress was a lynching bee for royal authority. It swung the British crown on the yardarm of a newly launched government. It cancelled dynastic rights to our futures. But it did not abolish human nature. It decreed that no class should ever be vested with paramount privileges. And upon that foundation, the first outright republic in history was founded—a republic without patricians and plebeians—without social grades and orders—without caste bonuses or mass limitations. In plain, emphatic and immortal terms, all men were designated free and equal; which means, entitled to work, think and worship as they please. The Declaration of Independence established their peerage before justice and opportunity, and then tore their fingers from its apron strings.

IN other words, the Continental Congress realized that it could not reverse the operations of nature, or upset the laws of gravity and merit. No unfit or sub-normal can be lifted to parity with mental and physical superiors by mortal decree. In 1776, as in 1930, it was self-evident that folk would always vary in quality, capacity and sturdiness. Then, as now, legislation might only guarantee fair fields and unhampered demonstrations of ability.

The Declaration of Independence was not, and did not pretend to achieve a miracle. It simply unlocked the fetters on individualism, pledged each citizen that he should stand as high before judgment as his neighbor, and proclaimed that no barriers should ever persist for the undeserved profit of the few and to the detriment of the many.

BUT revolution is not a substitute for evolution, which plainly intends strength to surmount weakness—insists that the best types shall survive, that the hardy outlast the delicate, and vitality dominate weakness.

Industry will invariably reach farther than negligence; application is forever destined to reap the harvests vacillation neglects and determination deservedly succeeds where slots scores failure.

No document can standardize vision or enterprise, alter cowardice into courage, or vest an ass with the character of a lion.

No two beings are born to be alike or think identically. There is a trace of the past in all strains. Each generation produces its due percentage of culls and primes, ripens according to the soundness of seed, and exhibits in its fruitage the varying consequences of inherited blood streams.

THE very family unit displays such uncontrollable vagaries of breed. The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are nothing but licenses to show goods and invoke provided statutes for their protection. They purpose that you shall exercise option in the selection of your leaders; they distribute pass-keys to the citadels of common defense and issue irrevocable titles to the conquests of imagination and the pre-emptions of the pioneer. But they do not insure higher wages than labor and talent are entitled to earn or validate positions which performance cannot retain. Whoever asks more than this from the state, is looking for crutches or demanding marked cards.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE common skua or jaeger may be wholly white below, or wholly dark, and between these two types all intermediates occur, through dark waist-coated to broad-collared birds and so to narrow collars and finally to no collar at all.

And although because of their conspicuousness we have confined ourselves to color-varieties, equally marked variations are found in other points, in shape and size, in the internal organs, even in such invisible physiological characters as disease-resistance or longevity.

H. G. Wells.

All kinds of living things vary; the differences are merely a matter of more or less, some varying more strikingly than others.

Sec. 2. What Is a Species?

WE have made a frequent use of the accepted classifications of living things; it is a chart that shows us our way about the animal and vegetable kingdoms and the indeterminate zone between them.

But we have said nothing about the way in which that chart has been drawn. The classification of living things is a laborious task; it involves the collection of great numbers of specimens from all parts of the world, and their careful, indexed accumulation in central museums where they can be examined and compared; it involves the full-time labor of collectors and of museum experts in the various groups.

It will be worth our while to glance for a moment at the work of these systematists, as they are called, because the way in which living things resemble and differ from each other is in itself a strong piece of evidence in favor of Evolution.

Naturally we cannot examine the drawing-up of the whole map; we shall have to confine our attention to a corner of it. We shall speak only of animals in what follows, although the classification of plants is based on similar principles and entails similar difficulties, and we shall begin with one particular group of animals, the wild dogs.

Running wild and hunting over almost the whole land surface of the globe—excepting only New Zealand, Madagascar, the ice-caps at the Poles, and those intensively-civilized regions that man has made wholly his own—there is a trible of closely-related animals, the wolves, jackals, and foxes—in biological language, the family Canidae.

The appearance of a wild dog, such as a wolf, is well known enough. He has a bushy tail, erect ears, a pointed muzzle, a shrewd expression, and sharp, cruel teeth. He is lightly built; the dogs are a family of swift runners with exceptional powers of endurance.

In general they are carnivorous, i.e., they kill and devour living prey, and for the most part they run their prey down and do not pounce upon it after the manner of cats.

But dogs are by no means particular in their diet; when fresh meat is scarce they are willing to take invertebrate animals, vegetable food or carrion.

Now there are a number of kinds of wild dog; they vary in size, color and proportions of the parts in habits (some hunting by night and others by day, some hunting singly and others in packs, and so on.

And they have to be classified. Their popular names—wolf, jackal, fox and the like—are unsatisfactory, because they rest on the superficial appearance of the creatures and do not give any idea of their true relationships.

It is the business of the systematist to classify these different kinds of dogs properly.

The unit of biological classification is the species. If we find a number of animals, resembling each other and differing distinctly from all other animals, breeding freely and fruitfully together and recognizing each other as kin, then these animals constitute a species.

In Britain, for example, the common fox is one species and the wolf, which was exterminated a few centuries ago, is another; in North America the coyote, the timber wolf, the common fox are examples of separate species. In this manner all the known Canidae are grouped into species.

Now just as individual may be grouped into species by considering their resemblance and differences, so may the species be grouped into assemblies of a higher order.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 18. — Thoughts while strolling: The early morning rush across Forty-second street. Stenographers, clerks and white-haired messenger "boys." Never saw a collegiate looking like a John Held drawing. Those on-the-fly drugstore breakfasts. Hurry, hurry, hurry.

B. C. Forbes, a New Deer, Scotland boy, who made good in the city. Wonder if anybody reads signs on the elevated steps? Red sausages heralded as "pure pork." But you can't fool the clod-hopper. Pure stuff is gray. The famous financier who stops dead in his tracks at intervals and makes funny noises with his throat.

Tads in aviator costumes. Superlatively sedate ladies you feel certain are from Boston. The set, anxious face of a producer with a show in rehearsal. A window of fans. All New York stops to watch someone jack up a car. Tony Drexel's collars are as big as Louis Mann's.

Tall, narrow houses in old Murray Hill, flossed up in taffeta and chintz for tea rooms. Southern cooking, corn pones, hominy—probably cooked by Chinese. Thin old men with parchment skin, knife-like trousers, creases and black puff cravats. Wonder if there is an Elizabeth Arden?

The boil of the Thirty-fourth street shopping area. The dance of life. Goldfish in a bowl. Reinald Warrenrath swings out of a taxi. Travel movies get the big play. The red dynamite wagons. Robert Garland, the critic. Meretriceous ladies with watery smiles.

Herald Squire. Six restaurants in a block. Open coffins in undertakers' display windows. Fur shop with perpetual sales. Physical culture studios. Race tipping bureaus. Shoes repaired - while - you - wait. Salt water taffy. Frederick J. Haskin, another syndicate writer from Missouri.

Nearly always a first class play at the Maxine Elliott. A policeman bawls out a harried taxi driver for making a wrong turn—and disappears in a cellar speakeasy. What became of rain spouts? Women who stop before window mirrors to preen. Like haughty pre-occupied cats.

They were discussing the laziest black boy in Harlem. He stands on the opposite side of the street from an industrious curb peddler of hot crawfish. The industrious salesman, a volcano of activity, sings out: "Here you are! Get your hot crawfish. Cooked in bay leaves. Spiced with chives. Stuffed with red pepper. Salt and peppered. Good and hot. A feast for a king. Here you are—hot crawfish!"

When he has finished the lazy rascal, who also sells hot crawfish, will drawl in a tired voice: "Same on this side!"

Despite furious competition, orange juice remains the favorite non-alcoholic tipple on Broadway. Concentrated juices of pineapple, apple, peach and other fruits have tried to wrest the lead but failed. More than 40 new orange juice stands will open between Seventy-second and Twenty-third streets this summer and a price cutting war is promised.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

GOOD FRIDAY—and across the years the memory of that brave One who chose to die rather than quit his faith.

Christ on the bloody trail to Calvary. But first, that hour beneath the olive trees. They'd eaten their last supper. Then, with a few He loved, He went out through the darkness to a lonely place—to that old garden called Gethsemane. Then left His friends to watch while He went on to pray, as any man might pray in awful need.

Midnight. No stars. The gathering mob—and with the mob, the cross. He was still young. Too young to want to go. Too hot with hope to give up His great fight. There, on the rocky ground, He knelt and prayed!

"FATHER!" he cried, "LET THIS CUP PASS FROM ME!"

And as He cried His sweat fell thick as blood—but from the brooding dark no sign or answer came.

He waited then. Walked back and forth between the silent trees. Fought with Himself against the rising fear. Fought—God knows—what rebellious rage and bitterness. (For He was a man, as well as Christ.) And, man-like, sought His friends for comfort . . . but they slept! So back He went, and, kneeling, cried once more:

"LET THIS CUP PASS! YET—IF IT MAY NOT PASS—THY WILL, NOT MINE, BE DONE!"

He waited . . . Then at last He rose. His eyes were calm. His hour had come. With the gray dawn He faced the Judas kiss, the cruel scourge, the empty trial, the mocking crown of thorns, the snarling mob and then—the nails.

Faced all there was to face, without one craven cry.

He'd made His choice—chosen to keep the faith. The price was shame and torture and a dreadful death. But He went steadfast to the Place of Skulls—FOR FAITH WAS WORTH IT, AND HE PAID WITH PRIDE.

* * * * *

For each of us there waits Gethsemane wher, we will kneel and cry—"LET THIS CUP PASS!"

Then, waiting, hear no answer in the dark. And so go slowly down the bloody trail—and through the scourging pain, walk the cross—

BUT IF WE'RE WORTHY, WE WILL WALK WITH PRIDE—with quiet eyes. I brave and steadfast hearts—paying whatever price we have to pay—paying it gallantly, without one whine—

Saying—"I CHOOSE THE CROSS — MY FAITH WAS WORTH IT ALL!"
